Life in Alpha Sig Chapters Today

(The section on chapter reports in this issue allows you to "visit" with undergraduate Alpha Sigs. Before you read those reports, consider the following article about the changes you might encounter if you visited your chapter for a few days. The biggest surprise might be the comparatively few changes you'd find!)

"I think about visiting my chapter," you say. "But I'm sure things are so different I wouldn't feel at home."

Not necessarily so.

Chapter life has changed over the last five, ten, 20 or 50 years. But not as much as society has changed. The caring touch that Fraternity membership offers is still there—in fact is even more important today as campuses become larger, more impersonal.

Spend a week with an Alpha Sig chapter and here are some of the things that you might notice:

Scholarship—Yes, that's a personal computer in the chapter library. And it's probably hooked into the campus library. And yes, those are organized study groups and tutoring sessions underway.

Service—A group in one corner works on plans for helping a big charity function. Chapters undertake multiple service projects—from "adopting" elderly neighbors to planning and executing massive events that raise thousands for good causes.

Career development—You'll probably be asked to talk to the chapter about your profession. A lively discussion about career planning follows, utilizing materials supplied by Fraternity Headquarters. (Alpha Sigma Phi even has a program that starts its sophomores on the right track toward life planning.)

Leadership training—You'll probably see officers studying chapter manuals. Undergrad Alpha Sigs see the chapter as an important place to develop organizational and management skills—training often available no where else. You'll see a lot of committees undertaking chapter business.

Traditions—You'll be asked about chapter traditions. Chapters are rediscovering their past and enjoying the search. You may hear careful planning for ritual work. Or a Black Lantern processional. Chapters are proud of Alpha Sigma Phi's rich heritage.

Pledge education—Yes, word is education, not training. Alpha Sigma Phi's program to prepare new members to be capable brothers puts emphasis on a lot of worthwhile learning. And does it with dignity.

Headquarters—You note a memo on the board about the upcoming visit of the Chapter Leadership Consultant. You see stacks of "The Old Gal Gazette." You hear members suggest calling Headquarters for guidance and suggestions.

Social—You attend a rush function and discover that it's "dry"—no alcohol. And you hear discussions about responsible social behavior.

Alumni Features—busy, involved, shaping today's world. Visit in depth with these brothers on Pages 12 and 14.

Special Recognition—a group of special brothers have made possible a reprinting of the Fraternity's Ritual. Page 16.

Fraternity quiz: The colors of Alpha Sigma Phi are Cardinal and Stone. When were they chosen? According to the Musgrave histories, Delta chapter adopted Cardinal and Stone on December 22, 1875. (Thanks to Grand Historian Robert W. Kutz, California '67, for the suggestion.)

If yours was the era of housemothers, you'll probably look in vain for that fixture. A few chapters still have them. Growing chapters are adding "house fathers" or resident advisors. And all seek the active participation of chapter advisors and alumni. (You may be surprised at how excited the chapter is about your visit.)

You'll see and hear a lot more you remember:

The high energy of the intramural team returning victoriously—or almost victoriously. The intensity of late night conversations about dreams and aspirations. The easy camaraderies of laughter and joking. The sharing and caring statement—"Hey, can I help?"—whether it be with a project, a personal problem or an upcoming quiz.

Alpha Sigma Phi is playing a big role in the lives of a lot of outstanding young men across America. You should see it in action. You'll see a lot that you remember. You'll like a lot that's new. You'll enjoy it. And you'll come away proud. □

Here's your chance to "visit" with the undergraduate chapters of Alpha Sigma Phi—through their review of recent activities and achievements.

Chapters welcome your visit in person. Check the directory in this issue for chapters near you. Give them a call and attend a meeting.

Province Presidents will be changing shortly. The current ones are listed here with thanks for their efforts. You can assist as a volunteer in the Fraternity's Province Program. Write Alpha Sigma Phi, 24 West William St., Delaware, Ohio 43015 for more information.

Province I

Grand Province Chief: James Hammond, Washington '66, 805 Lenora Street, Seattle, WA 98121. Province President: Roland Spickermann, California '82, Alpha Sigma Phi, 2498 Piedmont, Berkeley, CA 94704.

Mu University of Washington

Service was the word at Mu. This year the brothers helped bring cheer and raise funds for six different organizations. The chapter presented its annual campus-wide Gong Show during Greek Week to record attendance. Acts were judged by local sports celebrities. Brother Mark Arend was elected president of the Interfraternity Council and several newer members of the chapter provided

Sigs to the Rescue

It was a late spring evening on the campus of Missouri Valley College. Almost midnight.

Suddenly a fire broke out in the Tau Kappa Epsilon house and a student living there (who happened not to be a TKE member), was seen running down the hall engulfed in flames.

James Anderson, a TKE member, got the student out of the hall and into the parking lot. Joe McNerney, Alpha Sigma Phi, tackled him and smothered the flames with a blanket.

Members of Alpha Sigma Phi quickly came to the aid of TKE members, bringing fire extinguishers to prevent the fire from spreading. Their actions were credited with keeping damage to the hall and possessions relatively low.

McNerney and Anderson were credited with saving the life of the student. Joe McNerney has been presented a special award from the College and has been nominated for an award from the City of Marshall.

Bruce Storey, Dean of Students, wrote recently: "The actions of members of Alpha Sigma Phi were very commendable. Joe's actions in helping save the life of a student are expressing the ideals of Alpha Sigma Phi in the highest way possible—risking your life to save another. You can be very proud of all the members of Alpha Sigma Phi on the Missouri Valley campus." □ leadership to the Junior IFC. The chapter sends special thanks to its Mother's Club for special support.

Psi Oregon State University

"There is no task too great for determined men." The men of Psi learned that this year. They returned to classes from winter break to broken water pipes and $20,000 in damages. As all good Alpha Sigs, they pulled together and the house looks even better than before. This spring, Psi hosted its annual Easter Egg Hunt for area pre-schoolers. And it's 11th annual Street Dance brought out the campus to raise money for Community Service Organizations.

Alpha Zeta Colony ULCA

The Phoenix Club is now Alpha Zeta Colony—and the difficult but worthwhile road toward a charter is being followed. The colony is working hard with a lot of rush functions. It's providing man hours to a medical testing organization. And it is undertaking an active search for housing. The group would welcome hearing from brothers—see directory.

Province II

Grand Province Chief: Kent Porter, Missouri Valley '74, P.O. Box 136, Kearney, MO 64060. Province President: Bill Faoro, Iowa State '82, Alpha Sigma Phi, 2717 West Street, Ames, IA 50010.

Phi Iowa State University

The men of Phi set new goals for the chapter and have been hard at work reaching them. A new pledge program has been established with special emphasis on academics. A Black Lantern procession was held and promises to be an exciting new tradition at Phi. Together with Alpha Chi Omega sorority, the chapter held a teeter-totter marathon which raised $1,600 for the Wilson-Bearshear School for the handicapped. The chapter will be offering four new $100 scholarships this coming year.

Alpha Alpha University of Oklahoma

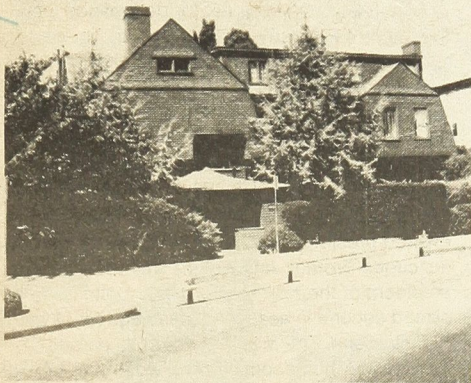

Improvements in the pledge education program and increased intramural activities were the major goals for the year. Alpha Alpha took a top slot in the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash. The Bayou Bounce—the chapter's traditional party—was an outstanding success, especially since many alumni brothers were in attendance.

Alpha Omicron Missouri Valley College

It was a busy year—after all 21 new members came into the chapter! Together, old members and new, the chapter held its annual pig roast and hayride and also presented its big haunted house event.

Alpha Theta University of Missouri

Pizza for Jerry's Kids. Together with the ladies of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, the men of Alpha Theta organized a pizza eating contest and street dance for M.S. A lot of work went on around the house, including conversion of the attic into space for 14 men. And just in time—there were 19 new pledges.

Province III

Eta University of Illinois

Special milestones. The Brotherhood of Eta celebrated its 75th anniversary this year. And spent the year preparing to welcome Alpha Sigma Phi to Convention '84. And took a basketball championship that had the campus talking. In a local mall the men of Eta surrounded the women's gymnastic team with cases of Coca-Cola. Shoppers were urged to buy the team's freedom—with proceeds going to local charities.

Alpha Xi Illinois Institute of Technology

This year's big Black and White dinner and dance featured a special slide show. Perhaps the chapter was inspired to think visually after providing volunteer time to the local PBS station. Outstanding were the annual alumni smoker reception and the scholarship banquet highlighting those with a B-plus or better average. The chapter sends a salute to George, the new cook, for an outstanding job.

Alpha Pi Purdue University

Brothers of Alpha Pi have been visiting National Headquarters. The group is going through the archives there in order to develop a better understanding of the chapter's history. The year saw a second place in overall intramural sports competition . . . outstanding participation in the Anchor Splash charity swim competition . . . and the fun of Black and White.

Gamma Chi Indiana University

Homecomings are always fun. This year's was very special. After seven years, there was a mortgage burning ceremony. Feeding the bonfire were a team of a pledge, an undergraduate brother and an alumnus. Brother Mike Goonwardene was runner-up for Homecoming King. Bob Daniels showed his talent by taking first place in the city-wide window painting competition. The chapter continued its traditional Halloween party for the Stonebelt Rehabilitation Center. The Red Cross recognized Gamma Chi as Chapter of the Year for Service. Gamma Chi teamed with Alpha Gamma Delta in this year's Little 500. Dr. William Panschar, Chapter advisor, was named outstanding professor of the year.

Delta Alpha Loyola University

"Dedication, maturity, professionalism." Those were the words used by a school official to describe Delta Alpha's undergraduates, praising them for their assistance during a fund-raising effort that grossed $11,000 for the university.

Province IV

Grand Province Chief: Gordon Beeman, Indiana '68, 2130 Agincourt, Ann Arbor, MI 48104. Province President: Paul Staniszewski, Toledo '81, Alpha Sigma Phi, 1815 West Bancroft, Toledo, Ohio 43606.

Theta University of Michigan

Things are growing at Theta. A well-organized rush brought the chapter its largest pledge class since 1970. Theta sends special thanks to its alumni brothers who have been making possible improvements in the chapter house, including new furniture and carpets.

Beta Omicron Tri-State University

Beta Omicron men are proud intramural football champs. They salute team members Jack Robertson, Curt Glover and Scott Douglas. Three alumni brothers—Jim Braun, Chuck Boreman and John Letky—returned to the "Old Gal" to help organize a general clean-up project for the chapter. The chapter's beach party even featured an outdoor hot tub. And Mike Pedue gets special thanks for Spring Frolic.

Beta Rho University of Toledo

Greg Fretti has completed his term as president of the university's student government. Now he has another top job—as president of Beta Rho. The chapter co-ordinated five bands in concert for the campus Spring Week. And once again Toledo brothers captured the campus all sports trophy.

Gamma Psi Lawrence Institute of Technology

It was a year to celebrate. Gamma Psi marked its 50th anniversary with campus-wide recognition. And it took the largest pledge class to date: 19 men. Prospective members were treated to lunches with undergraduates and alumni brothers. The chapter is proud of Paul Fitzpatrick '69 and Brian Judge '67 for their Delta Beta Xi recognition.

Delta Beta Northern Michigan University

We can all be proud of Delta Beta—it placed second in the campus-wide Wunterfest . . . missing first place by only three points! Black and White was an outstanding success with more alumni in attendance than ever before—let's hope the trend continues. The chapter provided help to the university at all athletic events—serving as ushers, ticket sellers and with the cleanup afterwards.

Province V

Grand Province Chief: Chuck Vohs, Penn State '75, 1390 Cardwell Square S., Columbus, OH 43229. Province President: Mike Sierra, Ohio Northern '82, Alpha Sigma Phi, Fraternity Circle, Ohio Northern University, Ada, OH 45810.

Zeta Ohio State University

"New and improved"—that's the way Zeta describes itself. New energy. Improved scholarship. More athletic involvement. And a well-balanced social calendar. Zeta proudly took home its intramural championship. This summer undergraduates and alumni brothers are working together on rush activities.

Alpha Mu Baldwin-Wallace College

Exciting progress at Alpha Mu. David Carney and Scott Wood were elected Interfraternity Council president and vice president. The chapter ranked second in scholarship for all Greeks. When the mayor of Berea asked for help in a clean-up campaign, the Alpha Sigs quickly volunteered. Two initiations were held during the year with the help of Gamma Zeta brothers—thanks. The college donated a new and larger chapter room—now freshly painted in cardinal and stone.

Gamma Alpha Ohio Northern University

Gamma Alpha proudly hosted the Province V Conclave which was highlighted by the presentation of the Delta Beta Xi award to Chuck Vohs, Penn State '75, Grand Province Chief. Over 200 parents and brothers celebrated homecoming with a hog. The hog was delicious. The chapter helped raise $8,000 in a basketball tournament and volunteered to the University to help with snow removal. Brothers raised $5,000 by helping with the University phonathon. Helping with the Interfraternal Carnival and hosting the Sig Olympics rounded out the year and set the pace for this summer's work on the chapter house and a big rush effort.

Gamma Zeta Bowling Green State University

The largest pledge class in three years. A successful non-alcoholic rush. A large alumni turnout at homecoming, where Gamma Zeta placed first in the float competition, second in the Phi Kappa Psi bathtub race and had lots of fun in the frisbee golf tourney and the bed race. This spring, Gamma Zeta captured the all-sports championship. Florida Fling was as always the event of the season, raising thousands for the Heart Fund. Congratulations to the pledges for winning the Interfraternity award for high scholarship.

The first four presidents of Nu Chapter, California, since reactivation in 1982. They are Steve Allison, who served as President of the Phoenix Club, Cary Petzel, President of Nu Colony, Roland Spickerman, First HSP, and Rodger Horwitz, second HSP.

Phi Beta Colony Otterbein College

This fall will see a new home for the colony—a great location right across from the library. Appropriate location when you learn that recent graduates were honored with two summa cum laude, one magna cum laude and one cum laude citations. The colony has held the scholarship trophy for eight semesters now—with an overall average of 3.79. The men recently hosted a dinner for Columbus, Ohio area alumni.

Province VI

Grand Province Chief: Dr. Larry Spees, Ohio Wesleyan '57, 1040 First Avenue, Gallipolis, OH 45631. Province President: Jim Joye, Westminster '81, Alpha Sigma Phi, 129 Waugh Ave., New Wilmington, PA 16142.

Delta Marietta College

Delta hosted the Province VI Conclave. Work has been underway to get alumni reinvolved with the chapter. A euchre tourney was a big success. Two fund-raising projects including collection of aluminum cans for recycling and an event guaranteed to make the chapter stronger—a Bench Press-a-thon.

Alpha Nu Westminster College

Together with the ladies of Kappa Delta sorority, the brothers of Alpha Nu sponsored a spooky haunted house as a fund-raiser for a nearby youth center. During homecoming, the Sigs were out selling apple cider during the football game. Spring activities included a casino night, Spring Formal and a benefit for Cystic Fibrosis. Brother Robert M. Sheehan Jr., '76, Executive Director of the Fraternity, was married on May 19.

Beta Gamma Bethany College

The big news: Beta Gamma keeps the Woolery Cup for highest academic average of any men's housing unit. This is the second year the chapter has claimed the cup. Brother Jay Smith '68 was awarded the Delta Beta Xi key for this service to the Fraternity. Major improvements are in the planning stages for the chapter's historically important house. Alumni brothers are invited to take part.

Beta Delta Marshall University

An excellent year for Beta Delta. The largest pledge class in its history joined the chapter. Service projects included the Dime Roll for the March of Dimes; benefits for Muscular Dystrophy and raising money for the Ronald McDonald House. The chapter's intramural teams captured seven of eight championships. (Watch out for a clean sweep next year!) Alumni were well represented at both homecoming and Black and White.

Gamma Delta Davis and Elkins

Touchdown! With a 6-4 record, Gamma Delta captured its first winning football season in many years. More practice and unified effort all paid off. Season stars included Tom McNulty, Steve Meizell and Dave Brown. Fall brought a special get together with the brothers of Delta Delta, Slippery Rock University. Inside and out, Gamma Delta is going through a major face lift, including a new fireplace pit, pool table and refreshment area. During the winter the brothers donated their time to keep the campus clear of snow. In April, they washed and waxed local ambulances. Gamma Delta won the Interfraternity Softball Tourney. Jim Steen was recently elected president of the Student Assembly. A number of Alpha Sigs are working to restart the campus radio station. Now the second largest chapter on campus, Gamma Delta is working this summer to make that #1.

Gamma Mu University of Charleston

A project designed to provide free time on kidney dialysis machines with a local hospital was such a success that the hospital was overwhelmed. Special note to all Gamma Mu alumni: Mark your calendars for a reunion on September 28, 1984. For information contact Jim Buckalew, University of Charleston, Charleston, WV 25304.

Gamma Phi Concord College

The brothers of Gamma Phi are proud that a well-organized rush resulted in their doubling the size of the chapter. Gamma Phi took a first place in intramural football and third in water polo. Campus service projects included raking leaves in the fall and helping with snow removal during the winter.

Delta Delta Slippery Rock University

It was a very successful year. During the fall campus phonathon, the Alpha Sigs raised $3,500 for the university. Brother Al Calabrese was elected president of the Interfraternity Council. He succeeds Brother Jeff Wright who is now president of the Northeastern IFC. Delta Delta placed second in academic standings for all men's organizations. The brothers acted as parade marshals for homecoming. And worked to provide free time for patients needing kidney dialysis.

Delta Epsilon Rio Grande College

A young Philippine lad, Wilfred Real, is happy to be "adopted" by the men of Delta Epsilon as part of Project Care. The chapter carried out a lot of service projects. A Christmas party for the Rio Grande School for the Blind. The Cancer Society gained a lot of bucks, thanks to the brothers putting in a lot of hours bagging food at a local grocery. The campus tips its hat to Delta Epsilon for parking cars at concerts and helping score all track meets. Craig Colopy is vice president of the IFC and Kevin Smith has been chosen as a Rio Grande cheerleader.

Province VII

Grand Province Chief: Vacant. Your help is needed. Province President: Ian Karr, Tulane '82, 2206 Calhoun St., New Orleans, LA 70118.

Alpha Psi Presbyterian College

This past year found Alpha Psi hosting parties for the benefit of a local orphanage, fixing up the chapter house and raising money for the March of Dimes. During the spring there was Black and White and the traditional Alpha Psi Hawaiian Holiday.

Gamma Alpha, Ohio Northern University, brothers with their winning pushmobile cart and team.

Beta Psi, Rensselaer, Polytechnic Institute, Greek Goddess contestant Florence Huban.

Beta Zeta North Carolina State University

The chapter hosted the Province VII Conclave. A salute to the members from Tulane who drove 18 hours to be there! As part of a scholarship program, guest lecturers are presented. One was given by an economics professor on how to present Alpha Sigma Phi to prospective members. Beta Zeta took fourth place scholastically among 21 fraternities. Talisman Ball in April right after initiation was a highlight of the year.

Beta Mu Wake Forest University

Thanks to the efforts of the brotherhood, the chapter maintained its first place ranking scholastically. Thirty new brothers joined the chapter this year—the biggest class on campus. Talisman Ball at the Holidome was great—we'd like to have more alumni attend next year. Greek Week brought a fourth place finish while our softball teams made it into the playoffs. The volleyball team captured its division title. The Brian Piccolo Cancer Fund Keg Roll raised over $700 this year. Beta Mu raised funds for UNICEF and the March of Dimes and contributed time to a local nursing home and a children's home.

Gamma Theta University of Miami

The chapter dominated homecoming competition with two finalists in the Miss University of Miami contest; first place in the blood drive; second in float and second in over-all standings. Gamma Theta took second place in over-all grade point standings. Work is underway on an alumni association. Carpeting and paint were additions for the suite.

Gamma Lambda Atlantic Christian College

It's always special when a chapter can burn its mortgage. And that was the special feature of this year's Spring Banquet when alumni return. (Great to have you back!)

Gamma Omicron Tulane University

Fat Tuesday was even fatter this year as Gamma Omicron celebrated a 20th anniversary. The formal was held in April at Ft. Walton Beach. Brothers shook cans all over town for contributions for the Leukemia Fund—raising an average of $50 per member.

Delta Zeta University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Growth is the word at Delta Zeta as it took its largest pledge class in its history. The chapter hosted the annual campus-wide casino night, operated its first house and found it has a talent for profitable car washes.

Delta Eta East Carolina University

Twelve pledges; a renovated chapter room; winning the all-campus scholastic award and first place in the annual Lambda Chi Alpha Field Day made fall special. Later came the annual Black and White formal. And a fund-raising booth for the American Lung Association. Delta Eta is stressing responsible use of alcohol and requiring proper I.D. at all functions.

Delta Theta Radford University

The brothers, friends and even advisor Dr. Robert Gill were out in force for this year's Dime Roll. The March of Dimes gained over $3,000. Extensive media coverage with live interviews was particularly exciting. Brother Scott Fisher has been named IFC president. A new house across from the tennis courts will be home to the chapter this fall. Stop by for lunch and a set on the courts.

Delta Iota Longwood College

Brothers volunteered to provide officials and communications for the Special Olympics this year. Chapter members are very involved in campus leadership and will be seeking greater involvement this coming year. Noteworthy events: the annual spring Pig Roast and Founders' Day.

Delta Kappa Francis Marion College

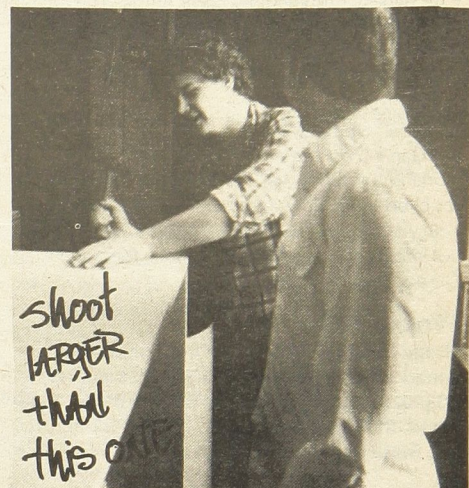

A new chapter house is the big news this year. More alumni attended chapter functions and we appreciate the support. Service projects included a blood drive and a fund-raising dance. Intramurals got more attention and we came in with a second place in the overall standings.

Province VIII

Province Chief: Robert Cabello, Eastern Michigan '70, Office of Student Services, Stockton State College, Pomona, NJ 08240.
Province President: Jonathan Chaet, America '82, Alpha Sigma Phi, Box 77, Eagle Station, Washington, DC 20016.

Alpha Rho New Jersey Institute of Technology

A great deal of our time this year has been spent providing service to our community. The brothers were involved with the campaign to Clean Up Newark; the Red Cross Blood Drive and our largest project—the Leukemia Bowlathon which raised $1,700. Brother Mike Friedman served as IFC president and Brother Maura Dal Pan is president of the Society of College Journalists and general manager of WJTB radio. Much has been planned for the future in an effort to involve our alumni. We'd like to see you!

Beta Epsilon Lehigh University

"Is there an Alpha Sig in the house?" If someone was stricken by a heart attack, a Beta Epsilon brother could help. The chapter sponsored a program in which the brothers were certified in CPR—cardio-pulmonary resuscitation. Beta Epsilon and members of Lehigh's Chi Phi fraternity gained a great deal of recognition this year for their effort to clean up and beautify a local parkway. A true example of interfraternal spirit. Speaking of interfraternal, five of the brothers are on IFC committees and Beta Epsilon placed first in Greek Week competition. The top "winners" in the chapter are nine brothers inducted into honorary societies for high academic achievement.

Beta Theta Rutgers University

There's a new roof on the chapter house thanks to the support of alumni brothers. The chapter held a successful rush that de-emphasized alcohol. A road trip to the Meadowlands for a cookout and football game was fun. A special party raised money for UNICEF. Brother Michael Maurer is in England studying.

Beta Chi American University

Better program structure and community service have been the main activities at Beta Chi. Brothers have begun climbing the chairs to the top of many campus organizations. The fine tradition of Beta Chi scholarship continues with three brothers inducted into honor societies and another three achieving perfect grades.

Gamma Xi Widener University

Facelift. Major renovations to the chapter house have included new walls, ceilings, basement paint and added closet space. The newest members did their part by building new cellar steps. The chapter held a Christmas tree sale (and giveaway to those who couldn't afford trees). And the brothers entertained at a local children's hospital.

Phi Gamma Colony Stockton State College

Phi Gamma became a colony in 1983 and we are working extremely hard to meet the requirements for chartering. Both intramural football and volleyball teams made it to the finals. The colony volunteered to assist the college in the annual Career Day program.

Province IX

Grand Province Chief: Dr. Otto Sonder Jr., American '47, 52 West Street, Oneonta, NY 13820. Province President: Steve Amend, Penn State '82, Alpha Sigma Phi, 328 E. Fairmount St., State College, PA 16801.

Iota Cornell University

1984 was a very special year as we shared in celebrating our 75th anniversary. The event was even more special because of the attendance of the sole surviving founder—Brother Charles "Bushy" Fox '09. The icing on the cake was provided by achievements in academics and intramurals. Twelve brothers were inducted into academic honorary societies. Four produced straight "A" semesters. The chapter captured first place in skiing and a fourth in soccer. Iota volunteered to paint the interior of a home for the elderly and later helped renovate the local community theater.

Upsilon Penn State University

Upsilon undergraduate Steve Amend was crowned King at homecoming—the first for the university. Nominees were named by a select committee and then voted on by the entire student body. Steve was picked for appearance, knowledge of current events, personality, scholarship and involvement in campus activities.

Perhaps recent articles about Alpha Sig families inspired him. The Tomahawk hopes so. Dave Lewis, Marshall '80, proudly shows off a new legacy—son Donnie. Donnie wears Alpha Sig letters on the front and his own special number—1/2—on his back. Is there interest in making available special kiddie size Alpha Sig shirts? Let us know. The photos were shared by J. Michael Marriner, California. They were taken at the Cal-UCLA game.

Teamed with Phi Mu sorority, the chapter sang to top honors in Greek Sing with selections from "Godspell." The chapter hosted a party for neighborhood children. And to the house added a new fire escape, new hall carpeting and new tables and chairs in the dining room. The chapter sends special thanks to the Alumni Association for its financial support.

Beta Xi Hartwick College

Alumni involvement in our activities was a major goal. Events planned for alumni included the annual Sig Bust, All Greek Weekend, Christmas Party and Homecoming. Service projects included helping the college with the annual phonathon and support of the campus blood drive. Our brothers are more involved in campus leadership, including Drew Tingley, Student Union vice president; Bob Ciccarone and George Voynick, student senate; plus three varsity swimmers, one varsity track and one varsity baseball player.

Beta Psi Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

A special work week resulted in repairs to wiring, furnace room walls, a new dining room floor and storm windows. The chapter worked throughout the year for the Easter Seal Society. The chapter has been tracking down "lost" alumni brothers. The annual spring alumni banquet brought back 75 brothers and wives.

Gamma Rho Lycoming College

First place in football, a pirate party, an alumni reception and assisting in the Avis-Woolrick 10 kilometer run kept things busy in fall and winter. In the spring the brothers provided help to the Cancer Society and distributed CARE packages for the United Campus Ministry.

Douglas E. Herman '69, St. Louis, MO, is now an assistant professor of history at Missouri Baptist College, St. Louis.

Jeffrey B. Wright, Alpha Sigma Phi, Slippery Rock University, is the new president of the Northeast Interfraternity Conference, an association of campus IFC's from the Northeastern U.S. and Eastern Canada.

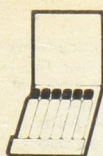

Elected vice president of the group at its Philadelphia convention was Jerry Falco, Alpha Sigma Phi, Westminster College. Pete Gray, Sigma Phi Epsilon, University of Maine, was named secretary.

The Conference honored another Alpha Sig, Larry Philippi, Bowling Green '76, by naming its outstanding service award in Philippi's honor. An assistant dean at Lehigh University, Philippi was the first recipient of the award, recognizing his years of service to the interfraternal movement.

Wright is a member of the student government senate at Slippery Rock. He is a marketing manager.

Alpha Sigs have been taking part in other regional interfraternity conferences in the West, Midwest and Southeast. The groups work to promote and improve the fraternity movement.

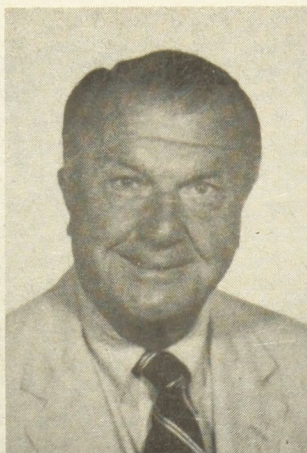

As a charter member of the National Interfraternity Conference, Alpha Sigma Phi has a long tradition of interfraternal leadership. The Fraternity encourages its chapters to play an active, supportive role in interfraternal cooperation on each campus. Alpha Sigs have headed all major national conferences at various points over the years.

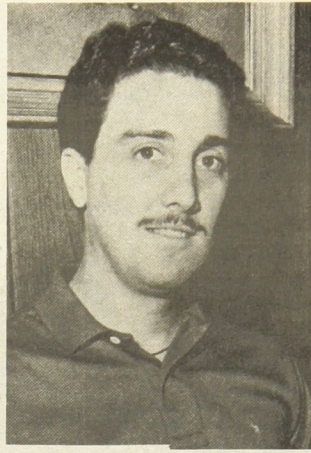

Fire safety: Special publications on fire prevention have been provided to chapters on a regular basis by Headquarters. Chapters that want to do a fire safety check and inventory should contact Headquarters for guides and materials. Chapters should rehearse emergency procedures for fire and other situations—and have a list of phone numbers posted by their phones. Those numbers should include police, fire, campus security, dean and chapter advisors.

Perryman of Eta

Watson of Nu

Buchanan of Beta Mu

Alpha Sigs: busy, involved, interesting

Donald W. Perryman, Illinois '69, has been promoted to director of marketing at American Critical Care, one of the fastest growing divisions of American Hospital Supply Corporation. The division specializes in cardiovascular and emergency care medicine and products.

Perryman joined the company in 1974 as a Medical Representative and was promoted to International Coordinator-Europe a year later. He assumed the position of Product Manager in 1976 and held it until his present appointment.

Upon his graduation in 1969 from the University of Illinois, he served two years in the Signal Corps of the U.S. Army. He received an MBA in 1973 from the same university. He recently moved to Evanston, Illinois. □

For a half century, Donald Watson, California '27, has been involved with ships.

So where is he while you read this? Probably on a ship. His most recent reported cruise was a two month trip through the Panama Canal, down the East coast of South America, then up the west coast.

Brother Watson began his steamship career as Pacific Coast manager of the Pacific Coast Direct Line. Weyerhaeuser Steamship Co. purchased Pacific Coast in 1950 and Watson was named vice president and general manager. In 1957, he was elected president of Weyerhaeuser.

When World War II began, the naval reservist held the rank of Lieutenant J.G. During this period he served as an aid to Secretary of State Edward Stettinius. In that capacity, Watson played an active part in the United Nations Conference in San Francisco in 1945.

Even during his days at Nu chapter, Watson took his summer vacations at sea. As a cadet for the Dollar Steamship Co., he traveled to the Orient and around the world. He worked on the docks for other firms.

Watson, as a man who loves ships, has served on a wide range of related organizations. He has twice been president of the National Maritime Museum on whose board he still serves. He has been named shipping man of the year. And the Port of San Francisco honored him with its Order of Maritime Merit.

Having made his mark on the shipping industry, Watson keeps his hand in business by serving on the board of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. And stays around ships as a member of the St. Francis Yacht Club. And relaxes as a member of the Athenian Nile Club where the Bay Area Alumni Council sometimes holds Founders' Day.

You'll find him there. Unless, of course, there's a ship heading somewhere. □

Robert Buchanan, Wake Forest '76 of Canton, N.C. can see a little more of the world now, thanks to special eye treatments he's received from doctors in Russia.

Buchanan, 28, has retinitis pigmentosa, a degenerative eye disease which causes varying degrees of blindness. The disease affects the cells of the retina, making it especially hard for him to see at night. American doctors claim the disease is incurable.

But last year Buchanan heard that Russian ophthalmologists at the Helmholtz Institute in Moscow were treating the disease by injecting special drugs into the eye and hip. The Soviet doctors told Buchanan that if he would return at least four times for treatment, there would be a 90 percent chance of arresting his disease.

Buchanan, who began losing his sight at age 14, decided to contact the institute and apply for treatments. He and his parents, working with the State Department, made all the arrangements.

A number of civic groups and people in Buchanan's hometown donated money to help offset his air fare and hotel costs while in Moscow. (The Soviets do not charge for medical treatment.)

"I also received a check and a letter of support from the guys at the Beta Mu Chapter," said Buchanan. "I thought that was nice."

After his first treatments last year, Soviet doctors told Buchanan that they believed his disease had been arrested. Then early this year, he returned to Moscow for more treatments. The results have been encouraging.

"The number of degrees I can see has increased," said Buchanan. "I can now see about 25 degrees (out of a normal 180-degree field of vision). My peripheral vision has improved, too. I have to attribute the improvement to something, and I think it must be the treatments."

Brother Buchanan was in Moscow at the time of the downing of a Korean Air Lines jet by Soviets. He was widely interviewed by the media on his return, reporting on Moscow reactions to the incident. He reported good treatment by everyone even during a time of high tensions. This article was prepared by Tyler Cox, fellow Beta Mu alumnus.

Buchanan, who's studying now at Western Carolina University for a degree in computer information systems, is planning a third trip to Moscow. Still, it will be three to five years before he knows how successful the series of treatments has been.

Since his vision started deteriorating, Buchanan has kept a positive attitude about his disease. He doesn't complain about his handicap.

"When there's nothing you can do about it, you just try to do the best you can," he said. "A long time ago, I said I'm not going to worry about it, so I don't. I always knew there'd be something that would come along that would help me." □

It's been 15 years since R. Gwin Follis, California '19, retired as chairman of the board of Standard Oil of California.

But one could hardly call it "retirement." As a nationally known petroleum industry leader, Follis' advice and counsel is still sought.

And he has continued a remarkable record of community service.

Today Follis is chairman of the board of the San Francisco Opera Association, a company that is commanding the attention of music lovers over the world.

Brother Follis is serving as a trustee of the Asia Foundation, Grace Cathedral, Childrens Hospital of San Francisco and of the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco.

Follis joined Standard in 1924 and began work in refining. By 1940 he had advanced to general manager of manufacturing and by 1945 to president. He became chairman of Standard in 1950. Under Follis, Standard moved from being a predominantly western firm to the position of international giant. Earnings of the company tripled under his tenure. He spurred research at Standard and moved the company into an expansion of its chemicals business.

Follis was a founder of the National Petroleum Council and for many years a director of the American Petroleum Institute.

Brother Follis changed the petroleum industry in America. And today he is working just as hard—making San Francisco a better city. □

Salute to Sigs

From time to time, The Tomahawk asks chapters if there are alumni brothers they would like to recognize with a "Sig Salute." Chapters respond with information about brothers of whom they're proud . . . and of brothers who help and support the chapters.

Hubbard, Wake Forest

Dunn, Nebraska

Windsor, Arizona

Brother provides Playboy protection

By Tyler Cox

When Don L. Hubbard was an Alpha Sig at Wake Forest University back in the mid-1960's, he enjoyed going to fraternity parties.

Today, Hubbard still goes to parties, but not at Wake Forest. The party has moved across the country to Hugh Hefner's posh Playboy Mansion in Los Angeles. There he meets many of Hefner's invited guests: Hollywood celebrities, famous politicians and, of course, beautiful Playboy bunnies.

Hubbard, however, doesn't go to Hugh Hefner's parties just to have fun. On the contrary, he goes because it's part of his job. Hubbard is the chief security executive for Playboy Enterprises, Inc. in Chicago. In his job as vice president of administration and security, he has plenty of responsibilities.

"Our primary responsibility is to protect Playboy's corporate assets," explained Hubbard, who lives in Lake Forest, IL. "This includes people and property.

"In terms of people, our primary responsibility is the personal safety of Hugh Hefner. We, in effect, treat Mr. Hefner much as the Secret Service does the President. The threats against Hefner are frequent and appear to be becoming more and more vitriolic. When he travels, my staff and I travel with him."

Hubbard and his staff also protect Christie Hefner, Hefner's attractive daughter, who's now president of Playboy.

"We have patterned our protection activities after the Secret Service and in some ways are even more sophisticated," said Hubbard. "We have security people assigned to Los Angeles, Chicago and New York. They control ingress and egress from the Playboy office space and serve as security personnel during parties at the Playboy Mansion."

Hubbard, who served two years as HJP at the Beta Mu Chapter, says the most interesting parts of his job are managing people and resources and foreign travel. He's also enjoyed meeting a number of celebrities.

"Some of the celebrities I've met are Bill Cosby, Robert Culp, band leader Vic Caesar and James Caan," said Hubbard. "Caan has special significance for Wake Forest alumni because he played the role of (former Wake Forest football player) Brian Piccolo in the movie 'Brian's Song.' Those are the ones I've met personally."

Hubbard came to Playboy in 1979 from the Summa Corporation, Howard Hughes' Las Vegas-based company, where he served as corporate director of security. Before that, he spent nine years as a special agent for the FBI. While at the bureau, he was assigned to duty "on the Hill" as manager of special investigations for the House of Representatives' Appropriations Committee. After receiving the B.A. degree from Wake Forest, Hubbard earned master's degrees in criminal justice and education from the University of Baltimore and Coppin State College, respectively.

What does Hubbard's wife, Carolyn, think about him spending so much time around some of the world's prettiest women?

"She has a very relaxed attitude about my work at Playboy," replied Hubbard. "It has affected our relationship no more than did my work at the Summa Corp. and the FBI." □

"Many farmers have home computers. Before they plant, they find out what crop they can get the best return on."

That's just one development Warren H. Dunn, Nebraska '39, Omaha, sees as offering a longrange positive outlook for agriculture.

When Dunn speaks on agriculture, the world listens. He is chairman and chief executive officer of Farmers National Company, Omaha—the nation's largest farm management company.

The firm currently manages 3,125 farms totaling 800,000 acres for about 2,500 clients. "The farmer who is a good manager of time and money is going to survive," predicts Dunn.

Technology—such as home computers—will play a role. Dunn estimates that farmers now spend 40 to 50 percent less time in the fields than they did 20 years ago.

One concern that Alpha Sig Dunn expresses is that technology and productivity is causing the number of farmers to decrease. "They are such a small segment of the population, they don't carry a lot of weight in Washington to promote their ideas," he says.

Dunn expects family farms to continue to grow larger. "They used to make a living on 180 acres but farmers can't survive on that now."

"I think technology will keep increasing production," says Dunn, noting that it will be needed as more land goes to highway and building construction and populations continue to increase. □

David Windsor, Arizona '56, has seen his signature appear on 98,838 diplomas of the University of Arizona. It is quite a figure, even for a man who has served 38 years. He has recently retired as dean of admissions and records.

Windsor, a charter member of Gamma Iota chapter, has seen the University grow from an enrollment of 2,500 to nearly 34,000. His staff has increased from nine to 98.

Brother Windsor, who holds two UA degrees, also served as secretary of the faculty for 25 years. He is past president of the Arizona chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

An opera and chamber music buff, Windsor wants "to do something less hectic." That means a visit to Europe next concert season.

(Thanks to Jon W. Alquist, Arizona '59, for sharing this story with The Tomahawk.) □

When Victor H. Harrell Jr., Wake Forest '39, steps out of his Beech Bonanza at airports, he often gets double-takes from those who are knowledgeable about aviation.

The Beech Bonanza pilot is, after all, the former president of Golden West Airlines, vice president and general sales manager for TWA and chief officer of Olympic Airlines.

At TWA, his career literally took him all over the world as a pilot, instructor and then chief executive officer of Ethiopian Airlines. Ethiopian Airlines is managed by TWA. After his vice president-sales stint for TWA, he was tapped to head Golden West and then Olympic.

Harrell retired in 1972. But it has been a busy retirement. In 1973 he formed Harrell Enterprises which is a broker to the furniture industry and handles real estate ventures. In 1979, he formed a second firm, HBH Enterprises that handles other business interests.

Brother Harrell lives on beautiful Lake Norman near Charlotte, N.C. But that Beech Bonanza gets a lot of use, visiting his five children and two grandchildren. □

Omega Chapter

(The Tomahawk does not assume responsibility for the accuracy of Omega listings. Information from various sources is printed as it is reported to the National Headquarters for record-keeping purposes. On-going efforts to locate brothers without mailable addresses often reveal names of those who have entered Omega. Some listings therefore are of brothers who have been deceased for some time, but are included for information purposes and in tribute.)

Ritual Project Givers

Chapters of Alpha Sigma Phi have new ritual books. The new edition is the first printing in over 30 years and replaces copies sadly tattered from much use.

This much-needed reprinting was made possible in part by a group of brothers who started a special drive to help underwrite the considerable costs involved. Brothers initiated in 1931 and 1932 made this a Golden Anniversary project. Those who hold Delta Beta Xi keys also participated.

(Brothers who would like to help are invited to send a check to Headquarters with a note designating the gift toward the ritual project.)
