A FRIEND REMEMBERED

Attached is my check for $25.00 issued to Alpha Sigma Phi Educational Foundation for a memorial to Robert G. Schauweker.

Bob had no children and leaves only his widow upon his death. He had been a long-time employee of the Whirlpool Corporation.

I was a roommate and friend of Bob's before he pledged to Zeta Chapter, becoming an active brother in 1950 at Ohio State. He was truly a gentleman of high character.

May God rest his soul. Fraternally, Gordon Linn, Ohio State '49

GET ME TO THE CHURCH ON TIME

I was in Charleston, SC for my daughter's wedding. After the rehearsal and before the ceremony my sons and I and a friend decided to get in a round of golf. It was further to the course than I thought, and we were late getting there.

When we arrived, there were four or five foursomes lined up and the starter said he would see what he could do after this group of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity men got off. To make a long story short, the Alpha Sigs insisted we go on in front of them so we could get in our golf and get back to the wedding on time.

My thanks to those Alpha Sigs. Only fate would have my fraternity brothers at that tee on that golf course at that time.

Sincerely, Ted B. Freeman, Presbyterian '51

Now Is The Time For Rededication

SESQUICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION 1845 • YALE • 1995 To Create and Perpetuate Brotherhood. For some, it's just a slogan; words on paper. For others, it's a mission etched in their character; a reason for being, something they do.

To Better The Man.

"Now is the time for rededication." – Dr. Robert E. Miller, Connecticut '49

Ats • YALE • 1995 Remember your first year as an undergraduate: You were a "fresh man" – fresh out of high school; away from home, needing to make friends, searching to find your place.

What did you find?

"Alpha Sigma Phi has been an experience that I would not want to be without in college."

- David M. Baker, Indiana '92

Thankfully, you found the high ground. A place where ethics are promoted, leadership encouraged; a family-like environment that provided love and support.

A place where you belonged.

"It's something that will stick with me for the rest of my life." - Ray E. Johnson, Ohio State '91

But is it enough to just belong, to just create? The mission is to create – to cause to exist – and perpetuate--to cause to continue.

Those you followed paved the way for you, creating your chance for brotherhood. Their contributions also helped continue the brotherhood for you.

Now, hundreds of other "fresh men" follow in your footsteps looking for their place. Looking to benefit from your actions as you did from the actions of those you followed. Men who will benefit from National programs such as scholarships, grants, and loans. Men who will enjoy gainful employment through networking opportunities. Men who will develop their self-esteem and leadership skills through the many programs offered by Alpha Sigma Phi.

Men looking to you to help create and perpetuate brotherhood. Because their membership dues are not enough. With its $3,000,000 goal, The Sesquicentennial Campaign gives all of us the chance to give something back to the Fraternity that has made such a difference in our lives. Your contribution in cash, stock or a planned gift, of any amount you choose, gives you a hand in the development of the men of the world tomorrow. A chance to help our own "home grown" men lead us into the next century.

But without alumni like you – men who act on their beliefs – how can Alpha Sigma Phi stay strong?

This Year's National Leadership Conference And Convention: What Will It Be Like For You?

Lanclede's Landing, River Front Dining & Entertainment District

On the afternoon of Wednesday, August 14, 1996, you'll look up into a sixstory barrel-vaulted ceiling, an artistic spectacle of frescoes, basrelief, gilt, and stained glass.

This--the main lobby of the Hyatt Regency St. Louis--sits suspended in time-capturing the grandeur of a bygone era in a remarkable setting; the restored St. Louis Union Station. It's a historical landmark that reflects the grace and opulence of Romanesque architecture.

For you, it's no ordinary hotel check-in.

Imagine, right there, as you check-in, who will you run into? Like-minded brothers from around the country--some you may not have seen in years. You'll meet alums and undergraduates as well. Men who share the same goal as you: To make this the best conference ever.

All this before you even get to your room.

Your room is spacious and luxurious, reflecting the elegance of the early 20th century. The Hyatt Regency St. Louis at Union Station has 550 beautiful rooms, including 30 suites. And Union Station has 11 acres of restaurants, boutiques, and entertainment centers--all under one roof.

But don't start having too much fun yet. You wouldn't want to miss the game.

That evening, you'll travel to Busch Stadium – with it's new grass field – to watch the Cardinals take on the Dodgers. Before the game you'll check out Homer's Landing, Busch Stadium's multitiered picnic area, which is located directly above the Cardinals bullpen.

Watch the pitchers warm-up and enjoy an all-you-can-eat picnic buffet that includes hot dogs, BBQ beef, fried chicken, potato salad, soda, and dessert. And with a panoramic view of the stadium, you'll have a perfect view of batting practice. But when the picnic is over, the fun is just getting started. You and your Brothers have a Loge Reserved seat in nearby section 276 – a prime spot for catching one of those coveted foul balls.

And that's just the first day of the convention.

"There are more than 100 major visitor attractions and entertainment opportunities that make St. Louis a diverse and exciting tourist destination," says Mark Still, Mu '75, Co-Chairman of the National Leadership Conference and Convention. "There's the famous Gateway Arch, an amazing bit of architecture and engineering--the ride up the inside of the arch alone is worth the trip. There's Laclede's Landing, the historic riverfront entertainment district. And Forest Park, recently named one of the top ten urban parks in the nation. The list goes on and on."

But the convention is not all play time. We're calling it Gateway to the Future, and it truly is.

You get a chance to honor the past – 150 years of Brotherhood – by helping prepare for the future. This event is where Alpha Sigma Phi refines its vision of the future, a future that takes you into the next century.

Important changes in the Constitution and By Laws will be ratified. Dues and fees set. The Grand Council elected. Deserving alumni and undergraduates selected for special recognition.

Will this be the best convention ever? It's up to you.

"The Convention is a perfect time for dads to plan a family vacation, especially since the area has wonderful tourist attractions like Six Flags Over Mid-America, Grant's Farm, and a world-class zoo," says Andrew Barrett, Alpha Xi '89, Co-Chairman of the National Leadership Conference and Convention. "It's a great time for recent graduates to reunite with other alums; for undergraduates to meet Brothers from across the nation; and for everyone to play an active role in defining the future of their Fraternity."

From that first day looking up at that six-story barrel-vaulted ceiling... to the Cardinals/Dodgers game and pre-game picnic... opening ceremonies... Black Lantern Processional the workshops and meetings... the ritual aboard the Goldenrod Showboat... on through to the awards banquet and memorial service... this year in St. Louis will truly be a Gateway to the Future.

Don't dare miss it.

Moving Toward The Next 150 Years National Headquarters To Move

Alpha Sigma Phi is on a roll. The number of chapters, average chapter size, programs, and volunteerism are all increasing, which bucks a national trend. Now, the Fraternity will soon be on a roll literally.

The Fraternity's Grand Council and Educational Foundation Board of Trustees unanimously voted to move the National Headquarters of Alpha Sigma Phi to Indianapolis, IN.

The move to Indianapolis will help the Fraternity achieve the following objectives:

- implement more low cost/ high value programming
- improve chapter and brotherhood development
- expansion of the Fraternity's membership

- increase in volunteerism
- shifting expenses from personnel and overhead to direct chapter services

Indianapolis offers many opportunities to nonprofit organizations, such as the Fraternity and Educational Foundation. Relocating to Indianapolis will allow Alpha Sigma Phi to:

- reduce travel and meeting costs
- not pay sales or property taxes
- take advantage of the tax breaks by planning conferences near the Fraternity Headquarters in Indianapolis
- network with the headquarters of 23 other national fraternities and sororities and the various national organizations that support the Greek community

"We are very excited about this opportunity to place the Fraternity in a position to provide better services and even higher quality programs to the undergraduates," said Grand Senior President Stan Thurston, Iowa State '66. "This move will allow Alpha Sigma Phi to continue its tradition of being America's Premier Fraternity."

Security Vice President Steve Zizzo, Illinois '84, reports that the move will not affect the day-today operations of Headquarters. "The move will take place around July 1 and that allows us a great deal of time to properly plan the move so that once we are in Indy, we will hit the ground running."

If you should have any questions in the meantime, do not hesitate to contact Steve Zizzo at Headquarters. $A\Sigma\Phi$

Rededication

"The alumni of the Fraternity are the backbone of the future of the Fraternity. I think that if you are going to have a strong undergraduate fraternity system, then it's imperative that you have the support of a strong alumni base."

- Leonard Hultquist, Alabama '60

Mere words are not enough. Loyal members can show their gratitude by giving to The Sesquicentennial Campaign. Your donation will help support such programs as The Ralph F. Burns New Members Program. With it's annual cost of $150,000, this program will allow new members to experience a national conference for new members.

The Brotherhood Development Program, with it's annual cost of $61,000, will bring more members together by offering every chapter the opportunity to conduct a retreat each year with professional facilitators.

The Chapter Advisory Team Training Program will provide advisors with the skills they need to impact undergraduate officers. This program has an annual cost of $13,500.

Your donations will help endow these programs and others like them. If we are to maintain the quality of our programs, annual support must keep pace with the expenses associated with them. And it takes even greater support to expand and add new programs.

"I think, first and foremost, it's truly a brotherhood nationally. I use brotherhood almost synonymously with family. It's a family that stretches across the country, and it's always there. I'd like to think it always will be."

- Scott F. Gallagher, Ohio Wesleyan '93

It always will with support from loyal brothers like you. It's your support that causes our brotherhood to continue and grow--despite a general five percent decline among all general men's fraternities .

"Alpha Sigma Phi has strengthened its position in number of men, number of chapters, alumni volunteerism, alumni contributions and so much more. Accomplishments that could not be achieved without your constant support."

- Steven V. Zizzo , Illinois '84
