Ten provinces. Fifty-one chapters. Two colonies. Two interest groups.

Alpha Sigma Phi, the organization, stretches from the Puget Sound to Biscayne Bay. But how far do the ties of our Brotherhood stretch?

That has become the central question posed by Alpha Sigma Phi's standing National Advisory Committee on Provinces and Volunteers.

It's a question that in and of itself has no simple answer.

"As we examined the province system as it exists, we found that it was not working up to its potential," says Larry D. Philippi, Bowling Green '76, Grand Councilor and past committee chairman. "We began with the presumption that either we have to change it, or we have to abolish it."

When the province system was first established, it could be likened to the early days of the U.S. Congress. Communication links were slow, distances were great, and travel was an effort not undertaken lightly.

Its role was to provide a factor that kept the Fraternity united and focused on that mission between National Conventions.

But like the role of Congress, the role of our provinces has evolved as well.

"Central to forming the province system was the need to foster our Brotherhood between the biennial National Conventions," says John Chaney, Indiana '67, Alpha Sigma Phi Executive Vice President. "Its chief purpose was to hold the organization together. It has served us well, but as the needs of our Brotherhood change, so must the ways we deliver our services."

National meetings of the Fraternity are now held annually. The traveling staff visits chapters, colonies and interest groups on a regular basis. Even the Fraternity Headquarters utilizes fax and 800 number capabilities to make communication easier and more efficient.

So how does the province system fit into today's Fraternity structure:?

"We've long been a Fraternity driven by the organization," Philippi says. "We believe it's time to reverse the trend and let our Brotherhood drive the organization."

The current chairman of the National Advisory Committee is Owen G. McCulloch, Oregon State '86. The committee works with the Chapter Services staff at Fraternity Headquarters and reports to the Grand Council Undergraduate Operations Committee.

Presently, each province is headed by a Grand Province Chief who is responsible for overseeing Fraternity activities by regular contact with the chapters, Grand Chapter Advisors and Faculty Advisors within the defined geographic area. Visits to each chapter and Grand Chapter Advisor by the Province Chief supplements frequent visits and calls made by the professional staff. And a leadership weekend—a gathering of chapter representatives within the province—takes place at least once a year.

"At times the system works better than at other times." Philippi says. "That's why the committee is exploring ways to redefine the province mission. We think the system should be used to encourage brotherhood and teach life skills every way we can."

To that end, the committee has already made several recommendations to the Grand Council and is presently formulating a new direction for the province system.

To date, the following has taken place:

- Heavier concentration on recruiting and retaining Grand Chapter Advisors and Faculty Advisors, a consistent variable in successful chapters;
- * Budgets established to support the activities of each province, including travel by the Province Chief;
- * Participation of Province Chiefs at the National Convention financed by the National Fraternity, including a special workshop held prior to Convention.

Alumni Councils make their return

The earliest Alpha Sigma Phi alumni involvement extends back to the days when "Sig Bust" was started by Delta Chapter during commencement week. In 1882, the Cincinnati alumni hosted undergraduates at the first Sig Bust to encourage them to remain loyal to Alpha Sigma Phi and not accept requests to join other fraternities.

The efforts of the Cincinnati alumni had the desired effect of quelling interest of the chapter in seeking to affiliate with another national fraternity and in forging the institution of the Chartered Alumni Council of Alpha Sigma Phi. This first Alumni Council included Alpha Sigs from three different chapters and remained an active force in alumni affairs and supported undergraduate chapters in the region for nearly ninety years.

Following the Second Founding of Alpha Sigma Phi as a national fraternity in 1907, Alumni Councils were established in major cities and areas of alumni concentration across the country. The statement of purposes and objectives for which Alpha Sigma Phi was formed include the objectives of perpetuating friendships and cementing social ties within its membership. The objectives are substantially fostered by the alumni council, and its role was recognized at an early date in granting the Chartered Alumni Councils voting power in the biennial Convention of Alpha Sigma Phi.

The nature and purpose of a council is that it seeks participation of alumni of all chapters of the Fraternity. Alumni Councils founded over the years included: Chicago (1910); Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York City, and Detroit (1911); Milwaukee, Columbus (Ohio), New Haven, and Toledo/Northwestern Ohio (1912); San Francisco, later known as the Bay Area Alumni Council which has been continuously active since 1919; Portland (Oregon) and Cleveland (1914); Boston, Hartford, and Los Angeles (1915); Kansas City and Twin Cities (Minnesota) in 1916; Akron (1917)

After World War I, alumni councils were added for Boulder, Reading (PA), Marietta, Battle Creek, Washington, D.C., Denver, Oklahoma City, Baltimore, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Honolulu, Charleston (WV), Indianapolis, Huntington, Lawrence Tech, Lexington, Niagara (NY), Louisville, Mahoning Valley, Miami, northern New Jersey, Oakland, Ohio Valley, Omaha, Phoenix, Sacramento, Staten Island, St. Louis, Syracuse, Tri City (IL-IA), Tulsa, Western New York and Beta Delta (WV).

In addition to social programs for Alpha Sigma Phi alumni, some of the councils had service of scholarship programs, or awards for the undergraduate chapters in their area. Many alumni rose to prominence in the Fraternity through their respective alumni council.

While the undergraduate chapters of Alpha Sigma Phi are the site and focus of the great majority of the dynamic activity of the Fraternity, they directly involve only seven percent of the living membership of Alpha Sigma Phi at any given time. An Alumni Council requires a brother or brothers willing to make a commitment of time and energy over a minimum of a year or two to develop a cadre of participating alumni, and it requires the ability and willingness to communicate with brothers from other chapters and generations of undergraduate life.

If this sounds like a task you would like to take on in your area please contact Brother Ted Kocher, Director of Alumni Services at Headquarters.

Provinces and volunteer network

Additional efforts to incorporate alumni participation at the province level are designed to promulgate Alpha Sigma Phi's basic tenet of Brotherhood For Life.

The National Advisory Committee is seeking ways to encourage brotherhood and use the province system to enhance the fraternity experience.

"It's a change in philosophies," says Philippi.
"We believe we need to concentrate more on personal development and less on chapter operations. That's not to say that chapters shouldn't operate efficiently. They should. But as a fraternity we need to explore every way we can to meet the personal needs of our undergraduate and alumni members as well."

Updated use of the province system can include regional meetings that teach members social, business and relationship skills needed to succeed in life. And as an off-shoot, a revised province structure can encourage much-needed networking and interaction among alumni members. It will deliver a focused curriculum to support the other two major chapter services—the annual National Leadership Conference and the Chapter Leadership Consultant Program.

As the mission of Alpha Sigma Phi evolves, so does the provinces. A rejuvenated system can emerge as a principal force that helps unite, solidify and maintain involvement of all Fraternity members.

Then we'll find that Alpha Sigma Phi has come full circle. That meeting the changing needs of our membership leads us to truly Better The Man.

Ten receive service award in 1992

In 1938, the special award, Delta Beta Xi, was created by the Grand Council to recognize and honor those men who have given outstanding service to the Fraternity. This unusual and signal honor recalls the period from 1864 to 1875 when members of Delta Beta Xi secretly pledged their allegiance to Alpha Sigma Phi. Their courage kept the traditions of the Fraternity alive. Each year the Grand Council may select up to ten brothers to receive this award. Let us meet and honor the 1992 recipients of Delta Beta Xi.

Thomas Brown, Indiana '75 received the Delta Beta Xi Award at Homecoming activities during the weekend of October 24, 1992. John R. Chaney, Indiana '67 presented the award to Brother Brown in front of nearly 100 brothers and guests at a luncheon before the football game.

Tom's commitment to Alpha Sigma Phi was evident early when as an undergraduate he served as Chapter President. Tom has subsequently remained extremely active as an alumnus. For over eight years Tom used his experience as a certified public accountant to serve the Gamma Chi Alumni Corporation as treasurer.

Tom increased his level of involvement even more so by serving as president of the Alumni Corporation for the past two years. This job was an unusually daunting one as the chapter had undertaken the construction of a new house. Indeed, Tom had a large hand in getting the construction project started. But Tom did not stop there, he has stayed on top of the project throughout construction and occupancy despite having become the Assistant Vice President for Financial Reporting and Analysis for Anacomp Inc. Tom has always been there for the undergraduate chapter and without his efforts the chapter could not have progressed as far as fast as it has. He has truly been a driving force.

Brother Brown is the sixth recipient of Delta Beta Xi for the Gamma Chi Chapter.

Bob Denny, American '49/Illinois State '88 received his Delta Beta Xi award on November 21, 1992. Brother Denny is currently employed at State Farm Insurance Company in Bloomington, Illinois. He was initiated into the brotherhood at American University while his greatest effort has been with the Illinois State chapter.

Some of his accomplishments include providing moral support and help as the chapter at Illinois State was founded. He is listed with other brothers as a founding father. He has served as Grand Chapter Advisor for the past four years and has provided solid involvement with the chapter. He has organized an alumni organization for the chapter, sits on the chapter's house corporation board and most recently organized and hosted the first Sig Bust in central Illinois.

Bob has attended four national meetings of Alpha Sigma Phi and has always shown a high interest in continued involvement. Brother Denny is the first recipient of the Delta Beta Xi award from the Illinois State chapter.

Michael Heneghan, Loyola '68 is a Certified Public Accountant for the firm Coleman Epstein Berlin and Company in Chicago, IL. Brother Heneghan has served the Loyola chapter as Grand Chapter Advisor for nearly 20 years. He has also functioned as Housing Corporation Treasurer, a director of the Alumni Association, and as an advisor to the undergraduate chapter's treasurer on financial matters for over 15 years.

The chapter has had the honor of working with Mike for a long time and has witnessed his dedication to the Fraternity.

Brother Heneghan was very surprised on October 23, 1992, at a regional alumni event at The University Club of Chicago when unbeknownst to him, George Trubow, Michigan '53, and Carl Moore, Loyola '63, stood up to give general comments about the Fraternity and proceeded to present the Delta Beta Xi Award.

He is only the second recipient of Delta Beta Xi from Delta Alpha Chapter.

Dan Herchenroether, Westminster '77 was presented with the Delta Beta Xi award during Homecoming activities during the weekend of October 9-11.

Dan took a struggling alumni leadership group and molded it into an enthusiastic, far-seeing and active alumni corporation. The organization has gathered momentum under Dan's leadership, now transferred to the very capable presidency of Stuart A. Spisak, Westminster '78. Dan was at the forefront in bringing opportunities and people together. He brought order to procedures and operations. He was firm when he had to be, but always fair. He was and still is one who not only turns his ear to the communication but listens with purpose and intelligence so that he can act or react in an appropriate manner.

Alpha Nu's undergraduate chapter and alumni organization would not be where it is today, without the initial impact of Dan Herchenroether.

Brother Herchenroether is the tenth Alpha Nu brother to receive Delta Beta Xi.

H. Max Morgan, Davis & Elkins '52 received the Delta Beta Xi Award during Deja Vu Days on Saturday, May 1, 1993. Brother Mark Williams, Rio Grande '79, National Scholarship Director, presented the award before a large crowd of brothers.

Brother Morgan is currently the Grand Chapter Advisor for Davis & Elkins, a position he has held since 1990. Prior to that he served as an advisor to the chapter from 1988-90. Max resides in Elkins, W.V. during the school year and in Lake Ariel, PA during the summer. He is enjoying his retirement from the United States Air Force.

Brother Morgan is also proud to have one of his sons, Mark Morgan, East Carolina University, '82 as a brother of his. He is married to Barbara and has one other son, James, and a daughter Melanie Brother Morgan is the third Gamma Delta brother to receive Delta Beta Xi.

Patrick Roxworthy, Illinois '73, received his Delta Beta Xi award on October 24, 1992 during Homecoming activities. John R. Chaney, Indiana '67 presented the award to Brother Roxworthy as Pat was in town for one of his many visits to the University of Illinois campus.

Brother Roxworthy has been very involved with the Eta Chapter since its reorganization back in 1982. He has been on the corporation board and is also currently one of the members on the Chapter Advisory Team (CAT) which assists chapters in areas of leadership. His dedication to Eta Chapter made it possible for the chapter to be awarded the Grand Senior President's Award for Excellence presented to them as the best chapter at a large campus for two straight National Leadership Conventions, in 1988 and 1990.

Pat is a Certified Public Accountant and currently works and lives in Cincinnati, OH.

Brother Roxworthy is the twenty-second Eta brother to receive Delta Beta Xi.

Bob Silverman, R.P.I. '76 was presented with the Delta Beta Xi during homecoming activities at Plattsburgh on October 17, 1992.

Brother Silverman was both surprised and honored when Charles Vohs, Penn State '75, immediate Past Grand Senior President and current Educational Foundation Trustee, discussed general comments about the Delta Beta Xi and concluded by calling out the name "Bob Silverman" to complete the very emotional message.

Brother Silverman is a founding member of the Delta Xi Chapter at State University of New York-Plattsburgh and has served as its Grand Chapter Advisor since 1987. He is currently a member of the Beta Psi Housing Corporation and is also responsible for starting the Delta Xi Alumni Association which has recently become the Phi Epsilon Alumni Corporation. He has also created a menu-driven data base system to help the chapter maintain accurate records of its alumni.

Brother Silverman is the second recipient of Delta Beta Xi from R.P.I.

C. Marvin Still, Washington '47 was presented with the Delta Beta Xi at a special Founders' Day dinner on December 7, 1992.

In the late 1950's Brother Still served on the corporate board of Mu Chapter and also was very active in the alumni association and served as its president. When a vacancy occurred on the corporate board, Marv was again approached to serve because of his insurance background, and again he volunteered his services for the next three years, resigning in 1991 to travel with his wife.

Mary has been a brother to whom you could go looking for answers to problems pertinent to the operation of Mu Chapter, and when insurance coverage became a real problem a few years back, Mary and the presidents of other local fraternity associations met to seek the best coverage possible in a tenuous market.

Brother Still, after being sworn in by Brother Jack Merrill '39, gave what is now jokingly regarded as his 10 minute acceptance speech, in which he expressed humility in accepting this award, and trusted that his peers would feel him deserving of joining such a distinguished group of Delta Beta Xi recipients from Mu Chapter.

Brother Still is the twentieth recipient of Delta Beta Xi for the Mu Chapter.

Allen Swanson, Baldwin-Wallace '52 has found plenty of time for Alpha Sigma Phi throughout the years. Brother Swanson is one of those unsung heroes of the Fraterrity, having served for many years as the Grand Chapter Advisor for Alpha Mu Chapter. In good times and bad, Brother Swanson stood up for Alpha Sigma Phi. His contributions to Alpha Sigma Phi have been personal rather than organizational. He was always there for the undergraduates of Alpha Mu. A simple telephone call was all that was needed to have a question answered or to have someone with which to talk over a problem. When the national office could not find someone in Berea to work with the chapter, Allan Swanson always came through, year after year!

Brother Swanson is the fourth Alpha Mu brother to receive Delta Beta Xi.

Robert Thoma, Findlay '69 was presented with the Delta Beta Xi award on October 24, 1992 at a special Homecoming Dinner. A handful of alumni and many undergraduates were at the event which was created to honor Brother Thoma for the dedication he gave in the re-activation of Gamma Pi Chapter.

Brother Thoma was instrumental in the reactivation of Gamma Pi Chapter. He attended nearly all the meetings, gathered alumni support and is currently on the Alumni Association and serves the National Fraternity as Grand Chapter Advisor for the undergraduates. Brother Thoma exemplifies what hard work and commitment can Advisor for the undergraduates. Brother Thoma exemplifies what hard work and commitment can provide for future generations of Alpha Sigs.

Brother Thoma is the first recipient of Delta Beta Xi for the Gamma Pi Chapter.

Swan adds his part to endowment

Joyce A. Swan, Missouri '29, has made a generous gift of $5,000 to be added as a part of the Alpha Sigma Phi Educational Foundation Endowment. The gift, with the rest of the endowment, will be invested and five percent will be used every year for educational and leadership training programs.

Joyce Swan helped organize Chi Alpha Chi, a local fraternity at the University of Missouri, during his sophomore year with six other men. He did so with the understanding that he could janitor in exchange for his room and board. He eventually became janitor, "cleaning woman," and president. A fine combination.

Joyce graduated from the University of Missouri School of Journalism in 1928. In 1929, Chi Alpha Chi petitioned Alpha Sigma Phi and was approved for a charter.

Through his illustrious career in journalism, Joyce worked his way from the Circulation Department at the Des Moines Register and Tribune all the way to Publisher of the Minneapolis Daily Times and the Minneapolis Star and Tribune. Other notable accomplishments include President, KTVH, Wichita, Kansas; President of the Great Falls (Montana) Tribune; President of the Rapid City (South Dakota) Journal; and President, Rapid City Regional Hospital.

Joyce A. Swan, Missouri '29

On a civic and charitable level, Brother Swan has been involved with scores of organizations. Usually as the head man. In his books, "Well, I Swan" (I & II), Joyce recounts many of his favorite memories and words to live by. In a sharing of his thoughts he notes, "The warmth of giving while alive greatly exceeds the cold bequests after death."

The gift will assist in educational programs funded by the Alpha Sigma Phi Educational Foundation.

Fraternity hires three new employees; Lenane receives promotion

John R. Chaney, Executive Vice President, proudly announces the promotion of Edward W. Lenane, Plattsburgh '88, to Senior Chapter Leadership Consultant and the hiring of three new employees:

D. Todd Harris, U.C.L.A. '90, as the Fraternity's first ever Assistant Director of Chapter Services-Expansion.

Michael E. Macfarlane, Longwood '90, as Chapter Leadership Consultant.

J. Warren Smith III, Barton '90, as Chapter Leadership Consultant.

Ed Lenane started on staff in January, 1992 as Chapter Leadership Consultant after graduating in December 1991 from SUNY-Plattsburgh with a degree in Secondary Education/Physics. His new responsibilities will include developing and enhancing programs focused on character development, brotherhood development and leadership development for all undergraduate members. Specifically, he will direct the national province program, design and recruit new Chapter Advisory Teams (CAT) for all chapters and develop new resources and materials for chapter use. He will also play a major role in assisting expansion efforts and organizing and implementing two premier Alpha Sig conferences, the National Leadership Conference and the proposed President's Academy of Leadership (PAL).

Todd Harris will be receiving a degree in History this summer from U.C.L.A. He currently boasts a 3.45 GPA. Todd has served on the Fraternity's National Advisory Committee on Expansion, as Province President for Provinces I and II, and as Alpha Zeta Chapter's Homecoming Chairman.

Todd's main responsibility will focus on developing and implementing programs to increase membership in Alpha Sigma Phi, primarily by recruiting new interest groups and colonies. In other words, Todd will be responsible for the Fraternity's expansion efforts. In fact, if you are aware of prime expansion opportunities, Todd asks that you please call him at 310-824-1627 or write him at 525 Landfair Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

Mike Macfarlane will graduate from Longwood College with a degree in Business Administration. For his chapter, he served as President, Recording Secretary, Corresponding Secretary and also as the Chairman for the Committee on Standards and Ethics at last year's National Convention.

For his Interfraternity Council, Mike served as President, Secretary, a member of the Expansion Committee, and represented his campus at UIFI (Undergraduate Interfraternity Institute) last summer. Mike's activities also include GAMMA (Greeks Advocating the Mature Management of Alcohol), Varsity Soccer and Camerata Singers.

Warren Smith, also a Business Administration major, will graduate this spring with his bachelor's degree from Barton College (formerly Atlantic Christian College) in Wilson, NC. Warren served his Fraternity in many ways. He served his chapter as President, Marshal, Treasurer, Pledge Educator, Alumni Director and Scholarship Director.

Nationally, he acted as the Province VII President, Conference Coordinator and as an Undergraduate Representative to the Grand Council's Alumni Operations Committee. For his contributions, Warren received the Frank F. Hargear Memorial Award in 1992, given annually to the most outstanding undergraduate brother in the nation.

Mike and Warren will travel 90% of the time during the next school year. They will offer professional consultation to brothers they meet, develop and present programs and seminars that will meet the members' needs, and help in our Fraternity's quest "To Better the Man."

Meet Willard... the weatherman? or the golden retriever?

February 25, 1993

Willard Scott c/o NBC Studios 30 Rockefeller Plaza New York, NY 10112

Dear Mr. Scott,

It gives me great pleasure to inform you that a Canine Companion puppy has been named Willard in your honor. Willard is a golden retriever who will be trained as a service dog.

Canine Companions for Independence (CCI) is a national nonprofit organization that provides three different types of assistance dogs for people with disabilities. Service dogs, like Willard, help people with physical disabilities, retrieving items they drop or cannot reach, turning light switches on and off, and opening doors among other tasks. Hearing dogs assist people who are deaf or hearing impaired by alerting them to sounds they cannot hear. Social dogs provide unconditional love and companionship for people with developmental disabilities.

Like all CCI puppies, Willard will live and learn in the home of a dedicated volunteer for a year and a half. From there he will go to one of our regional centers for six months of advanced training, learning more than 60 commands.

After mastering all the commands, Willard will be ready to be matched with someone with a disability. With his skills and his capacity to love, Willard will break down physical and social barriers for his disabled partner, allowing him or her to enjoy a life of greater independence.

Alpha Sigma Phi, your fraternity, has chosen CCI as their national project and philanthropy. We are very excited about this new partnership and look forward to a bright future together.

We are delighted to make you part of the process of naming those cute little balls of fur that will grow up to one day provide greater independence for people with disabilities. It is only a small token of our great appreciation for all the good work you and Alpha Sigma Phi accomplish.

A photograph of Willard is enclosed as a memento for you. I am also sending you our 1993 calendar, which features photographs of some of our graduates with their stories.

It is my hope that you will be both pleased and proud to know that there is a Canine Companion bearing your name who will someday make the world a brighter place for one special person.

Please feel free to call me at 1-800-767-BARK to learn more about the CCI program or to discuss our partnership with Alpha Sigma Phi. It would be a pleasure to hear from you.

Best regards, Dana J. Nelson National Development Associate CCI

The Winter 1993 issue of The Tomahawk outlines Alpha Sigma Phi's recent adoption of Canine Companions for Independence as our national charity. Brother Alan M. Breedlove, Penn State '77, is the National Service Director. Alan may be contacted through the Fraternity Headquarters on matters involving this premier program.

THE TOMAHAWK SIG-POSIUM

From time to time brothers write to Headquarters to express the impact Alpha Sigma Phi has made on their lives. Some letters have been edited due to space limitations. All letters are personally answered by the editor. We welcome hearing from our Brothers and encourage you to write.

March 1, 1993 Dear John Chaney,

By now you've probably heard that the Alpha Sigma Alpha/Alpha Sigma Phi team fared well at this year's Dance Marathon raising $271,853.10. I was amazed, as I am every year, that the total increases. The total dollars raised this year was over 1.3 million. I need to hire some of these students to fundraise for Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Lisa Tait Headquarters Executive Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority

Dear Brother Chaney,

I am writing simply to express my appreciation to you for the wonderful experience I had in Dallas. It was really great to be able to take part in something so important. It was a great opportunity for me to see what the Grand Council was all about—and I like what I saw. I was also able to bring the "National Spirit" back to my own chapter as we strive to work for the betterment of ourselves and those around us. Thank you once again and see you in June!

Fraternally, Michael J. Moran (Cornell '92) Undergraduate Representative to the Grand Council Undergraduate Operations Committee

November 13, 1992 Dear John Chaney,

The Beta Rho Chapter would like you to know that we are very appreciative of our last consultant visit. David Gatzke stayed with us three days. He was very friendly, positive and informative to our chapter.

I am very happy that our National can provide these kind of services to undergraduate chapters. I know these services will help us in trying to achieve our goal as Most Improved Chapter.

David was very prepared and professional. He was excellent and we are looking forward to having him back at the Beta Rho Chapter.

Yours in the Mystic Circle, Chad G. Felgner, President Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity, Beta Rho Chapter February 23, 1993 Dear John Chaney,

I would like to thank you and the rest of the staff for a great weekend. I enjoyed getting to know the members of the Grand Council better as well as my fellow undergraduate representatives. I believe Stan Thurston said it best when he wrote me to prepare me for the meeting. He said, "You will find that everyone at the meeting has one thing in common and that is that they love Alpha Sigma Phi."

The meeting was nothing that I expected, although I did not know what to expect. I thought that the decisions made by the Grand Council were setting a precedent. I now realize that much like people, blanket policies are difficult to place on the chapters. I was very impressed with the Grand Council. These are not demigods, these are my fraternity brothers who want to understand better the problems that face the undergraduates.

Being on the Alumni Committee, I feel that the Grand Council is making huge strides in getting more of our alumni involved and in providing more services for the brotherhood. I consider myself to have many of the same views of my fellow undergraduates, and what better way than voicing our opinions could I serve the fraternity?

If anyone has any questions concerning the Alumni Committee or has any ideas that you feel would help, please contact me at (704) 549-0284.

I am already looking forward to the next session.

Fraternally, Richard G. Buss (U.N.C.C. '90) Undergraduate Representative to the Grand Council Alumni Operations Committee

RE: Theta Chapter, University of Michigan

Dear Mr. Chaney,

I was saddened to receive your letter dated October 5, 1992, announcing that all undergraduate operations had ceased at the University of Michigan. Like many alumni, I have fond memories of my undergraduate years at the fraternity and have enjoyed returning to the house each year for homecoming activities.

I take solace in the fact that there are plans to reactivate the chapter when the house at 920 Baldwin Avenue is made available again in 1995. My father-in-law, Robert G. Tesssmer ('50), and I both lived in the chapter house and would certainly like to see younger brothers once again enjoying that fine facility and all that fraternity life has to offer.

Please keep me informed as to your efforts in this regard. Thank you.

Sincerely, Steven M. Gnewkowski October 26, 1992 Dear Brother Chaney,

Just received the latest issue of The Tomahawk. Although my chapter (Oklahoma '84) is no longer active I still enjoy reading about what's happening in the "Old Gal." An outstanding feature is the schedule of upcoming events—a great way to be informed of coming Alpha Sig activities throughout the nation. Keep up the good work.

Yours in Alpha Sigma Phi, Charles E. (Chuck) Corway, Oklahoma '84

Tomahawk editors

College fraternity's old publication, The Tomahawk, was first published in 1847. Since that year, only 27 persons have served as editor. Of these, 26 were members of the Fraternity with Gertrude Jagocki being the lone non-member editing The Tomahawk from 1934-36.

While eight Tomahawk editors have been the chief executive of the Fraternity Headquarters, most were volunteers. Among the volunteers include a former U.S. Senator/Representative, two major U.S. college presidents, an ad agency owner, an author of children's books and a pioneer in engineering and the installation of the transoceanic cable.

Avoiding Chapter 11: early warning signs of business failure

With bankruptcies and business failures up for the third straight year, it's more important than ever to keep your business in tiptop financial health.

Many financial ratios are available to identify companies in trouble. However, these ratios merely verify the company is already failing, and by that time it may be too late. Here are seven early warning signs of a business headed for trouble.

The Do-It-All President—Some businesses have a Type A personality at the helm who is unable to delegate. Whether a benevolent father figure or a hardnosed dictator, this person has to do everything. No decision, big or small, can be made without his or her blessing.

Some Do-It-All Presidents honestly try to reform and delegate, but in reality they keep jumping in at the last minute to pull an important deal out of the fire. As a result, the staff never becomes empowered to make decisions or experience any feeling of ownership. Ultimately the company never progresses beyond a one-man shop. And if the Do-It-All President dies or becomes disabled, the business is probably doomed.

The Out-Of-Touch President—Holed up in a finely paneled office, this chief executive is often shielded from bad news from the staff. The result is isolation. Typically he or she will rely on prepackaged bits of data on the marketplace and manufacturing performance. By not talking directly to customers, suppliers and employees, this leader is destined to make bad decisions.

The Non-Existent Business Plan—Believe it or not, a number of companies operate without a business plan. Typically, the top management has 20 or 30 years in the business and operates by the seat of its pants. The business plan may change overnight because it is based on management's own "feel" for the market.

In some cases the business plan exists in everyone's head rather than in writing.
Unfortunately, all heads don't think alike, so managers exercise the business plan according to their interpretation. Only by putting a plan in black and white can a business remain focused.

The Grandiose Plan—Some companies carry the business plan too far and create phone directory-sized manuals that no one reads. Or they become goal-crazy and establish too many goals or objectives. If a business entertains three or four goals for the coming year, it has a much better chance of success than if it tries to tackle 20.

Another variety of the grandiose plan is one that projects sales and profits which are based on unrealistic numbers. For example, one company which already held 60 percent of the market called for sales to triple within the next year. No matter how great their sales force, capturing 180 percent market share is one impossible feat!

Hit & Miss Reporting—Just as an army needs good intelligence to win a war, so does a business require quality reporting to win in the marketplace. If management is looking at the wrong reports or faulty ones, they could easily wander off course.

A company may be flooded with too many reports. The data is too detailed or inconsistent. The data may also stray into superfluous areas while overlooking some of the most obvious vital signs, such as sales, total market share and margin. Some reports present a snapshot, which only show where the business is today, rather than where a company has been and where it's headed.

Poor Lender Relationships—If a business develops an adversary relationship with financial lending institutions, trouble can only follow. Money is the lifeblood of a business and at one point or another a company will need to borrow it or at least establish a good line of credit.

Banks, therefore, should function as informed partners of a business. They should receive reliable reports and projections of the company's cash flow. Many companies begin their lender relationship just this way, but if sales take a sudden downturn or other financial problems arise, they stop communicating with their banker.

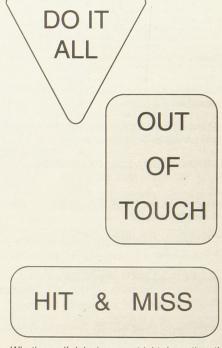

This is a serious mistake. To shut out the bank from pertinent information or to attempt a coverup usually results in a loss of credibility. An organization can always regain market share or recover certain assets but once it loses credibility in the financial community, it may never recapture it.

A good relationship with a lending institution begins with the company's financial officer. Unfortunately, many companies don't have one. Instead, they rely on an accountant who can report what happened to the company each quarter but not necessarily its significance. A good financial officer can be invaluable to a firm, especially in establishing the right relationship with potential lenders.

The False or Inflated Inventory—

Manufacturers are sometimes tempted to toy with their inventory to make sure their business looks good on paper. Inventories aren't taken every month, so if the figures don't look as they should, management might simply adjust them as an "estimated" inventory. The company can't be losing that much money, they reason, so inventory figures are bumped up.

In this issue, we inaugurate a new series of articles of interest to our alumni members. The series features material relevant to the "Old Gal's" businessmen and is authored by Brother Peter Tourtellot, American '57, Greensboro, NC. The Tomahawk eagerly accepts such educational related materials for publication.

Whether self delusion or outright deception, the outcome is the same. Once the true inventory is known, the company finds itself in trouble.

In other cases, the inventory is real. The problem is that while these inventories are building, sales remain flat or start falling off. Here, the problem, may be lack of controls. Manufacturing and sales have slipped out of sync. Typically this occurs in organizations where manufacturing expertise is high and administrative skills are weak.

Sometimes management realizes it must curtail production yet is hesitant. They know that if the plant slows to 50 percent production, labor costs and overhead will soar. The production efficiency they worked so hard to achieve will be lost. The decision to keep the plant going at full tilt is foolhardy. While overhead costs are kept low, inventories continue to build to dangerous levels.

Taking action

Some companies are able to correct the problems described here on their own. Other companies may need to bring in outside professionals who can make the tough decisions and carry them out. Either way, speed is the key ingredient. The sooner a problem can be addressed and corrected the better. If any of these warning signals is continually ignored, the end result could be a costly bankruptcy filing.

Omega Chapter

The TOMAHAWK does not assume responsibility for the accuracy of Omega listings. Information from various sources is printed as it is reported to the Fraternity Headquarters for recordkeeping purposes. Ongoing efforts to locate brothers without mailable addresses often reveal names of those who have entered Omega. Some listings therefore are of brothers who have been deceased for some time, but are included for informational purposes and in tribute.

The 1968 Fraternity Convention was set for the Pasadena Huntington Sheraton Hotel. The double occupancy rate was listed as $74.65. The feature article was on Dr. Owen H. Wangensteen, Minnesota '16, cited as "the greatest surgical teacher of the century." New chapters at Loyola and Indiana were announced.

"Brotherhood ... A Point of Light!"

"BROTHERHOOD . . . A POINT OF LIGHT!" is the theme of this year's National Leadership Conference and Volunteer Alumni Conference, both to occur near Rutgers University at the Somerset, NJ Marriott Hotel. The National Leadership Conference will take place from August 4-8, while the Volunteer Alumni Conference runs concurrently on August 6-8.

This year's conference promises to be one of the best and largest. In fact, one chapter has already committed 22 men to attend! The schedule will boast a whole new slate of interesting presenters and include more opportunities for small group processing, sharing, and relationship-building. As always, this will be coupled with fun, food and a great time to be had by all.

With a location convenient to many of our chapters, this conference could easily be the largest ever! Wouldn't you like to be a part of this?

The Banner headlines touted Brother (Captain) William L. Hawkins, Tufts '36, as the first Marine to land on Guadalcanal. A new chapter was installed at the University of Connecticut. The Advisor's column reported that the NIC has two classifications of fraternities—Christian or Hebrew.

75 years ago (1918)

The featured article outlined academic obligations. A patriotic editorial of six pages detailed the war efforts. The Mystic Circle featured reports on chapter operations. Interestingly, all 20 chapters of the Fraternity were in operation and listed a fine overview report plus listed their house address and standard meeting time and day.
