CONSULTANT GIBSON HIRED BY INDIANA BELL

Chapter Leadership Consultant, John B. Gibson, Jr., Indiana '85, accepted a job as an assistant account executive for Indiana Bell. He is a 1988 graduate of Indiana University and has worked this past year as a consultant of our fraternity.

John feels that his year as a Chapter Leadership Consultant greatly enhanced his search for a career. "Being a Chapter Leadership Consultant gave me a lot of experience in working with people and developing myself as a person," he said. "I would recommend the position to anyone who wants to excel in their career. It has helped me develop skills that many employers are looking for. It's a great opportunity!"

John has developed two parents' brochures, a public relations manual, and a chapter advisor handbook to help our fraternity continue on its road to success. He has been very influential in helping our chapters and colonies to fulfill our "Reasons for Being." "He has been a very important part of our team this year," Director of Chapter Services, Randall S. Lewis, Oregon State '81, states, "We are excited for him in his future career, but he will be missed here. We look forward to his volunteer involvement in the near future!"

GAMMA PSI AND DELTA ZETA SUSPENDED

Gamma Psi Chapter at Lawrence Tech and Delta Zeta Chapter at UNC-Charlotte have been placed on Administrative Suspension by Grand Senior President, Edmund A. Hamburger, Polytechnic '45.

Evidence was found that Gamma Psi was not adhering to our Policy on Pre-Initiation Activities. They were reported as practicing activities that do not fulfill the purpose of our "Reasons for Being."

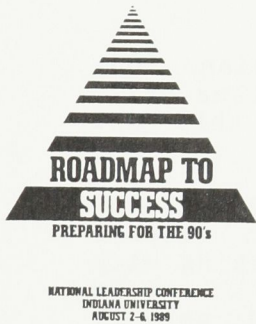

They have been required to revise their program with alumni support and involvement. This revised program as well as the entire revision of their chapter operations is being prepared in an in depth report to the Grand Council. Upon the completion of this report the Grand Council will decide whether Gamma Psi is qualified to continue as a chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity.

Delta Zeta Chapter was discovered by the university to have performed a pledge activity where pledges were strongly encouraged to drink large quantities of alcohol. After the activity ended a pledge got sick in his dorm where the resident advisor reported the illness, finding out that the young man had previously attended the pledge event.

The university held a judicial hearing where the chapter was put on probation. The Grand Council has required that the chapter prepare an in depth report on how this type of event will never occur again. The chapter received an extended visit by a Chapter Leadership Consultant and will be followed carefully in their operations for the next year.

Both groups have had positive responses to their new programming and understand the seriousness of their actions. They have come to understand that there is no place for hazing in Alpha Sigma Phi, the fraternity "To Better The Man."

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE THEME ANNOUNCED

The theme for this year's National Leadership Conference will be ROADMAP TO SUCCESS: Preparing for the 90's. It indicates the commitment and dedication Alpha Sigma Phi has taken to ensure the future of our fraternity.

The conference will be held at Indiana University in Bloomington, IN, August 2-6. A variety of topics will be addressed with excellent speakers and a superb program.

Over 250 undergraduates are expected to attend while at least 50 alumni volunteers are also expected at the Alumni Workshop to be held August 4-6 at IU.

Cocaine can make you blind.

Cocaine fools your brain.

When you first use it, you may feel more alert, more confident, more sociable, more in control of your life.

In reality, of course, nothing has changed. But to your brain, the feeling seems real.

From euphoria...

You want to experience it again. So you do some more coke.

Once more, you like the effects. It's a very clean high. It doesn't really feel like you're drugged. Only this time, you notice you don't feel so good when you come down. You're confused, edgy, anxious, even depressed.

Fortunately, that's easy to fix. At least for the next 20 minutes or so. All it takes is another few lines, or a few more hits on the pipe.

You're discovering one of the things that makes cocaine so dangerous.

It compels you to keep on using it. (Given unlimited access, laboratory monkeys take cocaine until they have seizures and die.)

If you keep experimenting with cocaine, quite soon you may feel you need it just to function well. To perform better at work, to cope with stress, to escape depression, just to have a good time at a party or a concert.

Like speed, cocaine makes you talk a lot and sleep a little. You can't sit still. You have difficulty concentrating and remembering. You feel aggressive and suspicious towards people. You don't want to eat very much. You become uninterested in sex.

To paranoia...

Compulsion is now definitely addiction. And there's worse to come.

You stop caring how you look or how you feel. You become paranoid. You may feel people are persecuting you, and you may have an intense fear that the police are waiting to arrest you. (Not surprising, since cocaine is illegal.)

You may have hallucinations. Because coke heightens your senses, they may seem terrifyingly real.

As one woman overdosed, she heard laughter nearby and a voice that said, "I've got you now." So many people have been totally convinced that bugs were crawling on or out of their skin, that the hallucination has a nickname: the coke bugs.

Especially if you've been smoking cocaine, you may become violent, or feel suicidal.

When coke gets you really strung out, you may turn to other drugs to slow down. Particularly downers like alcohol, tranquilizers, marijuana and heroin. (A speedball—heroin and cocaine—is what killed John Belushi.)

If you saw your doctor now and he didn't know you were using coke, he'd probably diagnose you as a manic-depressive.

To psychosis...

Literally, you're crazy.

But you know what's truly frightening? Despite everything that's happening to you, even now, you may still feel totally in control.

That's the drug talking. Cocaine really does make you blind to reality. And with what's known about it today, you probably have to be something else to start using coke in the first place.

Dumb.
