THE COVER

James Lewis Morrill, Zeta, as president of the University of Minnesota, is one of five members of Alpha Sigma Phi who are presidents of leading American colleges and universities. Perhaps no other fraternity numbers among its members those who are presidents of such a representative cross section of American institutions of higher learning—the University of Minnesota, Ohio Wesleyan University, Mount Union College, Bethany College and Iowa Wesleyan College. This issue is devoted largely to “our presidents.”

Headed For Television?

NO, BROTHER, Lou Tschirhart (right) is not pulling hair, although the camera seems to indicate that same is taking place. However, this is college wrestling and Brother Lou, varsity wrestler at Syracuse, is seen pinning Cornell's Bob Stedge. The Syracuse Alpha Sig has made an enviable record during his first three years at Syracuse. A junior, he suffered but one defeat in eight matches during his freshman year. Last year he was undefeated in dual competition. He emerged this year as high scorer for Syracuse's eastern titleholders.—Sam Traino, H.A.E., Syracuse.

Mr. President(s)

Five Alpha Sigma Phi Men Guide the Destinies of 35,000 College and University Students

FIVE—count 'em—five members of the fraternity today are presidents of an equal number of America's outstanding colleges and universities.

They are James Lewis Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota; Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University; J. Raymond Chadwick, president of Iowa Wesleyan College; Charles B. Ketcham, president of Mount Union College and Wilbur H. Cramblet, president of Bethany College.

The latter is particularly well known to Alpha Sigma Phi members because Brother Cramblet served as Grand Senior President from 1936 until 1948.

Brother Flemming, whose name now appears almost daily in newspapers across the nation, last month was named "czar" of the nation's manpower as chairman of the Manpower Policy Committee.

He is acknowledged to be the country's No. 1 authority over manpower controls and the allocation of men between civilian industry and the armed forces.

The five presidents have more than occupations and fraternal memberships in common. Each of the quintet either was born or educated in Ohio. Morrill and Flemming are former journalists; Chadwick, Ketcham and Cramblet were ministers. Three of the five institutions which they direct are supported by the Methodist Church. Four of the five playing leading roles in their respective state and national church organizations.

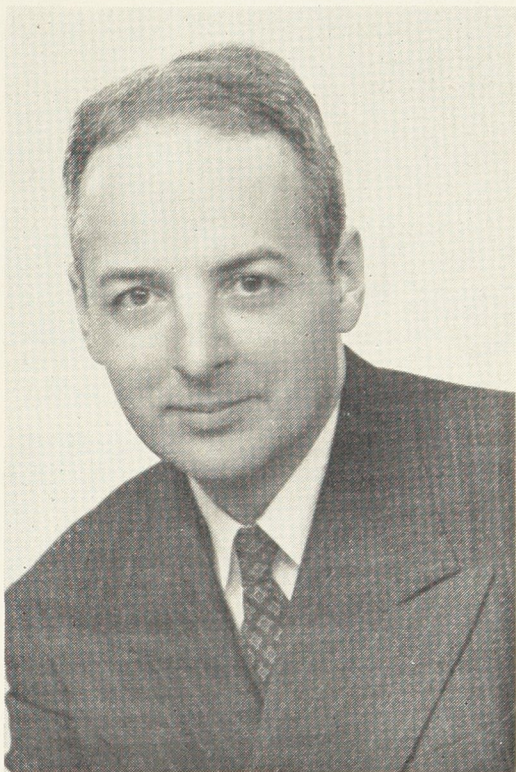

Size of the colleges and universities which they head range from 600 students to more than 30,000.

Three of the president-brothers became members of the same chapter of the fraternity, Epsilon, while students at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio.

All five men have become college presidents during the past 17 years. Newest of the group is Brother Chadwick who was inaugurated in May last year.

Veteran of the group is Brother Cramblet who has been Bethany's head since 1934.

BIGGEST new development in the career of Brother Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, came last month with the announcement that he will head the nation's manpower controls.

BEAMING Brother Morrill handed his daughter, Sylvia, her diploma at 1949 commencement exercises. The Morrills have three children.

Minnesota's James Lewis Morrill

He Heads the Nation's Second Largest University

ONCE a U. S. Senator, Justin S. Morrill drew up an act to establish the land-grant college system. That was in 1862 and it was signed by Abraham Lincoln.

Today, another Morrill heads the largest of these land-grant colleges and is former president of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities.

Brother Morrill intended to become a newspaperman, and did so, but found it difficult to remain away from the college campus. As president of the University of Minnesota he is kept extremely busy administering 14 campuses and research stations scattered over the state plus a student body of more than 30,000 men and women.

He grew up in Marion, Ohio, then attended Ohio State University from which he was graduated in 1913. Then he went to work as reporter and, later, city editor and acting managing editor of the Cleveland Press. After two years of service with the U. S. Food Administration, he left newspaper work to become alumni secretary of Ohio State University.

By 1931, Brother Morrill had become vice president of the big institution. He held this post until 1941 when he was named president of the University of Wyoming.

The University of Minnesota's board of regents, seeking a successor to a retiring president, unanimously voted for James L. Morrill in 1944.

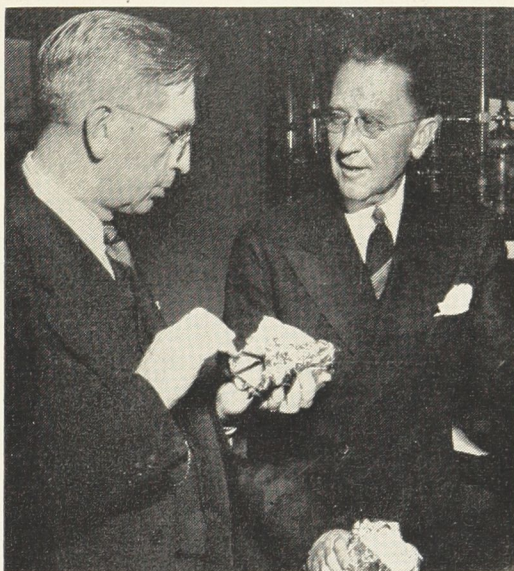

Brother Morrill served as the fraternity's Grand Marshal in 1923-25, and during 1948-50 was a member of the National Scholarship Committee.

CUSTODIAN who had cleaned his office every day receives Brother Morrill's "goodbye" at a farewell party for retiring university employees.

Art Flemming of Ohio Wesleyan

Reporter Turned Government Man Turned University President

ARTHUR S. Flemming believes that politics is vital to the future of the nation. If the government is to be "for the people" it must also be "by the people."

One of his first campus projects, after becoming the first layman and alumnus to be named president of Ohio Wesleyan University in 1948, was an Institute of Practical Politics which is designed to encourage students to make careers of government service and to participate actively in practical politics.

Son of a Kingston, N. Y., judge, Brother Flemming returned to the Ohio Wesleyan campus after 21 years of journalistic, educational and governmental work in Washington.

He gained a deep insight into government as editor of Uncle Sam's Diary and, later, as a member of the editorial staff of the United States Daily, now United States News and World Report. First an instructor, he later became executive officer of American University.

FORMER President Herbert Hoover was main speaker at Art Flemming's inauguration in 1949.

WITH Mrs. G. H. Murray, Flemming studies recent alumni fund giving, higher faculty salaries.

THE Fleming family at home: Twins Tommy and Art, Harry, President Fleming, Susan, Libby and Mrs. Fleming.

Appointed by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1939, as Republican member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Brother Fleming was placed in charge of the commission's activities in connection with World War II. This experience, plus his membership on the War Manpower Commission, undoubtedly was behind his recent appointment as head of the Manpower Policy Committee.

He served as a member of the Hoover Commission to study the organization of the executive branch of the federal government and is carrying out a similar function in Ohio.

His capacity for service is fabulous. He is a member of the Personnel Security Review Board of the Atomic Energy Commission. He was appointed by Secretary-General Trygve Lie to the International Civil Service Advisory Board of the United Nations. In 1949 he served on a UN committee of experts on salaries, allowances, leaves, etc.

For four years he headed an important department of the Federal Council of Churches and is now lay leader of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church.

The Fleming family is a big one. Brother Fleming and his wife, the former Bernice V. Moler, have five youngsters ranging from 13 to 6 years of age.

PRESIDENT and Mrs. Fleming, attend countless receptions, shake countless hands in as many reception lines.

HE has several speaking engagements each week. Here he addresses Chamber of Commerce in his home town, Kingston, N. Y.

Our Newest Prexy

Iowa Wesleyan's J. Raymond Chadwick

One of Three To Come From Epsilon Chapter

JOHN Raymond Chadwick prepared carefully for the ministry. The Condit, Ohio, farm boy received his A.B. degree, magna cum laude in 1920 at Ohio Wesleyan.

Then he attended the Boston University School of Theology, Harvard University Graduate School, Boston University Graduate School, received a fellowship and studied at Oxford, Berlin and traveled 14 countries, finally receiving his Ph. D. degree from the Boston graduate school in 1936.

After serving as director of religious education in churches in Ohio and Massachusetts, he became pastor of West Church in Taunton, Mass.

Returning to the midwest he served as pastor of churches in Pennsylvania, Minnesota and, finally the First Church of Appleton, Wisconsin. During his seven years at Appleton, almost 1000 new members joined the church. A debt of $80,000 was liquidated.

Since January 1, 1950, he has been president of Iowa Wesleyan College at Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

In those odd moments when there is not a meeting to attend or a speech to make, Brother Chadwick can be found at his home pouring over seed catalogues and contemplating his hobby of gardening.

ANOTHER speaking date. During his first year at Iowa Wesleyan, Brother Chadwick averaged three speeches a week.

GRADUATING class at Iowa Wesleyan last year was largest in school's history. Brother Chadwick (right) confers honorary degree upon Alumnus John Poulter.

Bethany's

Wilbur H. Cramblet

He Served As Grand Senior
President of the Fraternity
From 1936 to 1948

AT the age of 21, Wilbur Haverfield Cramblet received his Ph.D degree at Yale University. He seemed destined for a career which would keep him close to the campus.

Actually, Brother Cramblet has spent virtually all of his life on the Bethany College campus at Bethany, W. Va. When he was nine years old, his father, Thomas E. Cramblet, a minister of the Disciples of Christ Church, was named president of the college.

He was born in Harrison County, Ohio, just 30 miles from Bethany. Before attending Yale, he had graduated from Bethany. Even during the years from 1913-17 when he was away from the Bethany as instructor of mathematics at the University of Rochester, professor and director of athletics at Phillips university, he returned to West Virginia to teach at Bethany's summer sessions.

Like his father, Brother Cramblet entered the ministry, being ordained at the University Place Christian Church, Enid, Okla., in 1916.

A permanent return to Bethany was made in 1917 when he became professor of mathematics at the college. A year later he was named dean of liberal arts and sciences. The next year, at the age of 27, he was named treasurer of Bethany. Following in his father's footsteps, he was named Bethany's president in 1934.

He has been extremely active in community and college association affairs, as well as serving in many important positions in the Disciples of Christ church organization. A 33rd degree Mason, he is in line to be elected Most Worthy Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter next year. The Cramblets have two sons and a daughter.

SCENE of many campus affairs is "The Heights," 110-year-old home built by Bethany's second president, now occupied by the Cramblets.

LATE Frank Knox (left), former Secretary of the Navy, and Joseph Grew, ex-Japanese ambassador in 1943.

BROTHER Cramblet was honored with banquet in 1943 upon his 10th anniversary as Bethany's president.

KETCHAM OF MOUNT UNION

Helped Return the Fraternity To Ohio Wesleyan

SO many men left Epsilon chapter to join the Union Army that the chapter was forced to close its doors. Therefore, when Charles B. Ketcham entered Ohio Wesleyan in 1909, Alpha Sigma Phi was not represented on the campus.

But there was talk of restoring the chapter and Charles Ketcham became interested. He became secretary of the petitioning group and saw the charter restored.

Following his graduation, he taught Bible at Mount Union College at Alliance, Ohio, until the outbreak of World War I when he became a chaplain with the 1st Division A.E.F.

He then studied at Drew Theological Seminary and Columbia University. After holding pastorates at Grandview, Cleveland, Oberlin and Warren, Ohio, he was named superintendent of the Cleveland district of the Methodist Church.

Brother Ketcham, in 1938, became president of Mount Union, a Methodist college.

He has been extremely active in the Methodist Church, having been a member of all General Conferences since 1932. Since 1944 he has been a member of the Judicial Council or "supreme court" of the Methodist Church. He currently is secretary of that body.

The Ketchams have three children, including Charles, now a Fulbright scholar in philosophy at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

PRESIDENT Ketcham studies the philosophy of history in his spare moments.

KETCHAM found 1946 a particularly busy year. It was the centennial celebration of the founding of the college.

The Draft

Some Want To Beat It; Others Prefer To Wait

MOST actives of Alpha Sigma Phi in recent weeks have divided themselves into two groups, the "let's enlist now" crowd and the "let's wait and see what happens" gang.

Due to lack of clear-cut Selective Service policies in Washington, morale on some campuses was mighty low at the year's end. Clarification has helped some, has stemmed the rash of mid-year enlistments.

A cross-country check, conducted by Tomahawk H. A. E.s., indicated that although ROTC programs are being expanded rapidly many brothers will face induction during the summer months.

Meanwhile, at least one brother has been killed in action in the Korean fighting. Lt. Owen J. Giblin, of Upsilon (Penn State), with the 34th Infantry, 24th Division became the fraternity's first reported casualty of the Korean war. A distinguished Penn State military graduate who was commissioned in the regular Army, Brother Giblin was killed on July 20.

Here's the Alpha Sigma Phi picture as reported by chapters across the nation:

Rutgers: "Most men have agreed to ignore the impending military situation and to get as much as possible out of this semester's work."

Marshall: "Over 50 per cent have received calls, ranging from pre-induction physicals to actual draft—four drafted, two enlistments—two more in Air Force Cadet program."

Penn State: "At least half of sophomores and juniors face induction during summer months. ROTC enrollment greatly increased but large percentage of student body subject to draft before fall semester begins . . . Two brothers enlisted in December. Threatened epidemic of others curtailed by Hershey order permitting enlistments after physicals."

Lehigh: "Some brothers already in service. Others are in advanced ROTC program. Generally expected that about one-half of actives will not return in September."

Washington: "Watchful waiting sums up chapter attitude here. None drafted. A few pre-induction physicals . . . 30 members belong to 460th truck battalion, transportation corps, reserve unit . . . others on school and ROTC deferments . . . if 460th gets called to active duty, house will look very vacant."

Pennsylvania: "Three Air Force, one Navy enlistments during first semester . . . two mid-year graduates expected to follow them."

Colorado: "None lost yet, but strong possibility that several may receive the word before September."

Cornell: "Chapter digging in. Building mid-year pledge class . . . Several brothers in ROTC, others trying to pass requirements. One enlistment: Air Force."

Alabama: "Five to the Marine Corps via enlistment rather than wait for Army draft. One was a pledge, initiated night before he left for boot camp."

Baldwin-Wallace: "Nine lost, mostly enlistments, since start of school year. Others were reservists. Three have been accepted by Air Force Cadet program. Almost all other eligibles deferred until end of year. Others are members of reserve units."

Purdue: "Two enlisted in Air Force. Hope there won't be many more . . . other fraternities on campus report losses up to 30 per cent of membership."

Tufts: "One enlisted in Air Force; another returned to Navy."

Lehigh: "One Marine reservist called up. One Air Force enlistment. Several others plan to enlist in near future."

West Virginia U.: "Three men have won Army commissions."

Wayne: "Six members of chapter have entered the armed forces."

Buffalo: "One to the Navy, one to Army."

The Voice Behind 'DT In Studio B'

One of the top shows aired from the Armed Forces Radio Service station at Hachinohe, Japan, starts like this: "This is DT in Studio B."

The voice belongs to an Alpha Sig from Bethany College who had his heart set on having his own radio program for a long time. Now, Sergeant 1st Class David Thomas, Fairlawn, N. J., has it.

From the time he was first assigned to the Far East outlet at Hachinohe, Brother Thomas, then a private, had a secret desire to have his own radio show. That was in January, 1950.

After just a month with AFRS, he was promoted to corporal and soon was a regular announcer. By July there was an opening for chief announcer. Dave filled this slot. With it came promotion to sergeant.

He began writing sports and short shows. After many long hours "Studio B" went on the air and Sgt. Thomas had reached his goal. Brother Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Henry Thomas, Fairlawn, N. J. Before being assigned to the Far East Command, he was a staff writer for the Fort Dix Post and worked parttime on the staff of radio station WFDH.

Brother Carlson was an ensign during World War I and remained in the reserves following the end of the war. He was promoted to the rank of captain last July.

He received his law degree from the John Marshall Law School. He is a 32nd degree Mason and is a bachelor.

A seaman, he has his master's license, merchant marine, any ocean and all tonnage.

Wisconsin Idea Man

DeLonge Studio

DURING the time that Brother Ted Taylor (extreme left above) was pledge president of Kappa chapter at the University of Wisconsin, he organized the campus Pledge Presidents Council. Under his leadership, the Council founded the University Blood Mobile Unit to obtain blood for shipment to U. S. forces in Korea. Organizing an all-Greek appeal for volunteers, they used blaring loud speakers and formed a parade to the blood station. First drive netted well over 200 pints of blood.—Warren H. Brackett, H.A.E.
