NEC: Discovering the special spirit of the brotherhood

Mayor Doug DeGood declared it Alpha Sigma Phi week in Toledo, Ohio. Radio, TV and newspapers covered the arrival of Alpha Sigs from across the country. A large electronic message board at the University of Toledo blinked out its welcome to the men of the "Old Gal."

That was the beginning of the National Educational Conference (NEC) August 16-19. At the end, 100-plus delegates gathered to see a special slide presentation by Jeff Schwind of the Headquarters staff. And then they stood and applauded. And applauded. The clapping went on for long minutes. Having discovered a special spirit of brotherhood, the men didn't want to let go, to bring NEC to a close.

Underwritten by the Alpha Sigma Phi Memorial Fund, NEC seeks to provide leadership training for outstanding young men from the Fraternity's undergraduate chapters. The 1981 conference was under the direction of Larry Philippi, Bowling Green '76, Greek advisor at Lehigh University. "Brotherhood: A Course for Life" was the theme of the NEC.

Undergraduates heard some special speakers during NEC:

—Mrs. Eileen Stevens, Sayville, N.Y., shared the ordeal of a mother who learns that her son has died due to fraternity hazing.

—Dave Westol, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, Kalamazoo, Michigan and national vice president of Theta Chi fraternity, addressed the legal liabilities of hazing and suggested alternatives that can form a positive pledge program.

—Mrs. Richard Gibbs, Alpha Sigma Phi's first lady, gave a workshop on job interviews.

—Dr. Gerardo Gonzalez, Director, Campus Alcohol Information Center, University of Florida, spoke to the group on "Positive Prevention Through Alcohol Awareness."

There were a series of rush seminars, plus workshops on pledge education, publications, alumni programs, chapter finances, expansion, and community service.

The "Old Gal": Putting ideas into action

Bright white and red T-shirts are popping up across America in Alpha Sigma Phi chapters. "Brotherhood, a course for life" they proclaim.

The T-shirts symbolize a special program throughout Alpha Sigma Phi for 1981-82. It is a year of rededication to the primary purpose of the Fraternity—the development of brotherhood.

"Brotherhood, a course for life" is more than a theme. It is an ideal already being put into action.

Delegates to the 1981 National Educational Conference in August were the first to learn of the program. They gathered in record-breaking numbers at the University of Toledo for leadership workshops underwritten by the Memorial Fund, the educational foundation of the Fraternity.

Nationally recognized educators and speakers along with the Fraternity's leadership and staff introduced the young Alpha Sigs to aspects of the program:

Pledge education—Even stronger emphasis on providing a quality experience for each new member. Chapters are being guided to create a training period that stresses leadership development, scholarship motivation and chapter management information. Central to this is making the period a shared experience with brothers and pledges. New support materials have been developed. To Better The Man, Alpha Sigma Phi's acclaimed membership manual, is currently being expanded and revised for a new third edition.

Alcohol abuse—Fraternities in general are being charged with over-emphasis of alcohol as university officials express concern about documented dramatic increases in the use and abuse of alcohol by undergraduates. Alpha Sigma Phi has for years stressed responsible attitudes about alcohol, urged alternative beverages at all social functions and restriction of alcohol at rush functions. The subject was a program topic at the National Educational Conference and will be taken to regional meetings and chapters provided with study materials.

Province conclaves—These regional educational meetings will carry on the "Brotherhood, a course for life" theme. For the third year the Fraternity is placing special resources behind the program. Conclaves are being moved to fall and early winter dates. Each regional gathering of chapters features special program material from Headquarters and attendance by Fraternity staff and/or a national official.

Hazing—Alpha Sigma Phi will brook no activities that cheapen the brotherhood experience. That was the message imparted in no uncertain terms. (See detailed report in this issue.) Chapters will be required to review their pre-initiation activities with Fraternity officials. The Grand Council has already taken strong disciplinary action against several chapters.

On the inside

Directory—A complete listing of chapters and Fraternity leaders. It's published once a year, so save for your files. Pages 11-12.

Policy—The Fraternity announces a more detailed statement about the old problem of hazing. Page 3.

Service—It's a way of life at Gamma Zeta, Bowling Green. Read about these busy and helpful brothers. Page 4.

50 years—Happy golden anniversary to a special group of men... the class of 1931 of Alpha Sigma Phi. Pages 6-7.

Fees increase. To help Alpha Sigma Phi in its battle with inflation, chapters have overwhelmingly approved a mail vote to increase initiation fees (to $100); annual undergraduate dues (to $15 per man); and the annual chapter fee to $210. The chapter fee goes toward Convention expenses, including the chapter delegate. (When you write your check to the Loyalty Fund, you might keep in mind that undergraduates have assessed themselves larger fees—they feel Alpha Sigma Phi is worth the investment. Match their faith.)

Alumni involvement—"Brotherhood, a course for life" also means that brotherhood is needed for a lifetime. The Fraternity has just issued its first national directory published in modern times. Work has begun in forming alumni councils or reactivating them to provide more brothers with the opportunity to continue the fraternal experience. With the growth of the Fraternity, more volunteers are needed in helping maintain the quality of Alpha Sigma Phi.

Ritual expression—At the request of undergraduates, a new edition of the Alpha Sigma Phi ritual is being prepared. It will provide more detailed instruction in dramatically presenting the Fraternity's ideals, in keeping with growing undergraduate interest. Funds for the project are currently being sought. A new pledge ritual has already been produced and is in use by the chapters.

Other aspects of the year of brotherhood development:

- Revival of "The Old Gal Gazette," chapter-level newsletter now going out every two weeks with how-to information and current news.

- A challenge to chapters to continue the pace-setting growth in pledges and initiates that the Fraternity has been achieving. This is particularly important as chapters gird themselves for projected enrollment decreases on most campuses during the next decade.

- A commitment to continue the sharing of brotherhood through the Fraternity's expansion program as it starts new chapters and reactivates old chapters.

"Brotherhood, a course for life"—a special program for a special year. Charting a successful course in life begins with brotherhood and . . . Alpha Sigs everywhere can take part. If you'd like one of those T-shirts, just send a check for $4.00 with shirt size to Alpha Sigma Phi, 24 West William Street, Delaware, Ohio 43015.

Let the world know that you and your Fraternity stand for something special. □

Host of the 1981 NEC was Beta Rho chapter, University of Toledo. Beta Rho not only hosted the entire delegation at a special social but provided transportation and a lot of the conference legwork.

The Grand Council of the Fraternity met prior to NEC and scheduled a few meetings during the event. But generally the officers of the Fraternity were busy conducting workshops or talking with undergraduates.

Richard R. Gibbs, Oklahoma '51, Grand Senior President, presented an overview of Alpha Sigma Phi for the delegates. Earlier he and Executive Director Robert M. Sheehan, Jr., Westminster '76, reviewed the Fraternity's undergraduate-inspired policy on pre-initiation activities. (See report in this issue.)

Don Morgan, Purdue '57, presented tips on sharing brotherhood with others through rush. Evin Varner, Presbyterian '58, Grand Secretary, presented the ritual exemplification.

A center of attention throughout the meeting was Ralph Burns, Ohio Wesleyan '32, Executive Secretary Emeritus. Delegates had a chance to learn about the Fraternity first-hand from "Mr. Alpha Sig" himself.

There were various social events, an Alpha Sig "Olympics" and an evening of original skits.

At the scholarship banquet, a special guest was Toledo's mayor, Doug DeGood, who presented GSP Gibbs with a gift from the city. Making an appearance also was Linda Diane Snyder, the 1981 Sweetheart of Alpha Sigma Phi. Chosen by national vote, Miss Snyder was the nominee of Westminster College's Alpha Nu chapter.

Named as the Fraternity's scholar of the year was Mark Kramer, Beta Theta chapter, Rutgers University. Dale Svendsen, Psi chapter, Oregon State, was named winner of the Friends of Alpha Gamma award (science). Friends of Rho award a prize to the outstanding brother in liberal arts, which went to Thomas Ludawski, Iota chapter, Cornell. Named to receive Memorial Fund Grants were Ron Maple, Psi, Oregon State and Bruce Cohen, Iota, Cornell.

Alpha Pi chapter, Purdue, went home with the award for chapter newsletter (runner-up, Gamma Zeta, Bowling Green) and Beta Psi, Rensselaer, captured the Tomahawk award. Delta Theta, Radford University, was runner-up for that prize.

Undergraduates elected Province Presidents for the 81-82 year. Chosen to lead the Fraternity on a regional basis were: Larry Andrews, Oregon State, Province I; Brad Barling, Iowa State, Province II; Jerry Flint, Purdue, Province III; Randy Dickens, Toledo, Province IV and Mark Eisenzimmer, Ohio State, Province V.

Also, John Van Horn, Marshall, Province VI; David Bernheim, UNC-Charlotte, Province VII; Glen Ritschel, Rutgers, Province VIII; and Wesley Horbatuck, Rensselaer, Province IX.

Undergraduates also selected members of a national committee on hazing (see related story), discussed a proposed revised constitution and by laws and also a mail vote increasing undergraduate fees, an inflation-created need.

A sizeable number of alumni took part in NEC, including Province Chiefs and other volunteers. Toledo area alumni were guests at a special reception with the Grand Council and trustees of the Memorial Fund prior to the opening of NEC.

Was NEC a success? Ask any man who stood at the end and clapped until his hands were sore. And then went back to campus determined to make Alpha Sigma Phi better than ever. □

August 15-18, 1982. Mark those dates on your calendar right now. That's Convention '82. And Alpha Sigma Phi will be gathering at the Millsop Leadership Center, Bethany College, Bethany, WV. The mountains will be cool and beautiful. The area abounds with history. The Pittsburgh Pirates will be playing nearby. And for Alpha Sigs—undergraduates, alumni and their ladies—it will be a special time. Plan now on being there!

Hazing

Alpha Sigma Phi details policy as Greek world fights #1 problem

Louis Manigault asked Horace Spangler Weiser and Stephen Ormsby Rhea to his room on Chapel Street at Yale. It was December 6, 1845. Manigault spoke of his dream for a special society.

The society they formed there had high ideals, serious purposes and stressed high scholarship.

Not one word was recorded about pledge push-ups, rat courts or swats.

Such was the case for all of America's fraternities.

But somewhere along the way the cause of brotherhood became an excuse for senseless pranks. Pranks that began innocently enough—a bit of fun at the expense of the neophyte, an addition to the rites of passage. Macho instincts took it from there. "Make it tough on the new guys," said the old guys. "I'll show them how much I can take," said the new guy.

And suddenly tradition was perverted. And brotherhood tarnished.

Alpha Sigma Phi and other fraternities took early stands against pre-initiation activities. A major topic at the 1946 Centennial Convention (in addition to the consolidation with Alpha Kappa Pi) was putting an end to mental and physical harassment. Alpha Sigma Phi has always stressed Pinnacle Week, never Hell Week.

But hazing in America's fraternity system has persisted.

Hazing and over-emphasis on alcohol were two of the primary reasons that students turned from fraternities in the late 60's.

But men missed the opportunity for brotherhood. So in recent years men have looked again at fraternities. And what they are looking for is closely akin to the ideals on which fraternities were founded.

These men, seeking brotherhood, have outspoken attitudes. That being drunk is not the measure of a man. That being a brother means by definition that you do not demean or endanger yourself or your fellows. These voices would not be quiet when abuses occurred. Especially when those abuses resulted in death.

America's fraternities and sororities have taken a unified stand. And they're adding teeth to their positions against demeaning activities.

Example: Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Nu each have suspended five chapters and Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi have suspended two.

Example: Sigma Phi Epsilon just closed a 70-man chapter, ranked number one on campus and about to celebrate its 75th anniversary. Other fraternities have taken similar action.

Universities and Interfraternity Councils (IFC) are taking strong steps. The Cornell IFC, representing the nation's second largest system (45 fraternities) last year endorsed a code banning paddling, abandonment, excessive exercise, serving "repulsive" food, exposure to extreme temperatures and compromising personal dignity.

Pledge programs according to the Cornell code "should be meaningful, constructive and in no way detrimental to the academic pursuits of the individual."

During the debate on the Cornell code, one person remarked, "When you pledge, you might do things you wouldn't do at other times. Some of these things are a good laugh."

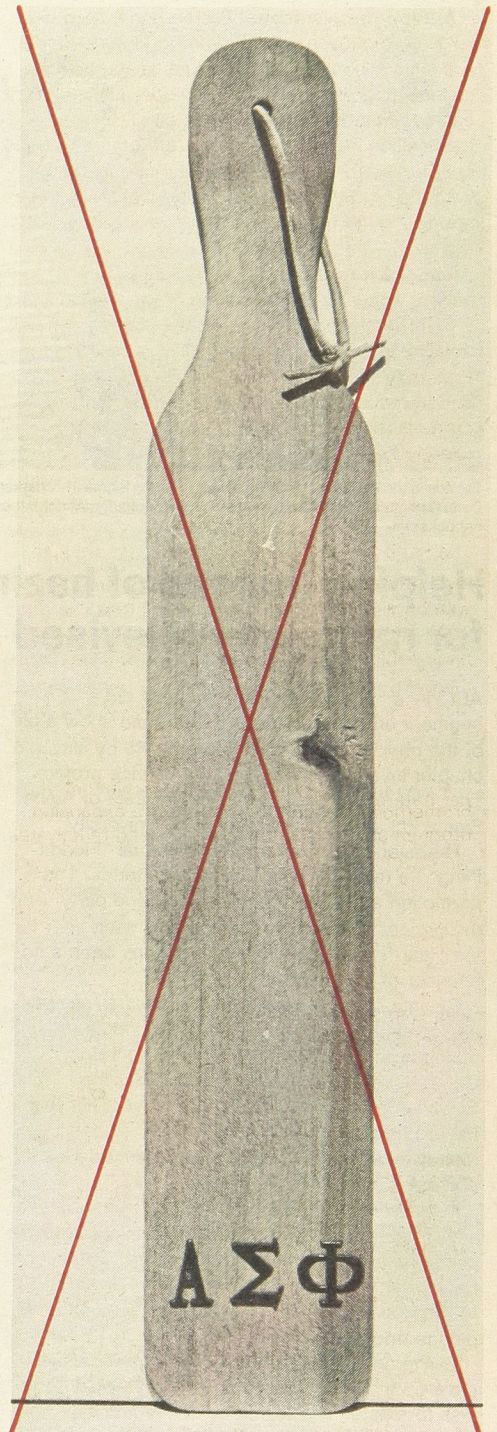

"A good laugh for whom?" responded the IFC administrator. "Are we as a system—and you as a chapter—willing to accept the consequences of an unplanned, unforeseen accident? No chapter plans to kill or injure someone. But the reactions of a badly frightened teenager are unpredictable."

Alpha Sigma Phi has been fortunate in not having had any major hazing incidents. But the Fraternity has issued stern warnings and also disciplined chapters. Sadly, it is often alumni who insist on the continuation of hazing in the name of "tradition."

Undergraduates at the 1980 National Convention of Alpha Sigma Phi wanted something that went beyond a statement of being against hazing. They outlined a broad policy and directed that it be developed further.

Copies of the detailed policy have gone to all chapters and colonies. Officers are required to sign and return a statement that they have read the three-page policy to the entire membership. Officers must state that no activities counter to the policy go on within their chapter and thereby accept personal liability for infractions.

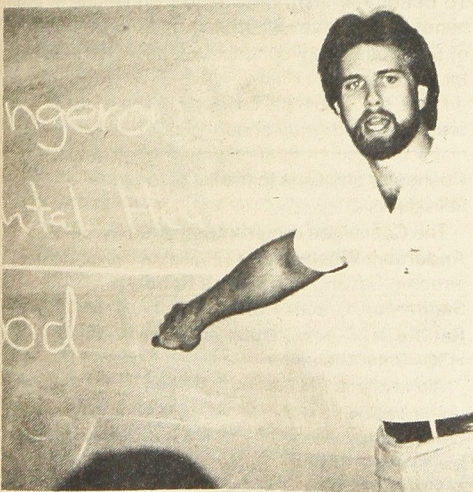

The basic policy states:

"Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity forbids its chapters and colonies to sponsor any pre-initiation activity that may be dangerous or potentially dangerous to the physical and mental health of any person, to the level of brotherhood within each of its chapters and colonies, and to the level of respect on campus and in the community of which all Alpha Sigma Phi brothers and pledges are worthy. 'Sponsorship' is defined as peer-group supported as well as a sanctioned activity."

"The emphasis of our Fraternity should be I think upon the lessons it teaches. We should build in every chapter house a shrine, an altar, if you please, at which we kneel to take an obligation, and from which we rise with a lasting loyalty to the brothers of our Fraternity. That loyalty is found not in the chapter house but in the hearts of those who call us brother."—Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet, Alpha '12, then Grand Senior President of Alpha Sigma Phi, addressing the Alpha Kappa Pi convention, September 6, 1946 following vote to consolidate the two fraternities.

Helping instead of hazing sets the tone for nationally-televised Gamma Zeta chapter

ABC-TV's "20/20" program recently did a segment on fraternity hazing. But it did show a bit of the positive aspects of fraternity life by filming a chapter involved in a community service project. That fraternity chapter was Gamma Zeta of Alpha Sigma Phi at Bowling Green State University.

The event was Gamma Zeta's annual "Florida Fling"—a raffle for a trip for two to Florida. The promotion ends with a big campus-wide party. And the project raises more than $2000 each year for the Heart Fund. Alpha Phi sorority has been a co-sponsor of the event.

Gamma Zeta has a tradition of service to campus and community. Each year it holds a dribble marathon in relays over the 26 miles to the University of Toledo to drum up spirit for the Bowling Green-Toledo basketball game. This year the brothers arranged for sponsors to pledge money for each mile. The money benefited a local child stricken with leukemia.

In between big events, the chapter sponsors smaller charity benefits. Recently Gamma Zeta put paint brushes to Bowling Green's park equipment. Each year the Alpha Sigs sponsor an award given to the Bowling Green fraternity with the best pledge education program.

Giving until it hurts? The Alpha Sigs recently gave up a day's meals so the money could go to less fortunate. The men raise funds and also help keep the community and campus cleaner by collecting aluminum cans.

Any Bowling Green Alpha Sig will tell you of other traditions. Like its annual Sig Bust and Alumni Day, held at a nearby campground. Or the annual mock wedding held to break up "dreary" winter quarter. The "reception" following the "wedding" becomes a highlight of the social season.

A strong intramural basketball team gets spirited support by Gamma Zeta. Fun with a serious purpose is the steak-and-beans scholarship banquet, generally with a guest faculty speaker. And that's not an annual event—it's quarterly!

A new flagpole and sign recently went up at Gamma Zeta. An outward sign of the outstanding program inside. "We are proud of our programs and take great pride in what we do and the people we help," says Mark Burton, HSP. □

Hazing policy detailed

Forty-three activities are detailed as being dangerous or potentially dangerous to the physical or mental health of individuals or to the level of brotherhood within a chapter. But the policy is quick to point out that prohibited activities are not limited to those 43 items.

Included in the list is any kind of physical exercise, swats of any kind, forced transporting or kidnapping of individuals, use of alcohol, lengthy work sessions or depriving individuals of sleep. Also calling pledges names, deception prior to the ritual designed to convince the pledge that he will not be initiated ("national finals"), house duties not shared by initiated brothers and abusive and pressurized questioning of any kind.

The professional staff of the Fraternity is available to work with any chapter that wishes to develop a positive program of pledge education and pre-initiation activities.

And the Grand Council has warned that by direction of the undergraduates at Convention, revocation of charters may be expected if a chapter breaks its agreement.

It is the responsibility of any member or pledge to report any abuses. Identities will be protected.

In addition, a special committee on pre-initiation activities has been formed at the direction of the 1980 National Convention. This committee will provide chapters, at their request, with interpretations of the policy concerning activities the chapter may wish to sponsor. The committee will also make recommendations to the Grand

Anniversary Club: it's exclusive but you can join today!

Are you an Anniversary Club member?

You can be by sending a contribution of $136 or more to the 1981-82 Loyalty Fund of Alpha Sigma Phi, 24 West William Street, Delaware, Ohio 43015.

Anniversary Club membership goes to those who contribute at least a dollar a year for each anniversary of the Fraternity. With the 81-82 campaign just getting underway, a remarkable number of loyal Alpha Sigs have already claimed the distinction of Anniversary Club membership.

The records are all in from last year's campaign. Here are the top chapters determined by their support of the Fraternity:

- |             |               |
|-------------|---------------|
| 1. Eta      | Illinois      |
| 2. Nu       | Berkeley      |
| 3. Pi       | Colorado      |
| 4. Tau      | Stanford      |
| 5. Alpha Xi | Illinois Tech |
| 6. Upsilon  | Penn State    |
| 7. Theta    | Michigan      |
| 8. Alpha Pi | Purdue        |
| 9. Epsilon  | Ohio Wesleyan |
| 10. Zeta    | Ohio State.   |

Edging up closer and seeking spots on the top 10 list were Oklahoma, Iowa State, Washington, Oregon State and Pennsylvania. Your contribution can help keep or put your chapter into this elite list.

Where do the loyal Sigs live? By state: California, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Florida top this list. Followed by New Jersey, Michigan, New York, Texas and Indiana.

Brothers initiated in 1918 led the list of givers by year in the past campaign. Followed by those initiated in the years 1931, 1922, 1951 and 1961.

Your contribution is vital to Alpha Sigma Phi. Undergraduate fees alone cannot make it possible for the Fraternity to expand, to develop new programs that teach the ideals of the "Old Gal." Every bit helps. A $10 contribution puts a copy To Better The Man, the member's manual, in the hands of a pledge. $100 can underwrite the cost of a professionally-conducted leadership seminar for a chapter.

Make the 1981-82 Loyalty Fund a record breaker—send your check today. □

Council for additions to the list of forbidden activities.

The Committee is currently chaired by Gary Anderson, Westminster '71, former executive director. Serving with him are Robert A. Sandercox, Grand Councilor, Bethany '51; Robert Ratliffe, HSP, Mu Chapter and Floyd Adagio, HSC, Beta Xi chapter.

Alpha Sigma Phi has indeed been fortunate. But undergraduates have spoken. Let's take no chance, they say. Let us speak out clearly and plainly and in detail.

It's a new, clear, strong voice.

But it echoes of the past. It echoes of the ideals set forth December 6, 1845. □

CAREERS: an internship can point the way

By Eric Jacobson

You're a senior. You've overcome the obstacles encountered as a freshman and sophomore. But wait! One major roadblock remains—finding a job. Looking for a job is tough. But starting early can make it a whole lot easier.

One way to jump the gun is to find a summer internship during your junior year at a company or business related to your major.

Internships often develop into full-time jobs when students finally graduate. And more importantly, if you find an internship, you'll learn the tactics on finding a full-time job.

John Chovan, Ohio State '77, has recently completed his summer internship. He worked at the Broadcast Products Division of Harris Corporation in Quincy, Illinois.

Although John actually holds alumni status at Ohio's Zeta Chapter, having completed one degree, he is for all practical purposes a "junior"—only one year removed from finishing his second degree at Ohio State.

"I've learned a lot about electronics, the politics of the business world, and a lot about myself," said Chovan.

Chovan spent most of his summer conducting tests on small electronic components used in audio broadcast equipment. (Harris Corp. is a major manufacturer of broadcasting equipment for radio and TV stations worldwide.)

Chovan had one supervisor and was treated like a full-time employee. Therefore, he experienced all aspects of the "real world," as he called it.

"The advantage of having an internship in my field as compared to just any summer job, is it helped me decide if this work is really what I want to do the rest of my life," he explained.

Chovan is now back at OSU. And he has some good job hunting advice to share. He recommends early stops to the school's placement office, and frequent visits with students advisors. Chovan found his job at Harris Corp. through his advisor. "Also," said Chovan, "make good use of contacts—friends, neighbors and relatives who work at places where you'd like to work."

Chovan indicated he'd begin an extensive letter writing campaign, coupled with completing his resume early this fall—even though he won't be ready for a full-time job until June.

Too often students don't find jobs they really want because they miss application deadlines. The University of Michigan Career Planning and Placement Center reports, for example, that applications for jobs beginning in May and June

Two Alpha Sigs had two entirely different internship experiences this past summer. Undergraduates interested in such positions should be making efforts now. Alpha Sig alumni can help by providing intern positions in their firms. Advise Headquarters if you are interested. Alpha Sigma Phi's Career Development program, under the direction of G. Alan Sternbergh, Westminster '48, offers assistance to chapters in providing meaningful learning experiences for undergraduates.

should be completed by January. March and April is too late! If applications aren't required, first contacts with companies should also be made early.

Most colleges and universities offer job placement offices. Many of these sponsor workshops on resume writing, and most provide career counseling. Others serve as a central location for students to meet company interviewers who are on campus recruiting.

In short, whether it be browsing through company recruiting brochures at the school's placement office, writing resumes, completing a job application, or finding a junior-year summer internship, start early—long before you think you need to. Because, when it comes to job hunting, it's hands down to the old saying, "better late than never." □

By Bob Ratliffe
HSP, Mu Chapter, University of Washington

The life of a Capitol Hill intern is an incredibly interesting, yet unrealistic one. It is hard to describe what it is like to be sitting with a congressman briefing him on how President Reagan's budget proposals will affect his district; or what it is like to stand in the company of Ted Kennedy (D-MA), Howard Baker (R-TN), Patrick

Moynahan (D-NY) and Chrysler Corporation Chairman Lee Iaccoca at a Washington reception.

I served as a summer intern in the office of Congressman Joel Pritchard, a "moderate" Republican from the first district of Washington State—the Seattle area.

Each member of Congress has a Lyndon Baines Johnson Fellowship to provide summer interns. The pay is almost enough to live on in Washington for the first 20 days of a month. After that, many interns can be seen attending receptions more often, which are frequently held on Capitol Hill. I had the good fortune of being able to live with the family of my pledge brother, Carl H. Groth, in Alexandria, Va., and offer them many thanks.

I did have the opportunity to get to know Joel Pritchard fairly well. I also learned much about the workings of congress and the federal bureaucracy. All the political science classes I have taken combined, didn't teach me what I learned this past summer.

The Congressional Intern program also provides the opportunity for an open forum with members of congress and important figures in government. We had the pleasure to hear Senator Strom Thurmond (R-SC), Ted Kennedy, the extremely humorous Congressman Mo Udall (D-AR), Averel Harriman, Ralph Nader, Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger and many other members of congress who would speak on current issues. After a 30 minute speech, we were allowed to ask questions.

Many interns have much in common. On one occasion I was at (still another) reception, talking to an intern and discovered we are both presidents of our respective fraternity chapters. As we mingled about the room, we met a chapter president of another fraternity and found two sorority presidents! □

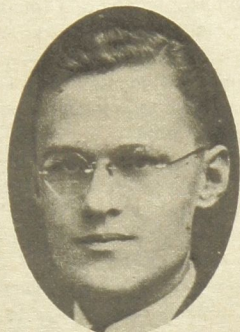

John Chovan, Ohio State, worked during the summer conducting component tests for the Harris Corporation. He found the experience in the "real world" of great value in making career decisions.

New constitution. By a mail vote, chapters and alumni councils have unanimously approved an updated constitution and by-laws. The revision clears up inconsistencies, ambiguities and redundancies that had crept in over the years. The new version—created under the direction of Grand Treasurer Stan Miller, Purdue '64, (right) is only 23 pages, replacing a 44-page document. Members wishing a copy of the new constitution may request one by writing to Fraternity Headquarters.

Salute to 1931 initiates for their 50 years of brotherhood

Then and now. H. R. Hilstrom was a leader at Phi chapter 50 years ago and his photograph appeared then in The Tomahawk. Here's Brother Hilstrom today. President of Driv-Lok, Inc., he started a firm whose products are sold throughout the U.S. and increasingly abroad. A resident of Sycamore, Illinois, he has been president of the Iowa State Alumni and a board member of the Illinois State Chamber. He is a member of Delta Beta Xi, class of 1960.

1931. It was a very good year. And during that calendar year the men listed below became brothers in Alpha Sigma Phi.

That means this outstanding group of men are celebrating their 50th year of membership. The Fraternity joins in celebrating their fifty years of fraternalism. Each man receives the Golden Anniversary Award, a special honor created by the 1958 Convention.

See familiar names on this list? Drop them a note and congratulate them. Are some names missing from our list or given incorrectly? Then let us know. We'll make corrections in future issues.

So a salute from Alpha Sigma Phi to the brothers of 1931—a very good year indeed!

Melodrama—The Alpha Section at the 1981 National Educational Conference practices its skit. Each of four groupings of undergraduate delegates created and produced a skit. These were presented following the scholarship banquet to the delight of the entire conference. It was a talented group learning and having fun. (Gregg Darah photo.)

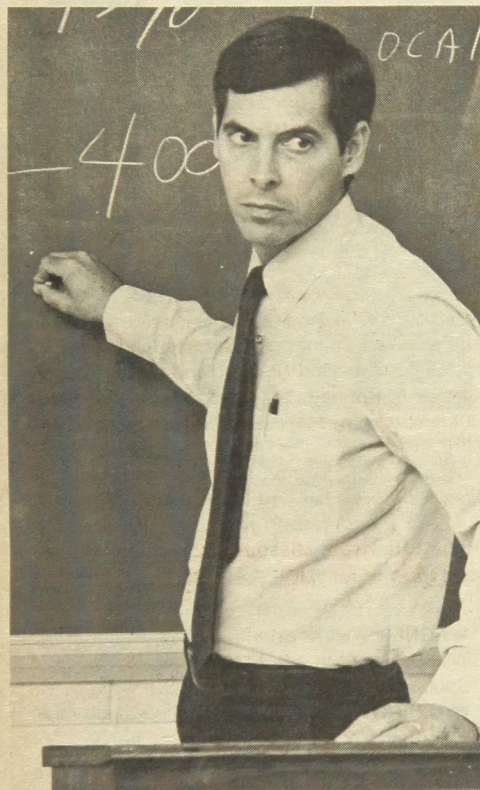

See the photo? No, neither do we. But it could be your photo. The Tomahawk welcomes news about Alpha Sigs everywhere and particularly welcomes photographs. Please send news about yourself and brothers you know—along with a photo that doesn't have to be returned—to Alpha Sigma Phi, 24 West William Street, Delaware, Ohio 43015.

Alpha Sigs in action

Reports on activities and achievements of Alpha Sigma Phi across the country

Dr. William L. Megathlin, Presbyterian '62, has quickly become a recognized authority on criminal justice education.

Megathlin heads one of just five accredited programs in the nation as chairman of the Armstrong State College (Savannah, Ga.) criminal justice department.

270 students are enrolled in the Armstrong program. Megathlin has published numerous articles in professional journals. And he is much in demand as a consultant to the Federal Government and to various state agencies across the country. It was under his direction that Armstrong State received its accreditation in criminal justice—the first school in the Southeast to be so recognized.

Salute to Sigs!

The Tomahawk joins with chapters in saluting alumni who have given chapters special support or of whom the chapters are particularly proud. Here are some current salutes received from chapters:

Cornell—Charles J. "Bushy" Fox, Iota '09, is a retired businessman. A resident of Ellicottville, N.Y., this charter member of Iota has continued his interest and support of the chapter for over 70 years.

Lehigh—Beta Epsilon salutes Robert T. Sheen, Lehigh '30, of St. Petersburg, FL for his support of the chapter. A recent sizeable contribution will be used for capital improvement on the chapter house.

Northern Michigan—Edward V. Jackson, is a hockey coach. Brother Jackson, Northern Michigan '76, reports Delta Beta, "... is present at all Fraternity functions and is a major contributor of time, effort, hard work and money. He always seems to be available when we need him."

Lycoming—Accountant David C. Hannaford, Lycoming '78, Toledo, Ohio, has achieved his goal of working for Price Waterhouse, and Gamma Rho chapter salutes him for that. Brother Hannaford, the chapter reports, stays in touch with Gamma Rho and supports the group financially as well. A dean's list student while at Lycoming, the chapter describes him as "... one outstanding Alpha Sig."

Washington—John Clearman, Mu '56, Bellevue, Washington, gets a salute from Mu for his Fraternity involvement and his professional achievements. For Touche, Ross & Co., Seattle, he oversees auditing for the entire West Coast. For Mu he is currently treasurer of the alumni board. ## Eight groups are working toward charters

A national publication recently ranked Alpha Sigma Phi as one of the nation's fastest-growing fraternities.

With eight colonies working toward charter status, the Fraternity's expansion program is in full swing. Current colonies include Phi Alpha, Francis Marion College, Florence, S.C.; Alpha Rho, New Jersey Institute of Technology, Newark; and Nu at the University of California, Berkeley.

Also Phi Beta at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio (where Alpha Sigma Phi hopes to become the campus' first nationally chartered fraternity) and Gamma Theta, University of Miami, Florida.

Three chapters are benefiting from the rebuilding plan of the expansion program: Eta, University of Illinois; Alpha Chi, Coe College and Alpha Mu, Baldwin-Wallace College.

Work is slated to begin shortly at Ohio Wesleyan University on reactivation of Epsilon chapter.

Permission has been granted to the Fraternity to form a colony there.

Early December saw Eta at the University of Illinois gain its official colonization recognition: The ceremony welcomed over 30 men. Grand Treasurer Stan Miller challenged the group to excellence in its rebuilding of Eta chapter.

Alpha Rho is scheduled for a late January, 1982 installation. And Nu is preparing its petition to the Grand Council.

Chapters can be involved (and benefit financially) by starting and working with colonies on nearby campuses. Brothers who are considering transferring or starting graduate work are asked to contact Headquarters to learn of special grants that may be available if they participate in expansion work. Alumni are needed for all aspects of expansion help. □

Happy birthday!

Those charters on the wall say that a few chapters in Alpha Sigma Phi will be celebrating special birthdays during the 1981-82 year.

Mu at the University of Washington will turn 70.

Alpha Rho, New Jersey Institute of Technology, will be hoping to regain its charter during the 60th year of that chapter's first founding. Alpha Sigma, Wagner College, can put 55 candles on its cake.

Beta Theta, Rutgers, has turned 50 and Beta

Mu, Wake Forest will be marking its golden anniversary.

Beta Rho, Toledo, will become 45 and Gamma Alpha, Ohio Northern, will be 40.

Reaching the 30 year mark is Gamma Rho, Lycoming, and Gamma Theta colony, Miami, will be working for its rechartering during the 30th year since the chapter's founding. Gamma Xi, Widener, will celebrate 20 years. And Delta Epsilon, Rio Grande, will reach its first decade.

All together, the birthday chapters have initiated a total of 6,111 men into the Mystic Circle. □
