George Sumner Grosvenor Oldest Living Fraternity Man

Sole survivor of his class and Amherst Chapter '55

Dr. Edmund Canby, son-in-law of George Sumner Grosvenor, replied to Brother Wayne M. Musgrave's letter containing the following information concerning Brother Grosvenor who is ninety-seven years old.

George Sumner Grosvenor, was born November 25, 1831 in Petersham, Massachusetts and is the son of David Rufus and Ivana Goddard Grosvenor.

Grosvenor entered Amherst College in 1854, was initiated into Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity in 1855 and was graduated in 1858 with forensic honors.

In 1859 he was appointed principal of the Trenton Academy at Trenton, New Jersey, and held this position for sixteen years. During the last two years of his connection with the Academy he studied law and was admitted to the bar of New Jersey in 1875 and later appointed counselor in law and master in chancery of New Jersey and practiced law in Trenton until 1895.

After retiring from the practice of law Brother Grosvenor and his wife travelled extensively for several years making a trip around the world visiting Egypt and Africa and most of the European countries. Mrs. Grosvenor, formerly Cora Burrell, died in 1926 at the age of 91 years.

A great grandfather born in 1750 died in 1834 when Brother Grosvenor was three years old. These two lives go back to 26 years before the Revolution in 1776.

At the present time George S. Grosvenor resides in Geneva, Switzerland.

Harold Hughes, Epsilon '17, Elected Senator From Ohio

E. HAROLD HUGHES, Epsilon '18, prominent in politics since the organization of the Republican Club at Wesleyan in 1920 when he was elected president, won the election as State Senator in Ohio, from the 15th and 16th districts, comprised of Muskingum, Licking, Perry and Delaware Counties of Ohio, in opposition to three other Republican candidates, all of whom had been members of the legislature previously. The election was won with a plurality of 2,500 over the nearest opponent. With the beginning of the Fall campaign Hughes started over the entire state in the interest of United States Senator Simeon D. Fess and carried on the campaign in his own district in conjunction with this work.

The result in the district gave him a majority of 16,060, Hughes carrying the county of his opponent, normally a Democrat county, by 3,500 and carrying Delaware County, the home of Ohio Wesleyan, by more than two to one. This majority is by 2,000 the biggest majority ever gained in the district.

The election came two days before the twenty-ninth birthday of Brother Hughes. He is the youngest member of the senate. He will take office January 7, 1929.

Brother Hughes, during his school career, served three years on the staff of Transcript and was associate editor for one year; he was a member of the debate team for two years; Y. M.

E. Harold Hughes

C. A. Council for three years; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet one year; editor-in-chief of Le Bijou, the college annual; three years on the Glee Club; President of Amphictionian Club; President of the College Republican Club; editor of Odeven Odor, the humorous publication and was elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, and was graduated with his A. B. in 1921.

After his graduation, he became superintendent of public schools at Galena, Ohio, where, in the years 1921 to 1922, he became quite well known in educational circles as the youngest superintendent of a first grade high school in the state. In addition to these duties he served as associate editor of The Tomahawk for the years 1920-22.

In the Fall of 1922 Hughes entered Western Reserve University in the law school, and was initiated into Delta Theta Pi, professional law fraternity. While attending this university he worked on the editorial staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Leader News. The following year he transferred to Ohio State where he spent two years to complete his preparation for the bar examination. At the present time he is a member of the Muskingum County Bar Association and is engaged in the general practice of law with offices in the Masonic Temple Building in Zanesville, Ohio.

In 1924 Hughes organized the college club at Ohio State University and was taken to the Cleveland Convention as secretary to the Ohio delegation. At a meeting of representatives from fifteen college clubs in Ohio, in that year, he was appointed president of the Association of Republican College Clubs of Ohio. The Ohio State Republican Club had the largest enrollment of all the college clubs having a membership of 3600. During the campaign of 1924 he was employed by the National Committee to organize clubs in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and neighboring territory. In that work he organized eighty clubs which was as many as were organized in all of the rest of the country.

He served as secretary to Lieutenant-Governor Charles H. Lewis, and as such was an official of the Ohio Senate, thus becoming intimately familiar with legislation and procedure in the body.

He was appointed to the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington by Honorable Renick W. Dunlap, of Ohio, assistant secretary of that department.

He is well acquainted with the problems of the farmer, having lived on a farm or in rural communities most of his life. For three years he served as administrative assistant in the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, where his duties in the office of secretary put him in touch with agricultural legislation and farm problems of all kinds.

He is especially interested in the conservation program of the Grange and the Farm Bureau and at the present time is experimenting in a reforestation project of his own.

In 1926 he returned to Ohio from Washington, to assist in the campaign, and served in various capacities in the State Republican Headquarters. After his resignation in Washington he served as Director of Research with the Fifth Avenue Association in New York City, for eight months.

Brother Hughes has been an active member of the alumni councils of Cleveland, Columbus, Washington and New York and while associated in business in the city was elected secretary of the council.

He is a member of The Buckeye Republican Club (Columbus), The McGuffey Club; League of Ohio Sportsmen, The Izaak Walton League, The National Press Club, The Y. M. C. A., The Red Cross and The Chamber of Commerce.

Frederick J. Shepard

On November 21, 1928, Brother Frederick Shepard, Alpha '73, after having received and read the Directory, sent in the following corrections concerning members of Alpha Sigma Phi both living and dead of Alpha Chapter at Yale in '73.

The name of the Reverend Herbert W. Lathe, 5 Craigie Circle, Cambridge, Massachusetts was omitted as was that of Frederick S. Wicks, 210 East Fayette Street, Syracuse, New York.

Charles S. Hemingway is no longer residing in Dalton, Massachusetts though mail may reach him there. His address is Stratheona Hall, 993 Memorial Drive, Cambridge, Massachusetts and the Reverend David S. Schaff is no longer in Pittsburgh, his address being Union Theological Seminary, 3041 Broadway, New York City.

Among the deceased members the name of Atwood Collins, who died May 8, 1926, was not included and W. E. Wheelock was recorded as living. Brother Wheelock died February 3, 1926.

Upsilon's New Home

It will be remembered that in the June issue of The Tomahawk it was announced that pictures of Upsilon's new home, that excels all other fraternity houses at Penn State, would be published. Herein are included three pictures showing the house and two interior views. It is felt that after the brothers have seen these pictures it will not be difficult for them to realize what a magnificent home the alumni and active members of Upsilon Chapter have successfully built.

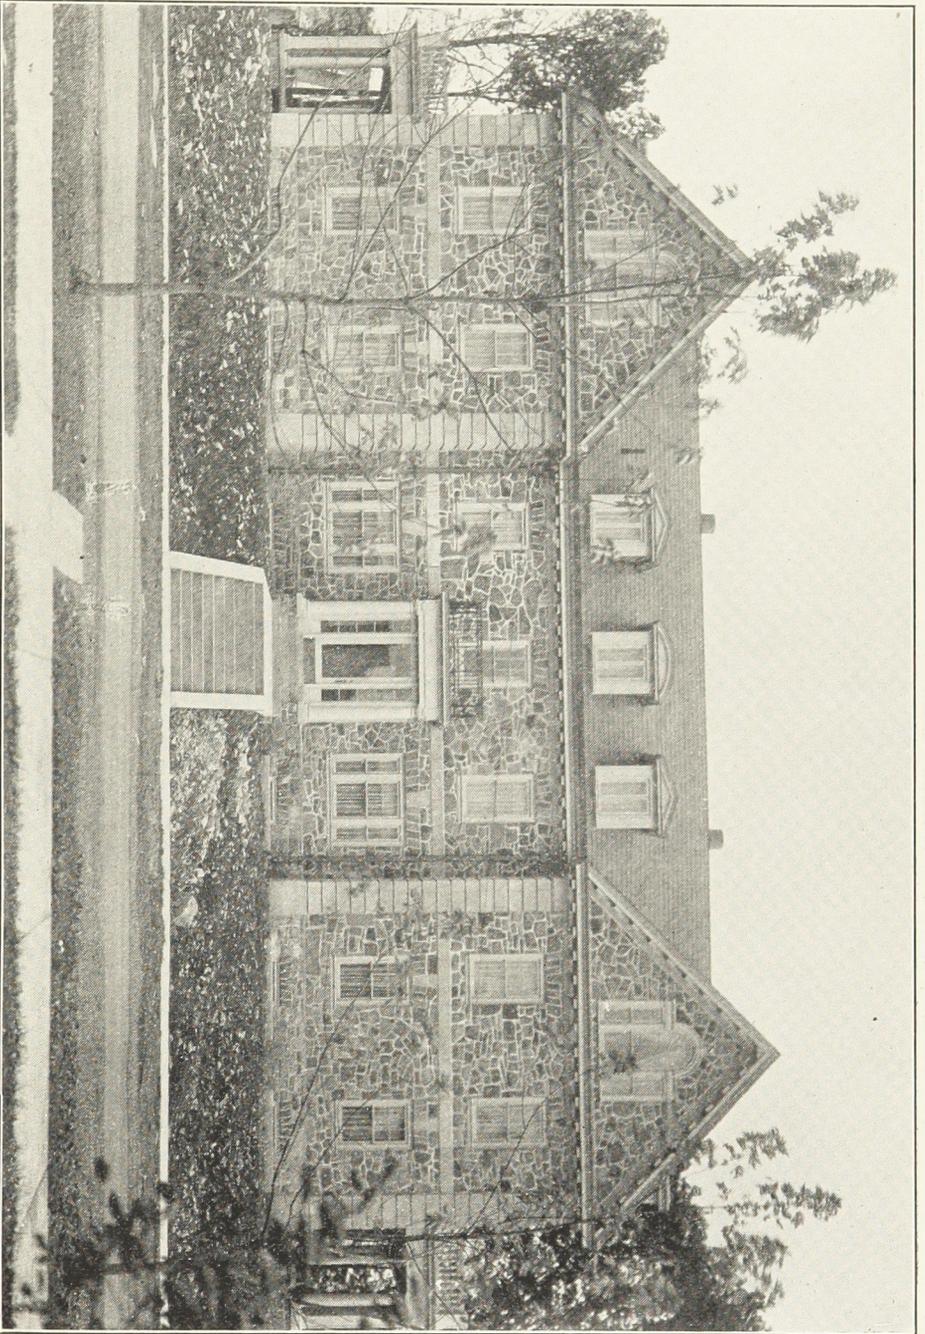

House Opening was held October 5th with a record attendance of alumni who were enthusiastic workers on the house building campaign.

On November 3rd fifteen men from Alpha Epsilon of Syracuse had the advantage of visiting the house, when they attended the Syracuse-Penn State game which resulted in a tie score of 6-6.

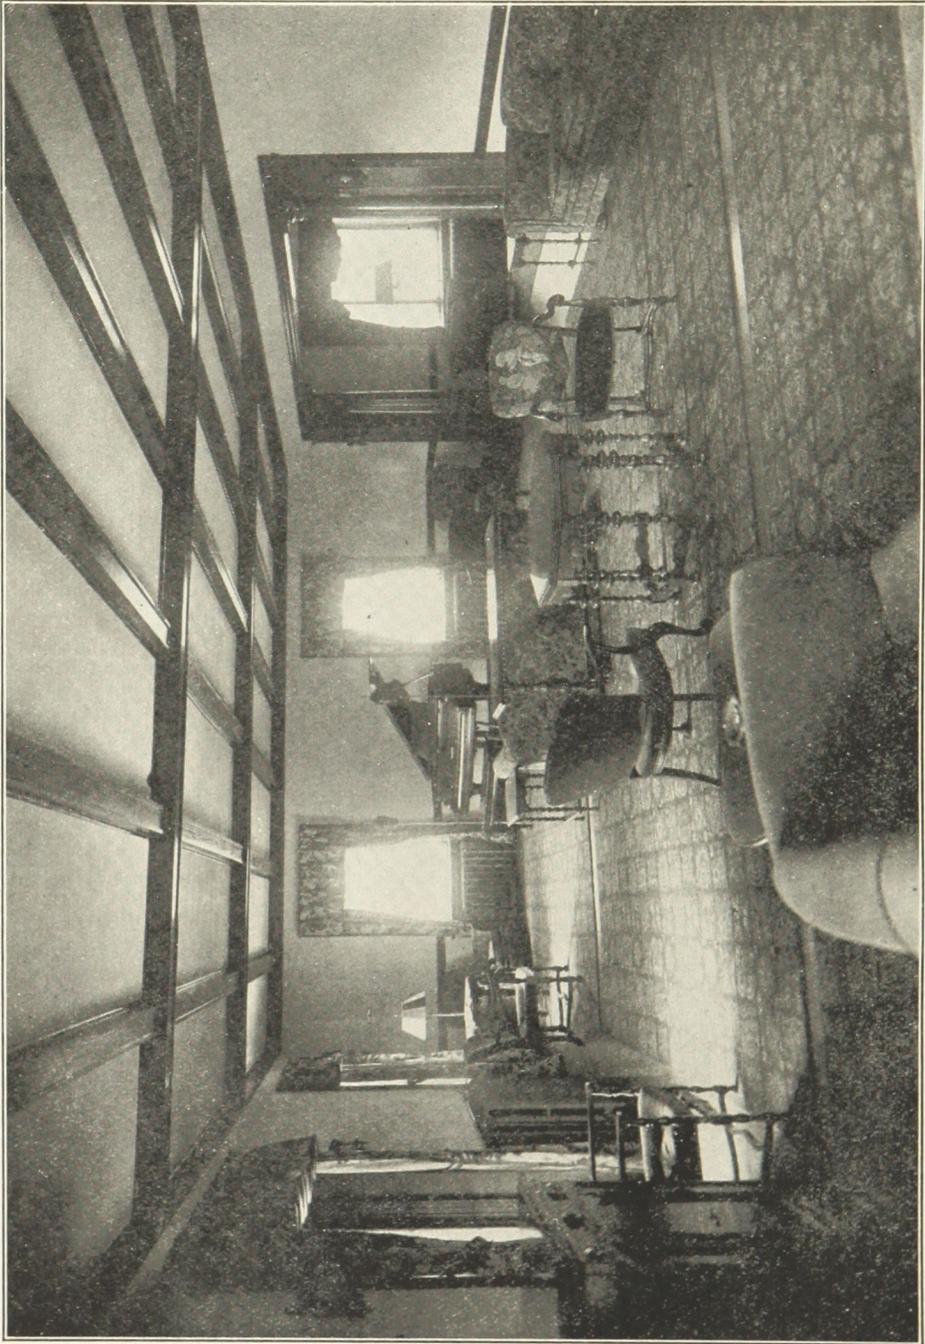

Davies, Zeta, Appointed Director of Optometry

Morgan C. Davies, Zeta '15, has been appointed director of the department of optometry at Ohio State University for the coming year.

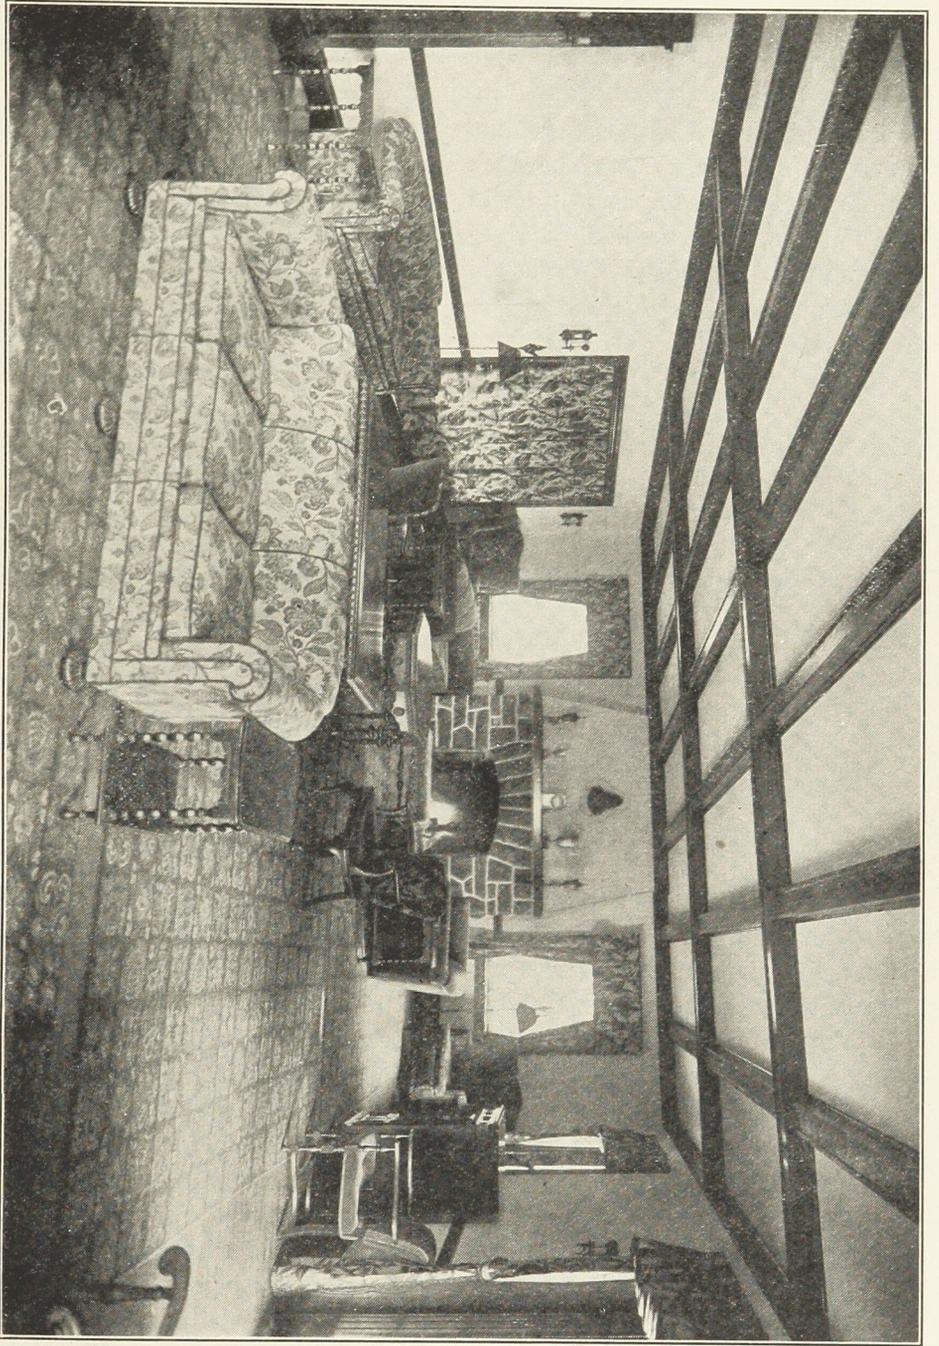

Brother Morgan, until recently, was located at 269 East State street and was a prominent eye specialist in Columbus.

Harold E. B. Speight Writes Biography of John Bunyan

HAROLD SPEIGHT, initiated into Alpha Eta Chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity, was born in England and lived for some time in South Africa. He studied in England and at Aberdeen University in Scotland; was on the faculty at Oxford, served in the war and later moved to western Canada for his health.

Brother Speight spent considerable time on the faculty at the University of California and following his appointment at California he moved to Boston where he held the pastorate of King's Chapel for nine years. In the Fall of 1927 he was called to Dartmouth as a full professor in philosophy where he immediately took his place as one of the outstanding members of the college faculty. He has but recently been chosen to head the Biography department at Dartmouth beginning in 1929.

THE LIFE AND WRITINGS OF JOHN BUNYAN

By Harold E. B. Speight

Professor of Philosophy, Professor-elect of Biography, Dartmouth College.

Many books on Bunyan have appeared in the last few centuries. This year, the three hundredth anniversary of Bunyan's birth, Harold Speight has presented his interpretation of the man, John Bunyan, and his works, popularizing the Puritan author who is to some extent being slowly forgotten by the present generation. However, his views and experiences are more alive today than at any time since the first of the eighteenth century. Speight has studied the sources of Bunyan's dream story and his lesser works, to try to bring together divergent estimates in presenting Bunyan against the Reformation background that was his.

The book is more expository than biographical and treats largely of the works as interpretive of and explaining Bunyan's own life in perspective to his own age. It is an excellent portrayal of an outstanding individual in the England of the Restoration Period which Cheever, in his Lectures on Pilgrim's Progress, called "the most revolutionary and stirring period of English history".

Professor Speight expounds the fight of the Puritans for religious freedom and tolerance. He explains that Bunyan was "in advance of most of his contemporaries in the Puritan movement because he was broad-minded enough to recognize that the Christian life need not and does not conform to a single pattern".

"That Pilgrim's Progress is a child of its age, in the sense that it speaks with complete sincerity the language of Puritanism is true; those who know only latest idiom and their own circle find this a barrier". But Brother Speight finds this no barrier for the language and thought which is so simple that even the common people, and it is for them that it was written, find it easy to remember as the Parables of Christ and the Psalms of David.

Speight has placed first among Bunyan's gift to the Christian faith and order, the practical part of his religion and its application by him and the Puritans he represented to their everyday life as contrasted to the formality of a state religion and state control of one's beliefs.

Conforming to the modern schools of criticism and biography, Mr. Speight has presented in very readable form a study of a man of whom interesting knowledge has been lacking, and the acceptance of the book by the Religious Book Club as their Book-of-the-month, and by readers over the country assures, due to his careful study of the times, the writings and the man, Bunyan, himself.

By George McClellan, Alpha Eta.

Editorial In Angelos Of Kappa Delta

"A person who isn't up on a thing is usually down on it," said the Poor Nut, and he's right. Most of the criticism against fraternities is circulated by those who know little about them.

Those same critics honor the philanthropist; they point out the need for more student loan funds. They are concerned about scholarship. They ask for an atmosphere of home on a crowded campus. They expect college life to develop a student, to give him poise, initiative, social contacts and a host of intangible things that cannot be defined. They speak of the liberal education, of the need for ideals as well as ideas.

Verily, we say unto them: these things are the fraternity.

Much of the criticism, to be honest, should be prefaced thus: "Fraternities are in a terrible condition. It is for me, who never belonged to one, to tell the world about it."

Since most of the destructive comment could be applied to every other club in the world from the Literary Guild to the Ladies' Aid, one might overcome the prejudice by changing a term. But if it is prejudice based upon a word, rather than upon what that word stands for, it is scarcely worth considering.

Hoover the Pioneer

By Tracy B. Kittredge, Nu '13, Secretary General, League of Red Cross Societies

“INDIVIDUALISM has been the primary force of American civilization for three centuries

“The American pioneer is the epic expression of that individualism, and the pioneer spirit is the response to the challenge of opportunity to the challenge of nature, to the challenge of life to the call of the frontier. That spirit need never die for lack of something for it to achieve. There will always be a frontier to conquer or to hold as long as men think, plan and dare.

“The days of the pioneer are not over. There are continents of human welfare of which we have explored only the coastal plain. The great continent of science is as yet explored only on its borders and it is only the pioneer who will penetrate the frontier in the quest for new worlds to conquer. The very genius of our institutions has been given them by the pioneer spirit. . . .” — Herbert Hoover in American Individualism.

There is no personality in public life in the United States today who embodies more completely the pioneer spirit than Hoover. The American who would seek to understand Hoover, to discover the motive forces that govern his activities and to know the kind of man he is must first appreciate the pioneer spirit and its role in the shaping of the destiny of the United States as a nation and as a world power. Hoover has himself defined this role in the paragraphs above quoted.

There is evolving in the United States today, whether we will it or not, a new experiment in social organization. This experiment involves conceptions of the social order, foreign to the older human groups in Europe. It represents the logical result of an attempt to apply human knowledge to the maximum utilization of nature for the betterment of the conditions of human life. Mass production, machinery, materialistic idealism, call it what you will, the spiritual significance is the same. All previous societies have been organized on the assumption that the sum total of the world's goods was too small for general distribution; consequently the governing minority has been chiefly concerned with defending its rights as a consuming class. Other societies have thus known revolutions which have had as their chief objective the transfer of this privilege from one class to another. Only within our times has the progress of the industries and the application of scientific knowledge to the processes of production, made it possible so to multiply the quantity of consumable goods as to make social prosperity dependent upon an indefinite expansion of the consuming power of the population as a whole.

While other countries have been obsessed by social and political traditions inherited from the history of past social experiments, conditions in the United States have made possible the undertaking of this new experiment. The pioneer spirit of the makers of the American community, rather than any material advantages in the way of abundance of natural resources, must be regarded as the explanation of this development. The geographical frontier has disappeared. The habit of mind, the spirit bred by the conditions of frontier life is still the distinguished feature of the American scene. The backwoodsman has been replaced by the engineer, the pathfinder by the research scientist, the Indian fighter by the industrial organizer, but as of old the present generation of pioneers, equipped with an accumulated capital of knowledge and character inherited from its forbears and absorbed from its environment, has gone forth across the new frontiers of the world's economic social and political problems. These new pioneers have the same goal, the betterment of the conditions of human life, but they are seeking to attain it on different and vaster planes.

Transportation, communications, commerce, industry are transforming the world before our eyes. But this transformation is no blind and evitable result of inscrutable forces. It is the direct and immediate achievement of the new generation of pioneers of which Hoover is so characteristic and so distinguished a representative. Social progress is not an automatic and necessary process, such as the sociologist would define as a "law" of human society. It is the painful creation of successive generations of pioneers, a victory wrested by them in their attack on the frontiers. Hence the present tremendous development in the economic power of the United States and the social revolution which is accompanying that development is only another step in the history of the achievements of the pioneers.

Nor is the frontier limited today by any geographical considerations. The human problems have become world problems. The new generation of pioneers must therefore include their world within their frontiers. The present development of the United States is profoundly affecting the industrial social and political life of all other parts of the world. There is no country that does not feel itself menaced with "Americanization". But in reality this only means that the modern world is approaching unity, and that vigorous leadership and bold development in social organization in any one community will directly affect all others. Not only have American products had a world wide distribution, but the methods of American engineers, welfare workers, merchants, athletes, manufacturers, dentists, prophets and "movie" stars are being assiduously imitated. To an increasing degree the American in every part of the world is playing the part of the pioneer, innovating new ways of meeting old problems, creating a new basis for the social order, and replacing traditional institutions with new formulae.

Since his boyhood in Iowa and Oregon, Hoover has lived the life of such a pioneer. His college career at Stanford, his work as a mining engineer and regenerator of mining properties, his creation and successful direction of the Belgian relief, his services to the Allied cause as American Food Administrator, his constructive activity after the armistice as Director General of Relief in Europe and head of the American Relief Administration, his leadership of American industrial and commercial development during his seven years service as Secretary of Commerce, his many and varied special public services in a great variety of fields, all alike demonstrate the pioneer spirit seeking a better adaptation of human institutions to human needs, a greater measure of human well being.

Political institutions are essentially superficial. They are means of giving adequate expression to the economic, social and intellectual conditions, traditions and possibilities of the various states of the world. Political changes always follow and reflect such social, economic and intellectual changes. The world today is undergoing a radical transformation. Political formulas of other generations are being found unsatisfactory. Politicians throughout the world are blindly seeking to meet new situations and problems with old methods and formulas. Everywhere there is unrest, agitation, a growing consciousness of a world in transformation.

The world is to a great degree dependent on American leadership. The attitude and policies of the American Government in the next few years will have a profound importance internationally. Hence the unusual interest taken throughout the world in Hoover's candidacy for the presidency. No name in recent times has been more widely and more favorably known. But the public as a whole seems still ignorant of the personality of Hoover and what he stands for politically. His essential purposes seem to have escaped even his fellow-citizens. But those who appreciate the essential and significant qualities which differentiate American life from that in other countries, will recognize in Hoover the modern pioneer, the direct descendant and present protagonist of the type that has made the nation.

By training and temperament he is the pioneer. He possesses to a rare degree "intellectual freedom and curiosity about the new, the instinct to look into, examine and experiment

.....the willingness to scrap not only old machinery but old formulas, old ideas. He pictures American society as a solution in energetic ferment, with the particles rapidly seeking and finding.....their places of greatest adaptation and efficiency''. (Mark Sullivan Our Times.)

His experience and past career have shown him to be an organizer and administrator of exceptional executive capacity. Every task to which he has set his hand has demonstrated an unusual talent for winning the enthusiastic and unstinted collaboration of many thousands of men engaged in the same task. He has the engineer's knack of realizing the practical limits of the objective to be attained. More than any other American today, he knows and understands the world as a whole and the problems with which mankind is everywhere confronted in the present period of change and transformation. But his experience abroad has only served to confirm and deepen his conviction in the value of the American tradition and in the significance of the American experiment. While he knows the problems of foreign countries, and sympathises with the aspirations of their populations he is conscious of the vast difference of social traditions and institutions and of the necessity of extreme caution in dealing with the official relations between the United States and the other governments of the world.

Herbert Hoover's election to the presidency is but a logical continuation of his previous achievements. The experience of an active and successful career would be brought to bear on the problems involved in the evolution of the economic, social and intellectual aspects of the new American experiment in civilization. He will no doubt demonstrate once again the pioneer qualities, in grappling with the realities that underly forms of government and political formulas.

He will undoubtedly be the statesman under whose leadership the United States will play the part for which it is destined in the working out of the world-old problems of human social organization under the new conditions which are only beginning to make themselves felt.

EDITORIALS

There has been a tendency of late to educate the general public in regard to college fraternities. The modern novel and the contemporary short story Educating Ourselves have been trying to tell non-fraternity folk something about such student organizations. The best portrayal of such life was noticed in a magazine, primarily published as a collegiate anthology, that has developed, within a few years, a large general circulation throughout the country.

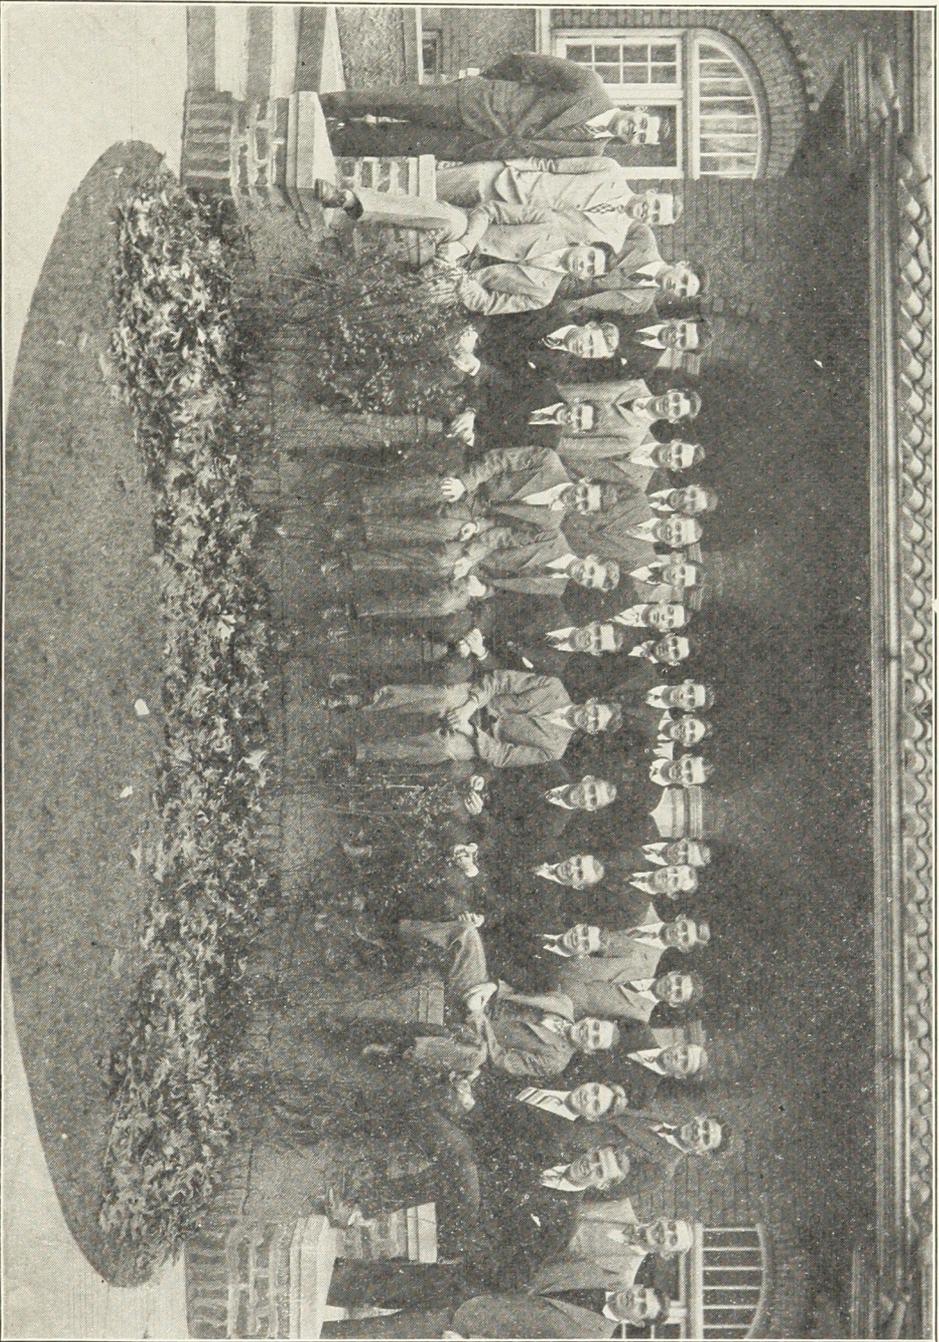

It is hardly considered necessary to call the attention of chapters and individuals to the article, which appeared in the September issue of College Humor, written by Howard L. Barnes, and titled "The Alpha Sigs at Michigan". The article was one of a series similar to it, and biased as is our magazine, there exists the fear that editorial enthusiasm might run away with itself if left to comment on Mr. Barnes' write-up of one of our chapters.

Theta Chapter is to be complimented for meriting such almost unstinted praise from an apparently disinterested observer and recorder.

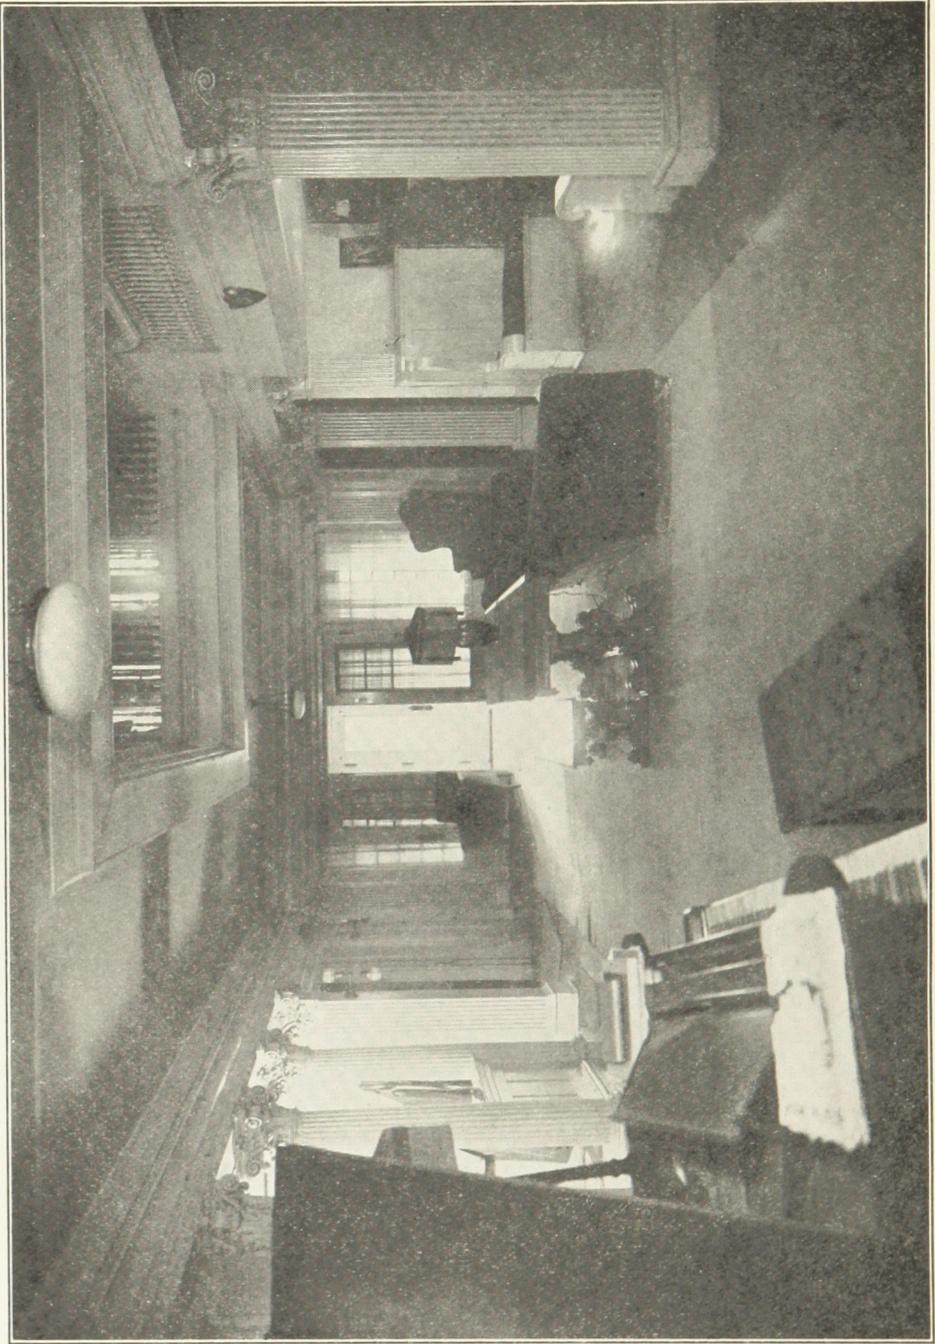

As the article was read, one could readily realize that not only the general public was getting some idea of Alpha Sigma Phi at the University of Michigan, but that the very members of the organization itself might profit from reading something about Theta Chapter.

It is not the good fortune of all fraternity men to have an acquaintance with all the chapters of their group, save from hearsay or from the fraternity's magazine. And it seemed logical to suppose that any fraternity might have an invaluable source of information to new initiates as well as to active members and alumni if an article similar in tone to the one mentioned at the beginning of this editorial were to be written about each chapter, with all the articles gathered finally into one grand volume.

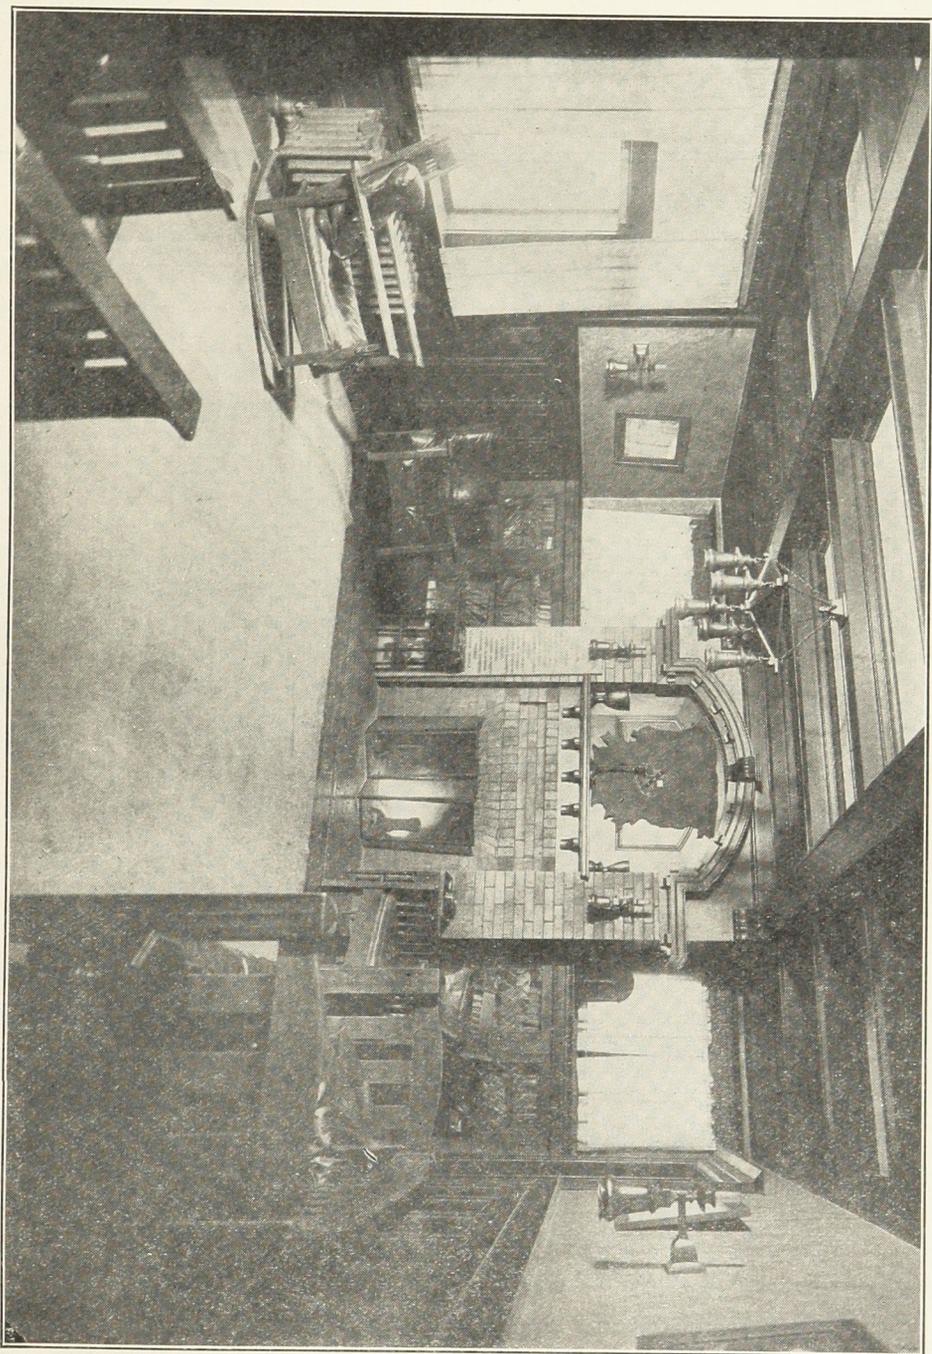

Alpha Sigma Phi has thirty chapters, and it is splendid to have all the chapters possessing some specific information concerning Theta. And how magnificent it would be to have twenty-nine other articles with the one published included in one book for the education of — ourselves.

TOMMY TALKS

WHISPER it not in Gath, this our latest Shibboleth, that a Directory is born. We sit back and admire our handiwork, we revel in its perfections. We are glad it is published. It is a marvelous work of art. Cherish it fondly, oh brothers, for another will not appear until late in 1930. Which, by the way, is not an election year.

Brother Wayne M. Musgrave aided us immensely by giving to us two long lists of names not recorded at National Headquarters prior to that time. We wish to thank Brother Musgrave for his kindness.

Now we can sigh with relief—the job is completed. One request—if you know of any address in the Directory that may have since been changed, send us the correct information. We pay nothing whatever for such data, yet we do appreciate all efforts to keep our files in perfect condition. And if you know of anyone needing a copy of the September index—well, an unlucky two dollar bill will prove a gold mine if sent to this department for a year's subscription to The Tomahawk, beginning with the Directory issue.

That over, we thumb a nose at the Directory and turn to other conquerable fields.

So many things have happened that we hardly know just which points to touch upon. A score—nay, three score visitors have paused a while with us during their various stays in New York. If we forget to remember some names, forgive us.

Mr. Suyekuchi Nakagawa, Alpha '07, who visited the United States on a business trip in connection with interests he holds in Tokio, Japan, was kind enough to give us a few minutes of his time during his brief stay on Manhattan. Brother Nakagawa and Brother Musgrave, who were classmates at Yale, had the pleasure of meeting again after twenty years.

Don Knapp, Joe Goeller and Fred Salkeld of Eta Chapter, visited the office in June while the Executive Secretary was away on vacation. Foot note: The E. S. expects to have recuperated sufficiently by next June to visit the fair village of Newtown, Ohio again, passing through Marietta on his way. At any rate, it was one of those vacations that are heard about but seldom talked about.

Bob Shoecraft, also of Eta, was in the office a short time after the other Eta Delegation.

While we are on the subject of Eta Chapter—this is bad editorial policy to claim so many visitors from the same part of the national circle—George Baron and Bill Brydges of Eta—adventuring their way across the eastern half of the country, and visiting what chapters fell in their line of march, spent a number of astonishingly short hours with us. George and Bill later wrote that the trip was a highly colored success and that judging from the men they met and the receptions they received from various chapters and individuals—there really is something to this thing called fraternity spirit, after all.

Several others, bitten by Wanderjahr, told us of the joys of vagabondia. Don Johnston and Win Thomas, of Alpha Alpha, University of Oklahoma, battled their separate ways to New York on tankers or freighters—we've forgotten which, for the telling of the tale of how Don coddled engines in the hold and how Win slung hash in the galley, were the high points we remembered.

We made up part of the lack in our liberal education by listening to Gregory Knapp, Upsilon '18, tell of the romance and glamour and drabness of the coal industry. Now we learn that Gregory has gone to Chicago to organize a branch office for the Consolidation Coal Company.

George Bader, Upsilon, with the Des Moines and Pittsburgh Steel Company, gave us the corollary dope on the steel industry. Would it be too low a pun to intimate that some Upsilon man must know his oil?

Perhaps it might be well to accuse Herb Hiorns, Upsilon, of that. Herb dropped in on us to give us all the dope on Upsilon's new house. From all we were able to hear the house is—well, we publish a picture of it in this number.

We might call attention to an article and photograph of the house Xi Chapter has leased, that are included somewhere among the pages of this—our anti-climax to the Directory.

Porter Kuykendall—it's getting so his name can be written as nonchalantly as Art Savenye's—writes that he is leaving the consulate at Oslo, Norway to return to Batavia, Java. Ah well, Winter will have fallen over Oslo by this time, and we'd prefer the warm spots, too. Imagine the luxury of writing this column while seated beneath a palm tree. Oh well, we might sit in the lobby of the Biltmore across the street.

We've had no further news of Mendenhall of Alpha Gamma who is building a railroad in the land where Haroun Al Raschid used to Caliph it. When last heard from, Brother Mendenhall was simultaneously fighting bandits, heat and canned food, so we hope he dispatches them all without danger to himself.

Reading this column reminds one of a butterfly. The paragraphs try their best to touch lightly upon many things, without bothering with cause and effect, supply and demand and other weighty philosophies. And speaking of butterflies our thoughts flit toward California all too easily. There should have been a little California sunshine caught up somewhere in the pages of this December number—from such a place as Los Angeles—and we think there should be a new clause added to the Constitution and By-Laws to effect that some of our many, many men of various chapters located in that state should send us a warming article at the time the snows drift deep around our house at Dartmouth.

The Executive Secretary visited Alpha Eta, our chapter at Dartmouth over the week-end of November 17th. Never has he been better entertained in the royal manner befitting such a potentate—never has he had a better time, both officially and unofficially. Here's to Dartmouth and to our newest chapter—Alpha Eta, gentlemen!

As a further note that it may be to the everlasting glory of National Headquarters, located at 331 Madison Avenue in the city of New York, let it be known that the Executive Secretary defended his title as world's rottenest pool player against such sharks as Bobby Glasgow, Benny Benjamin and "Doc" Stacy. The laurel wreath still rests upon the brow of the defender.

Henry Benjamin of Theta dropped in August 17th to let us know that Paul O'Hara, of Michigan too, was married on the 16th and that he was best man. In fact, every man at the wedding wore the badge of Alpha Sigma Phi. Paul dropped in himself to confirm this statement just a few days ago.

We are publishing in this issue a resume of activities at National Headquarters from December 7, 1927 to November 1, 1928. We include this, not as a mere filler, but because we think there are many individuals who might care to know something about the workings of the office.

And having concluded this gesture toward past events we look to the future and wish you, most fraternally—a Merry Christmas.

AMONG OURSELVES

Dresser on Vacation

DUE to publishing the Directory in place of the September issue of The Tomahawk it was impossible to publish many interesting articles received for that issue. The following letter received from H. Malcolm Dresser, Gamma '25, who is now attending Columbia University and teaching psychology, simply had to be published even though it is so late in the year.

Alpha Sig Lodge,
Ashland, N. H.

Dear Bowen:

I have intended for some time to try your patience with a few selections from the woodlands of New Hampshire. If you are polite you will read the first page of this manuscript, provided I get that far, and provided there is more than one page. This was all brought about by a recent visit to the house in Amherst. It was the night before the glorious Fourth, and as would be expected, the five summer resident brothers were "out" (take it both ways), in a body. Inasmuch as I had been driving in the hot sun all day and did not care to sit up to listen to last winter's Whiteman, I immediately sought the solid comfort (in the geological sense) of a device known to the general public as a bed. Needless, to say, there was noise that night. The boys at Amherst must have felt childish. Sleep was impossible. Whereupon I decided to see what had accumulated in the way of mail during the interval since the Great Day in June. At the foot of the front stairs was a pile of printed matter two feet high. You have guessed it—the June Tomahawks. Sleep became all the more impossible, and that is a compliment, in case your modesty interferes with a just interpretation. Three hours later I fell into the arms of—who is that fellow? Morphine? Anyway, the result of your labors had provided adequate consolation and entertainment until the nighthawks began to stagger in.

Are you still with me? Nice going! Herein lie the brickbats and loving cups. If you ask me the June Tommy is just about right. Snappy? Yes, real pep with no injury to the purpose of the magazine. Interesting? Anyone who thinks otherwise ought to turn in his badge. Diversified? Obviously. I can't see that you have omitted anyone or anything and I think I have some idea what your problems are when it comes to compilation, selection and rejection. How anyone can fail to recognize the human qualities of your work of art is more than I can see. The humor speaks for itself, and at times the voice could be heard for a mile or two. I could continue, I suppose, but it would be more of the same. You get the drift, anyway, what?

It has been said that constructive criticism should be both positive and negative. I have but one suggestion to offer on the other side of the fence. It concerns the editorial "we". Probably you dislike it as much as I do, but at any rate, it seems to be the thing. You have a way of using "I" and "we" interchangeably. Probably you are quite aware of it, but I had to look for something along this line. Enough.

As yet I have made no more important discoveries in regard to dreams, their causes and effects, etc., so that I have no more to offer along that line than I had in March. It is altogether probable that during the Winter I may pick up a few interesting facts and perhaps we can resume the session at a later date. It's this way. I have been appointed to an assistantship at Columbia for the coming collegiate year, in psychology, of course, in conjunction with my master's degree work there.

If you will consult the heading of this missile (!), you will discover that we have a new chapter in New Hampshire. Ashland is merely the nearest town P. O. and the A. and P. store. The "lodge" is nothing more than a 20 x 12 lumber shack, situated under the pines on Great Island in Lake Asquam, just North of Lake Winnepeaukee. The island, 210 acres in extent, is owned by Miss Anna F. Hunter, of Newport, Rhode Island. She has spent her summers here for years and has been in the habit of employing a couple of college fellows as foresters, chauffeurs and general handymen. For the past eight years, at least, the men have come from Gamma Chapter, thanks to Dr. Joel E. Goldwaite, Gamma '21, of Boston, Hunter's physician. So far the jobs have been held at various times by Vic Cahalane, '24, Tom Campion ex-'28, Bob Rees, '29, Floyd Brackley, '29, and the person who is doing this dirt. Three years ago Tom Campion and I held down the jobs. Last year and the year before Brack and Bob were here. This Summer finds Bob and me here. And so it goes. Plenty of work, good swimming and fishing, ample opportunity for sleep and our own choice in food. The pay is worth considering, too. All in all, the place is just about the thing for the Summer.

We couldn't help naming the shack as we have. It has been the aim of the various job-holders to make the place a Summer chapter house, open at all times to all Alpha Sigs and their friends. One big advantage lies in the fact that we cook and serve our own meals. The college forbids it at M. A. C., you know.

If there are Alpha Sigs in and about these parts during the Summer, we want to see them here.

Surely you must have passed into a blissfully, peaceful unconscious state by now. I shall cease the rapid firing with an offer of best wishes for continued success. Incidentally, don't forget the name of the gentleman to whom you referred in the unfinished sentence on page 194.

Good luck and plenty of it.

Faternally,

Malcolm Dresser,
Ashland, N. H. Gamma '25.

(P. S. Editor's note. Justification for my ego!)

Reynolds In Manila

June 12, 1928.

Editor of The Tomahawk
New York City.

Dear Brother:

I noticed in the December issue of The Tomahawk a number of letters from Alpha Sigs in foreign lands. I also feel the urge to send in a few words concerning the Philippines.

I'm a Sig from Alpha Zeta Chapter at U. C. L. A. I came over to the Islands about one year ago to become connected with the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company. Manila has impressed me very much and I enjoy living here, although I must say I greatly miss the "old gang" from college. They have been very good, however, in keeping me posted, as to the doings at the house. Every month I receive the "Slate", Alpha Zeta's monthly publication. There are two Sigs here in the Islands. One is Joe Thomas from Cornell who is doing very nicely with the Manila Electric Rail and Light Company. The other is Jim Crawford from Nu Chapter. He has a fine ranch in Mindanao.

An interfraternity "get-together" was held in Manila not long ago and seventeen nationals were represented. All three Sigs were there. Anyone who thinks he can have a good time in the States should see Manila business men get together for a good time. Of course the "lack of liberty" that is sold so freely here helps things along.

Life in Manila is much the same as elsewhere except that people here probably live a bit faster. An American or a European enjoys many luxuries here not to be enjoyed in his own country unless he is very wealthy. The cost of living is high yet some things are quite to the contrary in price.

I hope that you will have a little space in The Tomahawk to mention this letter. I also would like to extend a general invitation to any Sig who comes to or passes through Manila to look me up.

Yours fraternally,

Ralph L. Reynolds, AZ '26.

Four Sigs Varsity Captains In Delta

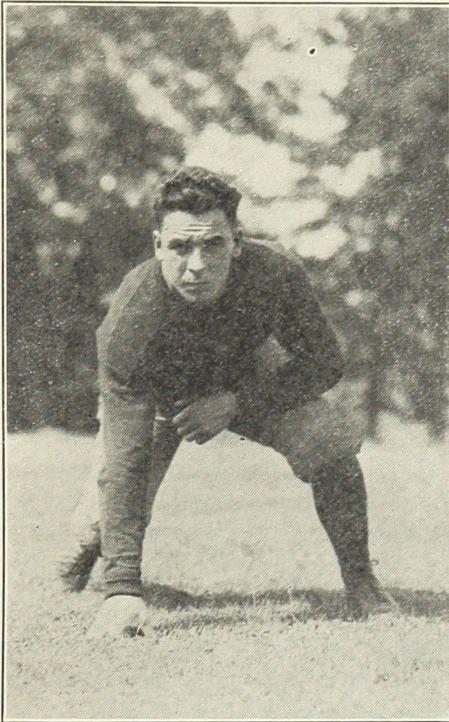

Delta Chapter has a monopoly on the captaincies in the field of athletics at Marietta College. Arpad J. Nevada is captain of the backfield in football and Pledge Hinkle was elected captain of the line.

Francis Trott is captain of both track and basketball.

Ralph Farnham is captain of baseball this year.

Six of the men of Delta Chapter hold regular Varsity berths on the football squad that succeeded in winning the Ohio Conference Championship of 1928.

Tys Three Letter Man

Both Acme, New York, N. Y.

Remey Tys

Remey Tys, of Lambda Chapter at Columbia University, has merited letters in three major sports, baseball, basketball and football. This is an unusual occurrence on the campus at Columbia. The last three letter man in Lambda Chapter was Francis "Kess" Scovil, who won letters in tennis, crew and captained the football squad. The New York Herald Tribune of November 4th stated the following regarding Tys: "Remey Tys, who won the left tackle berth early in the season and who has established his superiority over the second string candidates so clearly that he is sure of first call for the remainder of the season, gave a fine exhibition of defensive and offensive playing in the last three games and will undoubtedly prove a thorn in the side of Johns Hopkins forwards and backfield. Standing about six feet in his cleated shoes and weighing more than 190 pounds, Tys can take and give with the best of tackles. He is quick in starting and a hard deadly tackler. Time after time this Fall he has broken through to smear plays and drop ball carriers in their tracks."

Three Cups Won

by Eta Chapter in Week

Eta Chapter, to begin the school year, established a record by annexing three cups, within a week. Through the untiring efforts of the chairman, John Jarvis and the cooperation of the entire chapter, the first cup was won for Homecoming Decorations. The general scheme effected throughout the house was modernistic, although kept appropriate to the occasion. The idea was original and striking in execution. The second cup was awarded to Brother Jarvis in commendation for his work in designing the prize-winning house on the campus.

The third cup was the result of a division championship in intramural indoor ball. Captain Daniel Reese guided the team through eight straight games with only one defeat.

Bennie Oosterbaan

In the New York Herald Tribune of June the 8th, the following appeared:

Exit—Another Star Collegian

Benny Oosterbaan is graduated from Michigan, and this means that Michigan loses one of the greatest college athletes of all time. Oosterbaan was an all-American end for three years and one of the best that ever played. He was one of the best basketball players in Western Conference history. He was clean-up man on a championship baseball team, a fine fielder and a heavy hitter, and he still holds the Michigan interscholastic record for the discus.

More than twenty years ago Michigan had another star much of the same caliber. His name was Neil Snow. Snow was a great football player, a star in baseball and a track and field entry good for at least four events. But Oosterbaan comes close to being the greatest end the Middle West ever knew. In addition to exceptional all-around ability he has also had the "inside knack" and with it all a cool head and a stout heart. He has played on more championship teams than any other collegian now looking for a diploma.

Michigan lost Benny Friedman a year ago and now Benny Oosterbaan files out. It will be some time before another such pair operate under the banner of Maize and Blue—or any other college colors you can think about on a moment's notice.

Actives at Columbia

Donald Eckley is attending Dental school this year at the new location in the Presbyterian Hospital, situated a little more than two and a half miles north of the campus.

Allen Fitch has been awarded the Class of 1892 Residence Halls Scholarship Room in Furnald for the current year. This award is made each year to a student in the science school who, in the judgment of the faculty and classes concerned, has shown the best college spirit.

Harold Wylie has returned to school and has been admitted to regular first year standing in the school of engineering.

Albert Westphal is manager and student leader of the Columbia Band. Westphal is president of Baton, honorary band fraternity.

Thomas Simmons is captain of the wrestling team. Brother Simmons did not lose a bout in the dual meets last season.

Edward Mammen is taking graduate work and teaching elocution in the English department. Brother Mammen was elected to Phi Beta Kappa last Spring.

Harry Bowman is manager of freshman baseball.

Wallace E. Carr is completing his work for an M. S. in the school of business. Carr is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity.

Donald Magurk is captain of the basketball team. Tys and Magurk co-starred on last season's five.

Heselbarth and Keith Head Pittsburgh Alumni Council

T. K. Heselbarth, Omicron '19, and A. S. Keith, Alpha '11, have successfully carried the Pittsburgh Alumni Council through a very active year.

The annual party of the council was held at the St. Clair country club, a short distance South of Pittsburgh. Unfortunately business demands allowed only one half of the number planned on to be present. But a very wonderful time was had by those brothers who were lucky enough to be able to make it.

The monthly bridges held at the Chapter House have been steadily increasing in attendance until it has become necessary to turn the entire first floor of the house into space for bridge tables. The council wives take turns in acting as hostesses at the bridge parties and a great deal of friendly competition has been displayed in providing the luncheons for the occasions.

At the close of the last college year a bridge was held as a "benefit" and the money was invested in a large steel filing case for the chapter.

James A. Roberts, Iota '21, who is with the Reliance Life Insurance Co., Farmers Bank Bldg., Pittsburgh, recently joined the ranks of active councilmen.

The Council is working with the alumni of Alpha Gamma Chapter for the organization and establishment of an Alumni Incorporation.

Louisville Council Recently Organized

The Louisville Alumni Council was organized July 14, 1928 and the following officers were elected: Lawrence F. Bischof, Sigma '18, president; Raymond W. Sauer, Sigma '19, vice-president and L. Kenneth Miller, Sigma '23, secretary-treasurer. At the present time the council is working on By-Laws to govern the organization.

The Council consists of twenty-one members and the regular monthly meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month at the Hotel Seelbach. Weekly luncheons are held every Tuesday at noon at the Standard Cafeteria.

From the beginning the organization has been most successful. On August the 29th a rushing party was given for Sigma Chapter at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club and plans are now under way for a party during the Christmas holidays.

The corrected addresses of the officers of the council appear in the back of the magazine under the heading "Alumni Councils."

Ransom and Scheick Leave Gap in AF Chapter

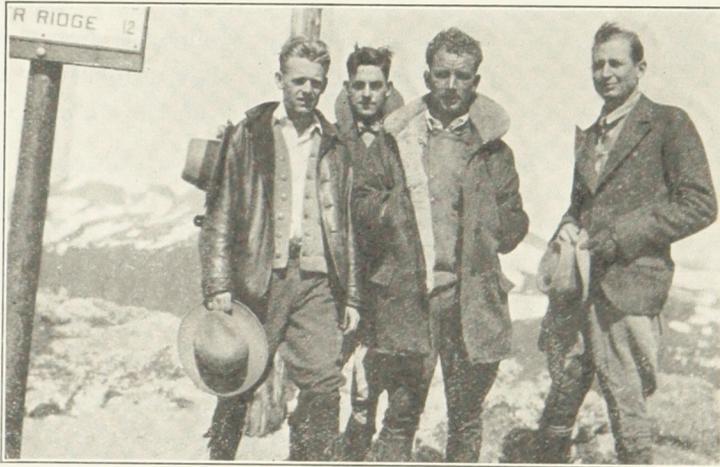

ALPHA GAMMA CHAPTER lost two men with the graduating class in June but their importance and value to the chapter cannot be over-estimated.

Both men, members of the local, Iota Sigma Delta, before its nationalization, were conscientious, hard working actives during their entire school career.

Raymond A. Ransom, Alpha Gamma '25, was graduated with honors in electrical engineering from the college of science, and was commissioned as second lieutenant in the signal corps of the officer's reserve corps of the Army of the United States. During his school years, Ransom served as chairman of both the music committee for the Military ball and the important Rushing Rules Committee of the Interfraternity Council. He was on the construction committee for Campus Week and the entertainment committee for the science stag. He held a captaincy in the Carnegie corps of the R. O. T. C. and is a member of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary fraternity as well as Eta Kappa Nu, national electrical engineering society.

Upon his graduation Ransom was taken into the employ of the Put Service Company of Colorado. He has made an inspection tour of all the company's properties in Colorado which took him over the entire state.

Raymond A. Ransom on extreme right

William H. Scheick, Alpha Gamma '25, the most active man of the chapter for the last five years graduated with the highest scholastic honors from the five year course in architecture of the college of Fine Arts. Scheick was one of the four student marshals during commencement week and received the annual medal awarded by the American Institute of Architects, a special Institute Scholarship and was announced the best all-around scholar in the college for the past five years.

Brother Scheick has been president of the senior class, senior representative on the Student Council and on its finance committee, exchange editor of the Puppet, the Institute Comic, and librarian of the Glee Club.

He has served as chairman of many societies. This year his attention was confined to Puppet as it's editor-in-chief.

His architectural studies came to a fitting climax when he was awarded first place in the 1st Preliminary for the Paris Prize, the greatest prize in the architectural world, which is conducted by the American Beaux Arts Institute in New York.

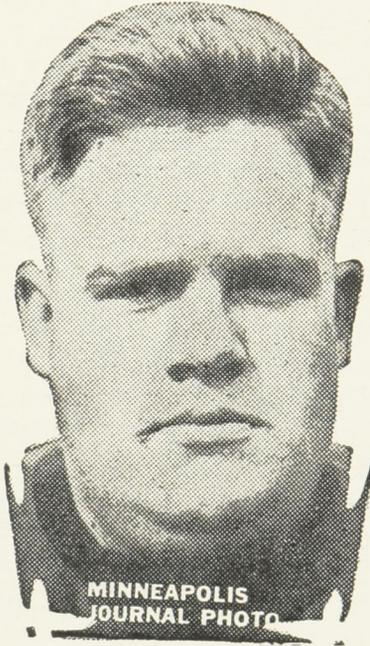

During his school career, Scheick was a member of Alpha Rho Chi, national professional architectural fraternity; Tau Sigma Delta, national honorary architectural fraternity and Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity.

Father of Angus of Lambda, Dies

Lambda Chapter extends its deepest sympathy to the family of David Angus, father of William N. Angus, Lambda '19. David Angus was fatally shot in a payroll holdup. He was head of the firm doing the stone construction work on the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and Dr. Fosdick's new church on Riverside Drive 122nd Street.

The Angus family has always shown a great interest in the affairs of Alpha Sigma Phi and during the past year Mrs. Angus served as vice-president of the Lambda Auxiliary.

Bredemus Appointed Coach

Wendell Bredemus

Wendell J. Bredemus, Rho '25, former East High line bulwark and later Minnesota gridder, will be line coach at Gustavus Adolphus for the football season. Bredemus was appointed coach September 1st and started preparations immediately for his new duties.

Back in the old days Bobby Stevenson was turning out battling teams at East High with such boys as Nelson, Guzy, Engen, Mork, Herberts and others carrying the Red and White. Bredemus occupied a guard or center position on the line and about three others at the same time.

He was one of the biggest and one of the best players in Minneapolis high schools and he later became a member of the Gopher squads under Doc Spears.

He has been at the coaching school conducted by George Myrum at Gustavus and his appointment followed the session at the St. Peter Institution. He will work with the linemen while Gustafson will have the freshmen in company with Toodie Lindenberg, the veteran, who also will help Myrum with the Varsity Minneapolis Journal.

Actives at M. A. C.

Floyd E. Brackley, played guard on the first string Varsity eleven.

John S. Woodbury and Leonard F. Sargent, are both senior officers in the R. O. T. C. Unit.

Frank M. Bishop has been awarded his "M" as manager of track and cross-country. Bishop is also on the board of the Index.

Ralph F. Kneeland, was awarded his "M" in baseball last Spring. Kneeland is a member of the Senate and is secretary-treasurer of the Interfraternity Conference.

Vincent J. Riley, is assistant manager of hockey and is on the statistics board of the Index.

Frank T. White is a member of the Varsity cross-country team.

Pledges Thomas, O'Donnel and Welch are regulars on the freshman football team.

Novek and Kanya
Star at Syracuse

Joseph Novek

Albert Kanya

Joseph Novek, 195 pound sophomore, played right tackle on the Varsity football team at Syracuse and is considered one of the best men on the line.

Albert Kanya, sophomore student, is right guard on the Varsity team and played in nearly every game of the season.

Football at Nebraska

Four members of Xi Chapter are on the football team this year and look forward to making their letters. William Gallaway, weighing 210, is considered one of the best guards on the squad.

Ralph Jefferies, weighing 190, is aspiring for guard position.

Walter Lehmkuhl, weighing 210, is trying for center position. His passes from the pivot position have uncanny accuracy.

Willard Urban, who holds the heavyweight title in boxing for the University, is making a good showing at end position this year.

Tederstrom, Manager Of United Press

Albert H. Tederstrom, Kappa '23, has been transferred to Columbus, Ohio, by the United Press, for which he has been working since his graduation in 1926. Brother Tederstrom has charge of territory in Southern Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, for the United Press.

Tederstrom is living at the Zeta chapter house.

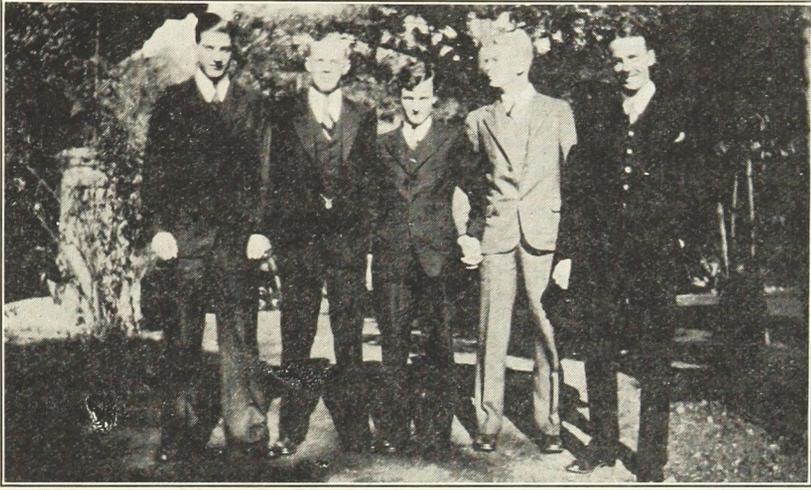

James Reid Breaks Cross-Country Record

James Reid

James L. Reid, Beta '27, captain of the track team and head cheerleader at the football games at Harvard has broken his own cross-country record made last season. Reid is captain of cross-country and won the two mile race in the Intercollegiates last Spring.

Sigs at Cornell

William T. Reed and Harry F. Stiefel are on the staff of the Cornell annual, the Cornellian. Reed is associate editor and Stiefel is circulation manager.

Robert J. McCarthy is business manager of the freshman Handbook and is out for the baseball team.

Robert C. Rosser, is out to win a position on the Cornell civil engineer board of editors.

Glenn E. Kingsley was recently elected to the Glee Club. Kingsley has been initiated to Sculls, honorary pre-medical society and hopes to win a place on the board of editors of the Cornell Widow.

Dan C. Smith is in the competition for business management of the Cornellian.

Mark S. Gurnee is on the minor sports competition.

Twenty-Two Sigs Initiated at Yale

WITH a nucleus of fifty seniors and juniors with which to build an effective rushing campaign, the highest hopes of all the men in Alpha Chapter were realized when the last hold-off or fraternity invitation was given. Every member of the fraternity gave his best to make the season a successful one and with such unprecedented cooperation the rushing committee consisting of Wallace Sheridan, chairman, Walter Watson and John Bogardus, was able to add the names of twenty-two splendid men to the roll call of the chapter at Yale. The newly initiated are: Hamilton Allen, Oneida, New York; Arthur F. Brook, Mount Vernon, New York; Herbert Brook, Mount Vernon, New York; William S. Camp, Hartford, Connecticut; Morgan Churchman, Chestnut Hill, Pennsylvania; Frederick W. Coates, Wethersfield, Connecticut; Robert L. Crowell, Upper Montclair, New Jersey; Bromley DeMerritt, Exeter, New Hampshire; William A. Goodrich, Waterbury, Connecticut; Paul MacDonald, Worcester, Massachusetts; Horace R. Mustard, Jersey City, New Jersey; Benjamin F. Nelson, Minneapolis, Minnesota; Edward B. Paine, Hewlett, New York; Cedric H. Spencer, Springfield, Massachusetts; Arthur E. Tanner, Waterbury, Connecticut; Albert C. Thompson, New York City; Seelye C. Vidal, Buffalo, New York; James D. Washington, Tallahassee, Florida; John E.

Willard, Cape Elizabeth, Maine; Francis J. Wrinn, Wallingford, Connecticut; John O. Olson, Meriden, Connecticut and Harry M. Harris, Des Moines, Iowa.

The freshmen among the group initiated entered various activities: William Camp on the football team; Morgan Churchman, baseball and basketball; Fred Coates, track; Brom DeMerritt, Glee Club, cross-country and the Freshman Student Council; Paul MacDonald, the 150 pound crew; Horace Mustard, water polo; Ned Paine heeled Yale Record and Yale Literary Magazine and is a member of the Year Book board and backstroke on the swimming team; Art Tanner, fencing; Al Thompson, Glee Club and University band; Seelye Vidal, University band.

Gardner Child, hurdler and "Doc" Smith cross-country, are expected to make a record in track this year.

Everett Ashley who was chairman of the Freshman Year Book board is now chairman of the Senior Class Book board.

The officers of Alpha Chapter for the term are:

H. S. P.	Rutherford Hubbard
H. J. P.	Lynn Williams
H. S.	Everett Ashley III
H. M.	Wallace Sheridan
H. C. S.	John Bogardus
H. E.	Cleveland J. Rice.

Alpha Sigs on the Coast

MEMBERS of Alpha Zeta Chapter are participating in almost every activity on the campus this year at California.

Harold Bishop who made his letter in football last year is playing first string end this year and is one of the best ends on the Coast. Brother Bishop weighs 195 pounds but is a fast man and can snag passes with the best of them.

Brother Avery has established a reputation for himself in journalistic circles during his three years in school. This year Avery earned the enviable position of editor-in-chief of the Southern Campus, California year book.

Robert Laird rated as one of the best tennis men at U. C. L. A. and who has won numerous cups in various tennis tournaments was made Varsity captain and will pilot the team through the season.

Arthur Bauckham, enthusiastic worker of the chapter and prominent in campus activities, received the appointments of temporary chairman of the California Arrangements Committee; president to the Welfare Board, sub-chairman on Rally Committee in charge of the bleacher stunts. He was also elected to Scimitar and Key, junior honorary society.

Edwin Fritz, captain of the rifle team last year and water polo in his junior year will be the mainstay of both these teams. Fritz is a member of Scimitar and Key and Scabbard and Blade, military honor society. This year Brother Fritz was appointed by the colonel as student major of one of the three R. O. T. C. units.

Frank Knox, golf captain last year, is again playing championship ball and is senior manager of this sport.

Harold Ferguson, politician of the chapter, is manager of numerous campus activities. This year Brother Ferguson holds the managership of the senior tennis team.

Laurence Holt, sub-chairman on the university Social Committee, is a member of the Glee Club and the university dramatic Society.

John Francisco is upholding the honor of the university and the chapter in boxing. Francisco is on the Rally Committee.

Harold Whaley, junior tennis manager, has been assigned the directorship and instructorship for leading the songs rendered before classes. It is a tradition at the U. C. L. A. that California University songs be sung before every class. This requires a large number of students to lead the songs and Whaley's appointment as instructor of these song leaders is a great achievement.

Alpha Zeta Chapter pledged eight men this Fall: Stains from Hollywood High School is already on the Rally Reserves, the freshman unit of the Rally Committee, and is out for the swimming team and water polo.

Jack Bloxom is out for baseball. Bloxom is one of the University Minute Men.

John Veazy from Arkansas has been participating in wrestling bouts and is out for basketball.

Fred Wheeler has been playing an unusually good game of football during the season holding down first string pivot position.

Dan Johnson is a member of the Rally Reserves.

The other pledges are Bob Thomas, Jack Cameron and Gordon Parks.

Last month the active members of Alpha Zeta gave a dance in honor of the pledges. The house was decorated in cardinal and stone and the surrounding grounds were hung with Japanese lanterns and colored lights. The affair will long be remembered by those present.

The members who live in the house have successfully featured "inside men's dinner" once a month and everyone is excluded living outside of the chapter house. The privileged members are allowed to bring a guest and the first floor is for their exclusive use. When the house is completed in Westwood these dinners will become a real social event because of the increased number of men living at the fraternity house.

Activities at Iowa

ALPHA BETA CHAPTER has just completed the negotiation of a contract with the Crowl Construction Company of Madison, Wisconsin for the erection of a new house to be ready for occupancy next September. The structure will be of white limestone and will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $60,000.

The site chosen for the new home will overlook the Iowa River and the Iowa Campus and is favorably located in the vicinity of the newer fraternity houses recently built.

James Miller is secretary of the senior dentistry class.

Robert Harrington and Charles Akre have been elected to Pi Epsilon

Pi, national pep fraternity. Brother Harrington who is on the swimming team was recently initiated into the Dolphin Club. Brother Akre is vice-president of the sophomore class and was one of the stars in "The First Year," the initial university play of the year.

Carl F. Distelhorst is serving his second year as editor of the Journal of Business, a publication of the commerce school. Last Spring Distelhorst was awarded the Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key and this year he holds the graduate scholarship in the commerce department.

Milton O. Riepe and Edward Carmody, a pledge who won the oratorical prize, are on the Varsity debate team.

Where the 14th National Convention of Alpha Sigma Phi Will Be Held

THE SITE for the 14th National Convention of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity has been decided upon. Iota Chapter at Ithaca, New York, will entertain the delegates of the 1929 Conclave. The Convention will convene during the month of September 1929, and while no definite dates are as yet arranged, the Grand Prudential Committee, will officially send out to the chapters and councils, notices of the exact dates some time during the month of February.

The Executive Secretary, while attending Iota Chapter's banquet, November 24th, met with Brother Stephen P. Toadvine in Syracuse, New York and discussed with him the excellent plan whereby Alpha Epsilon Chapter at Syracuse, will jointly entertain with Iota Chapter at Ithaca, the delegates and representatives attending the Convention.

Iota Chapter is one of the few older chapters that has never had the opportunity to act as host to one of our Conventions and the men at Iota feel that in 1929 they will be able with the co-operation of Alpha Epsilon Chapter and with the enthusiastic alumni of both chapters, to hold an unforgettable 14th National Convention of Alpha Sigma Phi.

Convention Dates

The past thirteen National Conventions of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity have been held in the following cities:

1907	June	Marietta, Ohio.
1908	May	New Haven, Conn.

Xi Leases New Home

Xi Chapter House

Xi Chapter at the University of Nebraska has leased the home of Brother Carlisle Logan-Jones, one of the alumni of Xi Chapter.

The Chapter is at present engaged in a building program that will not materialize for several years, consequently, with new fraternity homes being built every year competition in rushing has been very keen. The house now occupied by Xi Chapter compares favorably with any house on the campus including those erected in the past few years. Although not situated as near the campus as in former years Xi Chapter is now in what is considered one of the most ideal fraternity locations at the University.

Sixteen Pledges at Penn State

Upsilon Chapter, though at a disadvantage during rushing season because of the incompleteness of their home, successfully pledged sixteen men. Nelson F. Rodda, Harry Voelker, Bernard Huhler, Paul Crust, J.

P. Critchfield, William M. Lutz, Reed B. Riker, Alden R. Gates, Day Thomas, John J. Rutherford, Jr., Robert Chapman, Don Swain, Jack Staley, Jack Lockard, John Miller and Roy Hancock.

Jose Escaler of Alpha Dies in the Phillipines

Through the courtesy of Brothers Edwin M. Waterbury, Cleaveland J. Rice and Wayne M. Musgrave it is possible to publish the following account of Brother Escaler of Alpha Chapter who died February 17, 1927.

Wayne M. Musgrave, Alpha '07, bid Jose Escaler to Alpha Chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi when the chapter was reinstated at Yale.

Brother Escaler was Minister of Education in the Phillipines in 1921 and was responsible for placing President Benton, former president of Miami and Vermont Universities and Grand Senior President of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, as president of the University of the Phillipines. It was interesting to learn that the first meeting between Escaler and Mr. Benton probably came about as a result of a letter written by Brother Musgrave to introduce Mr. Benton to Brother Escaler.

Anent Delta

Delta Chapter's Mothers Club recently sponsored a smoker and luncheon for the alumni and members of the active chapter. Plans were formulated at the luncheon for a new budget, the object of which is to create an active campaign for procuring a new home for Delta Chapter.

Yantes Elected Instructor of Business Organization

Edmund N. Yantes, Zeta '13, has been appointed instructor in Business Organization in the college of commerce and administration for the coming year at Ohio State University.

Brother Yantes received his degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1915 and has been in business for ten years. He decided to reenter school and study law. He was graduated from the school of law June 1928 with the degree of Juris Doctor, the highest degree conferred. He was also elected to Order of the Coif, honorary law society, having the highest grades in the graduating class.

Wm. A. Pittenger Elected to Congress from Duluth

William A. Pittenger, the first man to be taken into Beta Chapter after its reinstallation at Harvard, 1911, has been elected to Congress from Duluth, Minnesota.

Brother Pittenger served two terms as senator in the legislature from Minnesota.

He is also very active in the Masonic Order.

Activities at Yale

ROBERT HOUSTON, who stood fifth highest scholastically in the junior class last year has been elected vice-president of the Yale Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. He has also received one of the greatest honors on the campus in his election to Elihu Club, the senior society. Brother Houston is senior class orator; member of Playcraftsman and the Yale Dramatic Association and Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic society.

Winslow Leighton, is a member of the Yale Dramatic Association, Playcraftsman, the debating team and Delta Sigma Rho Fraternity.

Lynn Williams, a member of Playcraftsman who has been cast in various university plays for the past three years, has been elected vice-president of the Yale Dramatic Association.

Harold Lachner is spending a year at the University of Berlin. This splendid opportunity was offered him through a scholarship, the basis of qualifying for which, are character and scholastic ability. He was one of the ten chosen from American universities for this scholarship. Brother Lachner, popular on the campus at Yale, has served on the football and crew squads.

Ted Thomas, one of the outstanding light-weight boxers in college and who received his letter last year, is again training for this year's matches.

Hal Seely, one of the members of the chapter that made the concert tour to Europe with the University Glee Club last summer, is cox on the University 150 pound crew.

Alpha Delta's Activities

Twin City Councilmen

Lawrence S. Clark, Rho '20, submitted the accompanying photographs on this page. The pictures were taken at the Alpha Sigma Phi picnic, July 29, 1928, at Lake Minnetonka.

One knows that Larry, Jr., is as enthusiastic as his Dad, after glancing at the picture in the lower corner which shows him with Frank Tupa, Jr., at the high point of a nicely placed punt.

Larry, himself, has refused to submit a photo of the senior member of the Clark family and the editor will reward any loyal member of Alpha Sigma Phi that is successful in sneaking up on the gentleman in question and obtaining a portrait for our tabloid section of The Tomahawk.

Larry Clark, Jr., Frank Tupa, Jr.,
Class of '45.

Rushing at Columbia

DEFERRED rushing is the policy at Columbia University and because of this fact the Frosh rushing does not begin until after Thanksgiving, Lambda Chapter has devoted itself to rushing upperclassmen. Rushing dinners which are held one evening a week are attended by the alumni, as well as the active men. At present luncheons are supplied to the house by a caterer. This has proved to be the most satisfactory method of serving meals because of the metropolitan character of Columbia where classes interfere and many brothers reside at home.

Recent pledges include John M. Keyes of Staten Island; Charles B. Heck of the city; Alexander Wing, Jr., of Long Island and J. James Knox of Long Island. Keyes is a brother of Oliver Keyes who transferred to Hamilton College this year. In the Fall tennis tournament John was semi-finalist and will undoubtedly be a member of the team in the Spring. Pledge Heck was infielder on the freshman baseball team, and Wing is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Knox was recently elected to Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity.

John Harris Mathis of Oklahoma and Donald Kehrwieler Magurk of Long Island were initiated into the Mystic Circle on October 30th. Mathis is an excellent performer on the bass viol in the University orchestra and Magurk is a trumpeter of note having played in the Columbia Band and other organizations. The nucleus of an orchestra reside at the house. Arthur M. Wells, violinist, C. Theodore Jorgensen, saxophonist and Charles E. Hall, pianist.

The living room at the chapter house at Columbia has been redecorated and the appearance of the house improved considerably during the past Fall. The chapter feels grateful for the consistent support of the alumni. The Celven Club, chapter alumni organization, has proved extremely helpful in matters relating to the fraternity and credit is due this body for the latest improvements at the house.

Sports at Harvard

John Lane who captained last year's lacrosse team is coaching the squad and is head of the Phillips Brook's House.

David O'Connell, Jr., will captain the basketball team this year. O'Connell plays forward on the team.

Ben Boldt, one of the latest members of the chapter at Harvard has been rowing all Fall in crew practice. Boldt, incidentally, plays the new college drum.

Daniel La Rue, another new member, won his numerals in baseball and basketball. La Rue has been playing an excellent game of touch-football for the chapter this Fall. It will be remembered that Alpha Sigma Phi at Harvard represented the first intercollegiate touch-football game against Brown University.

Donald Baum who won his numerals in his freshman year has been coxing the crew.

Brothers Cummings, George Elsass and Cece Lauterhahn are on the track team. These brothers ran last year and merited a number of places for Harvard. They all won their numerals in their freshman year.

The chapter looks to Dick Ketchum, Ralph Durkee and Charles Mock to hold the baseball laurels for Beta Chapter. Frank Cutts, made a name for the chapter last year with his pitching which will be hard to maintain. Cutts was H. S. P. at the house last year and was elected president of the first year medical students this Fall.

Albert Campbell rowed on the Varsity team last Spring and is certain to win his letter next season. He is playing football now after missing the first few weeks of practice because of illness.

Don Kroell rowed on the combination crew last Spring but will not row again until next year.

Ralph McKinnon is playing on the second squad in football.

Meredith MacKusick is rowing with the hundred and fifties. He was recently elected to Tau Beta Pi, the engineering school's honor society.

Don Greer, who rowed last Spring on the jayvees, has been elected president of Tau Beta Pi.

Win Smith is making a record for himself on the Fall track squad.

Clyde Comstock won his numerals in crew his freshman year and captained the sophomore crew, the third Varsity and combination crew at Red Top last Spring.

Dana Backus is now a member of the Legal Aid Society in Law School.

Howard Travis, former Varsity cox, is now a law school student and freshman crew coach.

Hart Wood is assistant manager of the Harvard Instrumental Club.

George Thow has returned to school and is playing with the Harvardians.

Eugene Kraetzer is on the staff of Lampoon and Cece Lauterhahn is photographic editor of the Crimson.

Since diamond ball has been introduced at Kentucky, Sigma Chapter, has never lost a game. Brother Jones, stellar pitcher, from Chicago is responsible for the superiority of the team.

In addition to this record the chapter won their division in basketball; three cups out of a possible four, in roller skating and high point cup in track.

The municipal coal docks were leased by the City Council of Minneapolis to the St. Paul Coal and Dock Company for a five-year period at an annual rental of $2,000 plus taxes.

The Coal and Dock Company is a corporation associated with the Mississippi Barge Corporation which plans to haul southern Illinois coal to St. Paul on the river, and to return southward with iron ore cargoes.

NEWS BULLETIN NUMBER 2

THE Grand Prudential Committee hereby transmits to the Chapters, Alumni Councils and Grand Officers, a short resume of the proceedings at National Headquarters for the period, December 7, 1927 to November 1, 1928, both inclusive.

Personnel

The Committee remains as constituted after the vacancy caused by Wentworth Gantt's removal to Cleveland, Ohio, was filled, and consists of Robert L. Jagoeki, C. William Cleworth and Spencer E. Young. Robert L. Jagoeki is still practicing law in New York City, C. William Cleworth is business manager of the Electrical World a McGraw-Hill publication, and Spencer E. Young is with the advertising department of The Magazine of Wall Street.

Richard M. Archibald, Executive Secretary, resigned in order to become sales manager for the Niagara Cotton Company, Lockport, New York. In his place, the present Executive Secretary, A. Vernon Bowen, Delta '24, Marietta '27, is in charge of Headquarters, assisted as heretofore by Myra Empringham, nee Story.

No change in personnel appears imminent except that Mrs. Empringham will leave the service of the Fraternity on January 1st.

Visitation

Due to the change of Executive Secretaries, the Committee felt that visitation trips by that officer would have to be deferred until such time as he became more acquainted with his duties and after the routine work at Headquarters was in such shape that the Executive Secretary could safely leave New York for that purpose. He has now become thoroughly familiar with his duties, giving complete satisfaction to the Committee to date, but detail work, such as compiling a new Directory, an audit of the books, extra work attendant upon Dartmouth's admission, and other matters, has prevented any visitation trips.

The withdrawal of Mrs. Empringham and the necessity to train a new assistant will further delay visitation.

The Committee feels that it cannot authorize a visitation trip until late in the Spring of 1929, if then. Although it could designate some other member of the Fraternity to take such a trip, it feels that the value to Headquarters of a trip by one not closely connected with Headquarters would be an injudicious expenditure of the Fraternity's money.

No suggestions from Chapters, Alumni Councils or members have been received which cover this difficulty, and the Committee cannot evolve a solution which does not entail as hereinbefore set forth, the unnecessary outlay of the Fraternity's funds. The 1929 Convention will have to deal with this subject anew. The advisability of having a Traveling Secretary to supplement the Executive Secretary has been discussed in the Committee's meetings, but until there is more revenue received by the National Organization, this move will have to be deferred.

History

The Committee is sensitive to the fact that it has made representations on this subject which it has not carried out. June 1, 1928, was stated to be the publication date, but the history is still in the making.

Subscriptions have not come in to the extent which warrants the assumption of the large printing bill necessary to place this book in the hands of the subscribers. After repeated discussions of this matter at its semi-monthly meetings, the Committee resolved that it would not contract for the printing of this book until the funds for same were in hand.

Although authorized to put into effect the system of compulsory subscription by initiates, it is reluctant to do so, because of the forcible arguments advanced at the Estes Park Convention, September 1927, against increased assessments.

As to the editorial work, the Committee has not as yet received the manuscript from Wayne M. Musgrave, and cannot, therefore, proceed to the appointment of the Advisory Committee provided for in the resolutions passed by the Chapters applicable to this subject.

At a conference held with Wayne M. Musgrave on July 25, 1928, it was ascertained that Brother Musgrave had not completed the manuscript due to the necessity for further research in original sources.

Jewelry

The Committee has kept in constant touch with L. G. Balfour Company, sole official jeweler of Alpha Sigma Phi in the attempt to guarantee satisfaction to all the Chapters and members, in the purchase of jewelry, especially that of badges and sister pins. The Committee feels it is fostering and protecting the policy of the fraternity at large when it condemns without reservation the purchase or sale of jewelled badges or sister pins.

Directory

The Committee, by the time this bulletin is in the hands of the readers, will have published a Directory, both alphabetically and geographically indexed. Although originally the Committee desired to publish and sell this Directory as a separate Fraternity publication it was later agreed to publish it as an issue of The Tomahawk to take the place of the usual September number.

Expansion

While the policy of the Fraternity's expansion lies with Benjamin Clarke, Grand Junior President, it may be well to state that Sigma Alpha, local at Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire, was admitted as the thirtieth chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity, March 3, 1928.

At the present time Chi Alpha Chi Fraternity at the University of Missouri and Chi Delta Sigma at the University of Alabama, are petitioning Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity for admittance.

Finance

In September, Roy Campbell of the firm of Campbell and Carr, auditors, audited the books as of the 31st of August, 1928.

At the time of the auditing of the books, the Executive Secretary informed the Auditor that the total amount of $25,805.00 comprising the receipts for Tomahawk life subscriptions, was turned over to the trustees, Max Taylor,

Robert L. Jagoeki and Raymond K. Hyde, appointed and empowered at a meeting held October 19, 1927, to handle these funds. Said funds, upon advice and investigation, have been invested in a first mortgage that will pay 6% interest for five years.

The financing of the fraternity is one of the most important problems that is faced by the Committee and it is their desire to see the organization on as firm a financial footing as is possible.

The Convention of 1929 will be an added loss in finance to the fraternity and because of this, together with the extra expense incurred by the publication of the Directory, it is imperative for the Committee to give the greatest consideration to this aspect of national organization.

Scholarship

It has been the privilege of the Committee members from time to time to meet in conference with the Deans or heads of student bodies of various institutions and discuss with them those problems and frictions that have arisen both within our chapters and between chapters and institutions. The Committee has tried to realize the attitude of both college administration and fraternity chapters in the matters discussed. While there has existed an intense desire upon the part of the Committee to protect the welfare of the chapter in each case it has not failed to appreciate the rights and obligations due to any college administration by its fraternity bodies.

The Committee feels the importance for giving to such authorities all possible co-operation in the matter of raising the low scholastic standing that at times has been the existing condition within the chapters.

HELLENICA

Fraternities Attacked by Yale Student Papers

IN THE New York Evening Post of November 23, 1928 the following article appeared: A general revision of the Yale fraternity system was forecast today, when it was said officially that a formal call will be issued for a meeting at which the interfraternity council, which disappeared sometime ago, probably will be re-organized.

The societies have been attacked vigorously by the Yale Daily News and Alumni Weekly during the past fortnight. Charges have been made that they are responsible for Yale football players going into the Maryland game exhausted because they had been too active in fraternity matters the previous few days, and especially nights.

The News has accused the societies of breaking their interfraternity agreement in pledging prospective members and has termed them corrupt in their method of obtaining new members.

The News and the Weekly admit the old-fashioned idea of secrecy around which the societies were built, has disappeared, and that they have become little more than open clubs. The real problem according to News and Weekly, is to abolish the evils which have grown into the societies, in this connection and investigation has been begun into the influence of the societies upon athletics and scholarship.

A report on some of these phases is expected soon. The News has demanded that control of the societies by juniors be abolished and that it be given to an interfraternity council. Because of this the announcement today that a reformation of the council was under way has started what may result in fraternity reorganization.

The failure of the University to muster more than 500 undergraduates for the only football rally of the season Wednesday has prompted Tad Jones, former coach to say that the teas and dinners at fraternity houses.

4,500 missing students would be at the Yale-Harvard game in the best seats, sitting with girls and dancing all night Friday and Saturday at the

The newspapers also insist that the faculty is disgusted with several features of the fraternity system.

Power, the Magic Word

Power, power everywhere. The car is rated by its horsepower, the hydro-electric plant by its voltage power, the locomotive by its drawing power—even man is being rated according to how powerful he may be in the particular field in which he works.

The world is built on power and built by power—power of mind, power of law, power of habit, power of will. Yes, we live in a world of power, ruled by power; unhappy is the man who lacks power.

What then is power, and how may each of us become powerful men? Common sense is power. Superficial values and false standards never add to the strength of the individual or to society. Common sense enables you to select that which is worth while and discard that which is worthless. If your college training does nothing else but develop within you a goodly portion of common sense you will have spent your time with profit.

Education is power, for with it you are enabled to make your contribution after having selected those things worth while. Education is like a great dam holding back the reserve energy of the stream and letting it through the turbines as it is needed. It converts a rushing torrent into a quietly running yet powerful current. Education stores up and holds back your natural abilities to release them in a steady stream of energy capable of unlimited construction force.

Concentration is power. The boiler full of water will boil away if left open and create no more than a filmy cloud to float away in the air, while if concentrated and directed to one spot it pushes the piston or turns the turbine which connects it with the machinery and makes industry the mark of civilization. Your energies may be either dissipated or concentrated; if concentrated, they will become powerful factors in the evolutionary processes of this civilization.

Justice is power. Above all else and greater than all else is the power of justice. "Give unto Caesar that which is Caesar's, and to God that which is God's".....
